ARMSTRONG, OUT FOR DAVIS, SPLIT WITH MELLON, SUPPORTING GRUNDY

Today

Mormonism 100th Birthday.
Surprise for Beethoven.
Everlasting Proletariat.
3 Religions, 3 Schools.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

ON April sixth, the Mormon Church will be one hundred years old. Plural marriage has gone, but the church still remains powerful, with numbers increasing, after a century of struggle and opposition. Nearly one million Mormons will celebrate the day, the main celebration at Salt Lake City, others all over this and nearly all European countries, and in Mexico, Australia, Hawaii and the South Sea Islands.

FEW religions of modern times have lasted, with strength increasing for so long a time. The Shakers and Quakers have almost vanished, although the latter are represented in the White House. Thousands of religions have been started, few last long.

JOSEPH SMITH, a young farmer of Seneca County, N. Y., with five other men, founded Mormonism. He told the five that angels had visited him and explained matters fully. They directed him to a hill near his home. There he discovered a sacred history of this continent in the days of the Indians' forefathers.

WRITTEN on plates of gold, these records were translated by Joseph Smith with the help of the Urim and Thummim, an enlightening instrument providentially hidden away with the gold plates. It was difficult to gainsay such evidence, and those sacred tablets, called now "The Book of Mormon," still retain power over many.

FOR many of us, religion is a simple matter of faith, and the many, free from troublesome questionings, are happy. For others, religion takes complicated forms. For instance, Madeleine Slade, daughter of a British admiral, fighting with Gandhi in his rebellion against British rule, says, "I have not thrown Christianity overboard, in embracing Hinduism. Baptized and confirmed a Christian, I never was an orthodox Christian in my heart. Neither am I now a Hindu. I first came to understand the teachings of Jesus through Mahatma Gandhi and the Hindu scriptures. The first ray of light reached my inner being through the music of Beethoven."

HOW will all that read in the Angel Gabriel's record? How will Madeleine Slade be received when she appears for judgment? To what heaven, Hindu or Christian, will she be assigned? And what would the heavy-browed Beethoven say if he heard that he has sent an English lady to sit at the feet of a little brown Mahatma with shaven head and a loin cloth for clothing?

No man even dreams what strange things women can think of and do.

COL. HOUSE tells Mr. Viereck, "Russia runs the machine solely for the benefit of one class, the proletariat. We run the machine primarily for the benefit of the individual."

NOT quite accurate. Russia runs its governing machine as a sort of experimental laboratory, with the proletariat, fancy name for working people, used as raw material. We run our governing machine primarily for the benefit of great industrial and financial units. Who does not know that, knows little. Our workers get enough to live, with something extra to keep them cheerful.

WITH us, they are the consumers as well as the producers, which means great progress. They use automobiles, radio sets, vacuum cleaners, bath tubs, created by them, and are content. More than ninety in a hundred Americans die owning less than $100. But as they cannot take even that much with them, it makes little difference. Russia is making an interesting experiment, and incidentally, worrying considerably the financial industrial powers of other nations, with the threat of competition based on a wage cost basis.

THE so-called war against religion, denied by the head of the Russian church and the chief rabbi of all Russia, is foolish and will correct itself. Man is a religious being, his eternal fears and questionings soon bring him back to search for an explanation above reasoning powers.

BY the way, if our powerful men really felt very badly about the religious matter, and would back up the clergy, Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and Mohammedan, ardently praying for relief from above, the persecution would soon stop. An industrial and financial boycott of Russia by five great powers would restore peace to the churches at once. But high finance thinks praying should suffice. It does not think so in any war that really interests it.

INTERESTING development in Montreal, where Jewish citizens decide to operate their own public schools for Jewish children. Under the British North America Act, Protestants and Catholics are guaranteed "full

MRS. DOROTHY MARCH

FAMILY UNITED BY TRAGEDY

DETROIT, March 25.—(AP.)—A husband and wife are reunited today after a tragically-ending experiment in which the wife went away with another man to learn the quality of her love for him.

A message came from "somewhere in Michigan," friends of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin March, said. "We are together once more," the friends were told. "We understand each other and will take up life again as though the incident that has passed never happened."

In the meantime the body of the "other man," Thomas A. Newton, 32, lay in Miami, Fla., where he ended his life with a bullet last Friday, after Mrs. March had decided she preferred life with her husband and 18-month-old daughter.

The return of Mrs. March to her husband, who is curator of Asiatic art at the Detroit Institute of Arts, came after a trip with Newton which started February 24. The couple visited Ber-

Six Women on Jury Trying 'Red' Crane

HARRISBURG, March 25.—(INS.)—Six men and six women make up the jury which today heard the first of the testimony in the trial of Samuel (Red) Crane, one-time big league baseball player, charged with first degree murder in the death of John D. Oren, of New Cumberland.

Crane has already been found guilty of second degree murder in the death of Miss Della Lyter. Both deaths followed a shooting in Bria's Hotel here the night of August 3.

Girl, 15, Confesses Murdering Mother

NORTH BAY, Ont., March 25.—(INS.)—Mary Foster, 15, who admitted, police said, that she had killed her mother with a hatchet, was held on a charge of murder today. Authorities said the girl confessed she fatally attacked her mother after a quarrel which arose when the girl refused to go to school.

The mother's body was found in the basement of the Foster home and nearby in a pail of water police discovered the hatchet.

German Settlement Accepted in Bill

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP.)—In line with the Young plan settlement, the House Ways and Means Committee today approved a bill under which the United States would receive $273,000,000 from Germany to cover the cost of the American Army of Occupation.

Payment of the amount has been approved by the German Reichstag, Chairman Hawley, of the committee, said.

FUNDS VOTED FOR PUBLIC WORKS

Senate Adds 230 Millions To Speed U. S. Buildings; Road Cash Is Supplied

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP.)—In line with President Hoover's desire for speeding up public works throughout the country, the Senate today passed two big appropriation bills, including the House bill to increase by $230,000,000 the amount for federal building construction.

The other was the annual supply bill—$162,000,000—for the agricultural department.

The Senate then recessed until Friday when it will adjourn to take up Tuesday the Muscles Shoals legislation.

ROAD BILL ACCEPTED

At the same time the Senate amendment to the $300,000,000 Dowell road bill, increasing from $15,000 to $75,000 per mile the amount of federal aid to states for highway construction, was accepted today by the House. The measure now goes to the President.

The public buildings bill provides that $115,000,000 of the sum be expended outside the capital. The appropriation would be spread over a 10-year period and increases the total amount for public building construction throughout the country outside of the capital to $367,000,000 during this period.

RESTRICT LAND PURCHASE

The Senate adopted an amendment restricting the purchase of land in Washington and this forces the measure to go back to the House for concurrence.

The measure carried an amendment by Senator Bratton (Dem.) of New Mexico, providing that at least tfo buildings be constructed in each state for postoffices with receipts of more than $10,000,000 for which no public buildings have been provided.

The annual supply bill for the Agriculture Department carries a

To Marry

FLORENCE WAKEFIELD

DRAMA STUDENT TO BE BRIDE

She, Florence Courtenay Wakefield, a student in Carnegie Tech's drama school, had gone there to meet her close friend, Lora Hays, daughter of the noted lawyer, Arthur Garfield Hays.

Miss Hays was coming to Pittsburgh to enroll at Tech. And she was escorted here by her cousin, Alan S. Hays, young attorney.

Young Hays saw Florence several times after that. And when she went to New York six months ago to become an understudy in the cast of "Broken Dishes" (which is still running) they saw more of each other.

Today their engagement was announced by her father, George W. Wakefield, of the Willmar apartments, 4524 Forbes street.

They're to be married in the summer. Hays, graduate of Harvard, 1927, will take his bride to France for a honeymoon.

Hays is a member of the law firm which includes his famed cousin, Arthur Garfield Hays. Besides understudying in "Broken Dishes," Miss Wakefield has been conducting a woman's shop in New York. She has a younger sister, Mildred, now at Pitt.

NAVY PARLEY FACES YEAR RECESS

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service.

LONDON, March 25.—Possibility of a full year's suspension of the London Naval Disarmament Conference loomed today as the delegates met to discuss the proposal of Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, of Italy, that the parley adjourn for six months to permit France and Italy to settle their differences.

British officials were outspoken in their belief that if the proposed adjournment was taken it would be at least a year before the five powers could be convoked into conference again.

For this reason, it is regarded as highly probable that substantial efforts will be made to reach some sort of a tentative agreement as speedily as possible. Once scattered, it is believed, the conference would be almost impossible to call together again.

Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald called a meeting of the heads of the five delegations for this afternoon, following an hour and a half's conversation with Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson. At this meeting it was decided to hold a plenary session some time next week to determine the future course of the parley.

Should the adjournment procedure be adopted, it is likely the British, American and Japanese

DAGUE JURY AT CRIME SCENE

By AL GOUGH
Staff Correspondent.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 25.—Four women and eight men, composing the jury that is to try W. Glenn Dague for the murder of Corp. Brady Paul, were taken to the scene of the crime on the Butler-New Castle road this afternoon.

The jurors and court attaches viewed the spot where Paul fell mortally wounded after intercepting Dague, his sweetheart, Irene Schroeder, condemned to die in the electric chair, and her brother, Tom Crawford, as they fled from a Butler store robbery, December 27.

The visit to the scene was the first step after the jury, completed today, was sworn in and the prosecution's case outlined.

COME HOME!

SENATOR DAVID A. REED,
Member American Delegation, London Naval Conference:

How about coming home?

You, Senator Reed, went on the honor roll of the delegation on March 11 when one of the HALF-CASTE AMERICAN newspapers of New York, in a dispatch from London, listed you as opposed to committing America to any "consultation" pact or "security" pact for the benefit of foreign nations and the betrayal of your own country.

The dispatch said: "Senator David A. Reed has hitherto shown himself rather unfavorable to 'consultation' by the American delegation, and it is believed that Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow takes an analogous position."

THAT PUT YOU ON RECORD AS A FOE OF THIS NEW AND INSIDIOUS FORM OF FOREIGN ENTANGLEMENTS.

Way back on January 15 you had been stamped by the highest British authority as a champion of adequate American defense.

You were cited as a model on that date by Lord Bridgeman, Stanley Baldwin's former First Lord of the Admiralty, who ran circles around our boyish delegation to the abortive Geneva naval "disarmament conference" of 1927.

On January 15 of this year Lord Bridgeman said in the House of Commons:

"Senator Reed, the distinguished United States delegate at the conference, said at Philadelphia shortly before his appointment:

"'WE ARE NOT GOING TO EUROPE TO SCUTTLE THE AMERICAN NAVY.

"'WE ARE NOT GOING AS PACIFISTS.

"'WE DO NOT INTEND TO LEAVE THE UNITED STATES DEFENSELESS.

"'THE WORLD WOULD BE THE POORER IF THE NAVIES OF THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN WERE SUNK—THE SECURITY OF THE ENTIRE WORLD DEPENDS ON THE NAVIES OF CIVILIZED NATIONS.

"'WE WILL SEEK SECURITY; WE WILL TRY FOR A PROPER BALANCE OF SHIPS, BUT WE ASSUREDLY WILL NOT DEPRIVE THE UNITED STATES OF ITS POWER OF OFFENSE.'"

Lord Bridgeman added: "These are wise words, and I believe they represent the spirit in which the British delegates enter the conference."

You, Senator Reed, know that the simple American program of parity with Great Britain needs no elaborate conferences or secret diplomacy at London to make it clear.

HOW MUCH we must build to achieve parity depends solely on England. The Italian-French muddle and all other European complications based on envy, jealousy and hatred are none of our business.

We already know that even when we finish the 15-cruiser program, being held up by this conference, we shall still be 100,000 tons of cruisers behind parity with the 400,000 tons built or being built in England.

WHY NOT COME HOME, proceed with the construction of these cruisers and the aircraft carriers and modern submarines we need to achieve naval parity—and let the European powers make their own programs for their own maniac wars of annihilation.

It should be a source of satisfaction, Senator Reed, to note that the American policy of aloofness from European entanglements—YOUR policy, too—is being recognized by wise Englishmen as the best course for THEIR country.

In the Observer of March 15, J. L. Garvin said:

"Instead of increasing our European commitments and entanglements, we must reduce them.

"Upon this the mind of the vast majority of the British people is inexorable, and no government can change it.

"Minding our own business of the British empire gives us enough to do and more than enough."

WHY NOT COME HOME, you and the rest of the delegation? Will not "minding OUR own business of the United States" likewise "GIVE US ENOUGH TO DO AND MORE THAN ENOUGH?"

P. S. You have read, Senator Reed, the cablegram sent your delegation a month ago by 1,200 pacifists and League of Nations partisans in this country, urging you to make a security pact with European powers and NOT to build up to parity.

Perhaps you also read the Tokio dispatch last week, concerning the GREAT Japanese public meeting to advocate disarmament, with seventy-five persons present. That's what Japan thinks of piffling pacifists and that's what America thinks, too.

KLINE STAYS NEUTRAL IN FIGHT

County Chairman to Manage Labor Head's Drive Here; State G. O. P. Aids Senator

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP.)—Returning from Pittsburgh conferences today, Senator Grundy, of Pennsylvania, said when asked if he still was in the race for the Republican senatorial nomination that he had "nothing to say."

The Republican primary campaign, likely to be the most bitter in years, got fully under way today with these developments:

1—Joseph G. Armstrong declared for the Davis-Brown ticket.

2—This action means a fight with the Mellon faction which last night tacitly Indorsed the Grundy-Lewis slate.

3—Mayor Kline announced his neutrality in the fight.

4—Patrick F. Riley appears as Kline's candidate against Max G. Leslie for state senator. Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., also announced for the place, presumably to help Leslie.

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong today declared for Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for United States Senator, and all his associates on the Davis-Brown ticket.

He said that he would manage the Allegheny County headquarters of Davis.

Closely following Armstrong's announcement, Mayor Charles H. Kline announced his neutrality in the fight. Asked if he would continue to remain neutral, he declared that time would tell.

BITTER FIGHT OPENS

Failure of party leaders to agree on a slate here yesterday threw the Republican party into the most bitter political battle in Pennsylvania in years. The Mellon interests, it was indicated, would support the Grundy-Lewis combination.

Armstrong, chief lieutenant heretofore of the Mellons, in his statement today, while not specifically mentioning Francis Shunk Brown for governor, said

LAIRD GRILLING RENEWED IN FIGHT FOR UNION TAXI LINE

CAB SERVICE UNDER FIRE IN COURT

Official of Yellow Company Holds Loss 'Irreparable' Due to Strikers' Machines

Every taxicab which has been on the streets since the drivers' strike began 10 weeks ago has operated at a financial loss, E. F. Kram, secretary-treasurer of the Yellow Cab Company, testified today in Common Pleas Court, where the strikers are seeking to defeat the preliminary injunction ordered against their rival cabs.

Kram added that his company has sufferec irreparable loss through the operation of the strikers' cabs.

"Why do you use the word 'irreparable?' asked Henry Ellenbogen, counsel for the strikers remembering that this was the word used yesterday by Walter Laird, president of Yellow.

"I have had some schooling, thank you," Kram retorted.

LAIRD ON STAND

Through Kram the cab company read into the record over defense objections letters and telegrams which contained the license numbers of autos Attorney Frank B. Ingersoll for the company appeared to be trying to bring out that these were the licenses of autos used by the strikers as relief cabs.

Kram followed to the stand Laird, who continued his testimony of yesterday. Laird contributed a review of the strike and details of the company's operations.

"Did you refer hospital calls or sick calls for cabs to union headquarters of the drivers?" Ellenbogen grilled Laird.

Laird said he knew of no such reference.

Another witness, J. J. Jones of Carson street, told of riding in the union cabs, of being told by one driver that six Ford sedans had been bought for cab service and could be called on a Schenley telephone number.

HEARING PROLONGED

This afternoon the indication was that the hearing would not be concluded before tomorrow noon.

Laird was on the stand when court adjourned yesterday afternoon. He testified that operation of taxicabs without Public Service Commission certificates of convenience "has done irreparable damage to his company."

"Would you accept calls from hospitals — emergency calls — if the Mayor would permit it?" Ellenbogen asked.

"We would," Laird replied, "but we have not rendered such service since Mayor Kline's order."

On cross-examination Laird was the subject of a barrage of questions by Attorney Ellenbogen concerning the wording of the bill of complaint on which the preliminary injunction was granted by Judge Josiah Cohen. Laird testified that he had sworn to the bill of complaint but seemed hazy about certain details on which Ellenbogen was questioning him when court adjourned.

QUIZ STRIKE LEADER

A. T. Siford, chairman of the strikers' committee was questioned at length on cross-examination by Attorney Frank B. Ingersoll as to the connection of the local taxicab drivers' union with the American Federation of Labor. Siford answered most of the questions by saying "I do not know," and "I cannot remember." He said that Daniel J. Tobin president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, is the only person who knows where the records of the membership of the local union are.

When Attorney Ingersoll asked Siford, "Do you know if your organization is connected with the A. F. of L.?" he answered, "I do not know."

Seeks All Banks' Aid For Reserve Board

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(INS.)—Gov. Roy A. Young, of the Federal Reserve Board, today suggested to the House Banking Committee that every bank in the country be required to keep a deposit with a Federal Reserve Bank. He said non-member banks profit from the system's operation. The effect of the proposal, committee members said, would be to give the Reserve Board more complete control over the nation's money system.

Young also said he favored greater distribution of enormous profits of the Reserve Banks among member banks, but opposed a fixed interest rate on deposits of member banks in the system.

U. S. Envoys Should Return, Britten, House Leader, Says

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP.)—Chairman Britten, of the House Naval Committee, said in a statement today that the American delegation should be withdrawn and the conference adjourned so the United States could proceed with its warship construction program.

Britten said the conference had "blown up" and that even a two-power equality agreement between the United States and England would not be permitted by the British admiralty. He further stated:

"The best interest of the American Navy would call for a complete adjournment at this time while the very life and continuation of the Ramsay MacDonald Labor government might depend upon a recess rather than a fiasco."

Britten blamed the British admiralty for what he called the failure of the conference, and said that a six months' recess would mean "the continued arbitrary domination of the seas by Great Britain."

Briand Holds Hope for Naval Reduction Pact

PARIS, March 25.—(AP.)—Foreign Minister Briand told the Senate today that the way was still open for a naval reduction agreement.

"I have not been able so far to obtain what I wish for France," he said, during discussion of the foreign affairs budget, "but the conversations have not closed. I have not given up hope of seeing the problem again taken up with the possibility of a solution. I am preparing to return to the conference."

throat trouble which makes it difficult for him to speak. He explained Margiotti's appointment as special prosecutor by the State Attorney General and launched into an explanation of the murder charge against Dague, accused of being an accomplice in the slaying of Paul.

"It is the contention of the commonwealth," Pugliese said, "that this murder was wilful and deliberate, but under the law it makes no difference who fired the fatal shot. Both are equally guilty of first degree murder, punishable by death."

Margiotti's aide went into detail in the Butler store holdup, traced the pair over the New Castle road, where the slaying of Paul and wounding of Patrolman Ernest Moore occurred.

Judge R. L. Hildebrand granted a motion to take jury to scene of shooting on Butler road at the opening of the afternoon session.

MEMBERS OF JURY

Harry Stoner, farmer, Slippery Rock Township.

Della McCracken, housewife, Scott Township.

Joseph Smith, laborer, Ellwood City.

W. A. McMahon, laborer, Taylor Township.

Harry P. Lutz, molder, Shenango Township.

Gilbert Dindinger, laborer, Big Beaver Township.

E. W. Lloyd, agent, New Castle.

Adah McPherson, housewife, New Castle.

Joseph E. Suber, New Castle.

Daisy McKibben, housewife, New Castle.

None of Dague's relatives was in court this morning, but his wife and children, deserted nearly two years ago, are expected to arrive here, probably tomorrow.

Motion for a new trial in behalf of Irene was made late yesterday by Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, on the ground that the court had erred in various rulings as to admission of testimony and in refusing to permit the defendant, at the outset, to present evidence of insanity based on an "irresistible impulse."

Counsel for the blonde will have 10 days after the official copy of the testimony has been filed to submit additional reasons for a new trial. Judge Hildebrand then will fix a date for a hearing.

U. S. AIDS SQUAW ON TRIAL IN SLAYING

Attorney General Orders Added Counsel; Defense Assails Government Help

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

COURTROOM, BUFFALO, March 25.—The United States government today formally entered the trial of Lila Jimerson, Indian spinster, charged with the murder of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand, when Richard H. Templeton, United States attorney for Western New York, appeared in court and was accepted as a co-counsel for the defense.

Templeton informed Judge F. Bret Thorn that he had received instructions from the Attorney General of the United States to take part in the trial.

DEFENSE PROTESTS

Vigorous objections to the appearance of the government's attorney in the case was made by Guy B. Moore, who is prosecuting Miss Jimerson.

The government injected itself in the case on the ground that Lila, like all other Indians, is one of their wards. She is charged with having inspired Nancy Bowen, a superstitious 60-year-old Indian woman, to beat Mrs. Marchand to death with a hammer.

Lila was in love with Mrs. Marchand's husband, Henri Marchand, noted artist, for whom she had posed.

Judge Thorn told Templeton that his appearance "will be noted." He advised him to consult with the defense attorneys and familiarize himself with the case. He agreed to adjourn court until Templeton could do this.

District Attorney Moore attacked the action of the government.

"I deeply resent the interference of the government in this case," shouted Moore, addressing the court. "I resent this interference in this case where a crime was committed within the jurisdiction of the state where the sovereignty of this state is entitled to be free from the interference of the United States government."

ASSAILS "BUREAUCRACY"

The district attorney then attacked "bureaucracy" in Washington. He added:

"We have reached a stage in this country where every time the sovereignty, the independent sovereignty of the state, guaranteed by the Constitution, is involved, we have the bureaucracy in Washington attempting to destroy the sovereignty of the state."

Judge Thorn instructed the jury not to be influenced by the lawyers' remarks.

Lila, attired in black, was led back to her cell in the jail across the street. So was Nancy Bowen, who had been scheduled to testify for the state.

The courtroom was thronged at today's session, most of the spectators being women.

Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell today was touring western counties, perfecting campaign plans for the Davis-Brown ticket.

Grundy and Lewis leaders abandoned hopes for peace yesterday when they concluded at a conference in W. L. Mellon's home that neither Davis nor Brown would withdraw to effect a harmony deal.

Conferees included W. L. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon, Mayor Charles H. Kline, Senator Joseph R. Grundy, Gov. John S. Fisher, State Chairman Edward Martin, his assistant A. Boyd Hamilton, Attorney General Cyrus E. Woods and Charles Johnson, secretary of the State Revenue Department.

Mayor Kline remained only a short time.

MELLON SILENT

Most of the conferees were guests at a dinner last night honoring Secretary Mellon, on his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary.

W. L. Mellon, as spokesman for the meeting, evaded discussion of who were present or the attitude of the Mellons toward the Grundy and Lewis candidacies. His repeated reply to questions was:

"I have no statement to make on that."

It was learned, unofficially, that the conference developed these results:

1—Grundy and Lewis will be running mates to the finish.

2—They will be supported by the Mellons and the state organization.

3—Gov. Fisher is still bitterly opposed to Lewis.

SLATE DISCUSSED

The Grundy and Lewis backers discussed the makeup of the balance of the slate, but did not reach final decision. There was a disposition to keep the judiciary candidates out of a factional fight by having the same men accepted on both slates.

If that plan were accepted the candidates would probably be Judge George W. Maxey, for justice of the Supreme Court, and Judges J. Frank Graff and William P. Linn, incumbents, for judges of Superior Court.

Frank Baldwin is said to be under consideration for lieutenant governor, and James F. Woodward, of McKeesport, for another term as secretary of internal affairs.

Mellon indicated that continued meetings would be held today from which a formal statement might issue, but a check-up later revealed that the out-of-town conferees would not remain in the city.

REFUSE TO DROP DAVIS

Previous to the meeting in his home, Mellon conferred with local politicians, including State Senators James J. Coyne and Frank J. Harris, both of whom are believed to be strong for Lewis.

Yesterday's conference climaxed meetings in the last few weeks in Philadelphia, Harrisburg and New York, at which plans were discussed to avoid an organization fight by eliminating a candidate on each slate and uniting on the other two.

Friends of William S. Vare, behind the Davis-Brown ticket, refused to drop Davis in order to induce Grundy to take Brown as a running mate instead of Lewis.

It was the conviction of the failure of those overtures that led Mellon and his colleagues to the conclusion yesterday that the fight would have to proceed along present lines as far as the opposition was concerned.

While the Mellon group was preparing for war, William H. Ziefel, chief clerk to the county commissioners, was supervising the installation of furniture and telephones in Davis and Brown headquarters in the William Penn Hotel. Rumors persist that the Grundy-Lewis headquarters will be in the Hotel Henry.

SHANNON TO RUN

Reports from Columbia, Pa., last night announced that Brig. Gen. E. C. Shannon had accepted an offer from Davis and Brown to run with them as a candidate for lieutenant governor. Gen. Shannon is affectionately called "One-Yard Shannon," on account of his tendency to be near his men in battle. He is held in high esteem by service men.

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern continued yesterday his preparations for opening headquarters in the near future for former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, who is running independently for another term.

Pinchot addressed a letter yesterday from Harrisburg to the Izaak Walton League, in which he pointed to his former administration to prove his favorable attitude on beneficial legislation for the preservation of fish, game and forests.

The Democratic state committee, meeting yesterday in Harrisburg, indorsed John M. Hamphill, of West Chester, as candidate for governor, and Guy K. Bard, of Lancaster, as candidate for lieutenant governor.

Fire Heroine

ELEANOR DAVIS

TOWN BURNING, GIRL LEADS AID

MOULTONBORO, N. H., March 25.—Lysle Davis, Moultonboro fire chief, was out of town yesterday when fire swept the business district of Center Harbor, six miles away, and a call was sent for outside aid. But Moultonboro's fire truck responded to the alarm.

Davis' daughter, Eleanor, 17, whose alleged abductor was arrested in Pittsburgh recently, received the call. With Jack Bruno she cranked up the town's fire truck, covered the distance in eight minutes, parked the engine near a pond and, after laying 200 feet of hose, went into action with the Center Harbor firemen. Moultonboro was given credit with saving the town.

Eleanor, rated one of the most beautiful girls in New Hampshire, gave newspaper readers a treat last fall when she was abducted by Ernest Hall, of Boston, who took her to Flint, Mich., where he deserted her. Then he went to Pittsburgh and went through a marriage ceremony with Julia Seyder, 19, although he had a wife and child in Jamaica Plain, Mass.

RILEY OPPOSES LESLIE

Patrick F. Riley, an employe of the County Commissioners' office, is Mayor Kline's candidate to oppose State Senator Max G. Leslie's re-election from the Thirty-eighth District. Riley's nomination petitions have been placed in circulation.

Coincident with Riley's entry, Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., son of County Commissioner Armstrong, who is supporting Leslie, has announced his candidacy for state senator and is expected to minimize the effectiveness of Riley's opposition, particularly in the South Side wards.

The senatorial district embraces the First, Second, Sixth, Ninth wards, between the rivers, and the Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth and Nineteenth wards on the South Side.

Riley had been a protege of Commissioner Armstrong, but severed friendly relations at the beginning of former Mayor Magee's last term. Riley then was alderman of the Seventeenth Ward.

SNOW STORM SWEEPING MID-WEST

Chicago Traffic Paralyzed as Blizzard Heads for East; Air Mail, Trains Delayed

International News Service.

CHICAGO, March 25.—An unseasonal spring blizzard lashed the Chicago area today, crippling automobile traffic and tying up train schedules.

Driven before a northwest gale, more than two inches of snow had fallen early today, blanketing the Southern Lake Michigan area.

Drifts piled to a depth of two feet. Air mail schedules here were disrupted.

One death was attributed to the blizzard. Edgar Tomkins, 42, a post office employe, was found dead on the sidewalk near his home, his neck broken. Apparently he slipped and fell.

MAY CONTINUE TONIGHT

C. A. Donnel, weather forecaster, said the blizzard threatened to continue, possibly until tomorrow.

The worst spring blizzard in Chicago's history was on March 30 and 31, 1926, when 12.6 inches of snow fell.

Trees and wires were blown down, blocking highway traffic.

COVERS CENTRAL WEST

The storm covered the entire central West, with the storm center over Indianapolis and moving eastward.

The Chicago and Alton and the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroads reported trains from five minutes to one hour and ten minutes late. The Pennsylvania Railroad moved its through train schedules ahead five minutes to meet the storm emergency.

Scores of passengers were shaken up in a rear-end collision between two elevated trains proceeding slowly through the blinding snow.

ONE DEAD IN GARY FIRE

One man was burned to death, another was unaccounted for and a third was seriously injured when fire damaged a three-story 18-family apartment building at Gary, Ind., to the estimated extent of $150,000.

CIRCUS CHILLED

With all the animals numb with cold, except four polar bears, the circus opened its 1930 season with the arrival of the Sells-Floto shows from Peru, Ind.

CAMPBELL, 20 OTHERS FILE

HARRISBURG, March 25.—(AP.)—Representative Guy E. Campbell, of Crafton, today filed nominating petitions with the State Elections Bureau as a Republican candidate for re-election to Congress from the Thirty-sixth District. Campbell faces a contest for nomination, John H. Hederich, Jr., of Pittsburgh, having filed petitions for the same district.

Twenty candidates for the State House of Representatives also sent in their petitions, including:

Edward B. Goehring, Pittsburgh, Republican, Fourth, Allegheny; John Feeney, Sr., Hopwood, Democratic, Second, Fayette; Charles Solomon, Pittsburgh, Republican, First, Allegheny; Victor D. Mulhollen, Portage, Republican, Second, Cambria; Wilson D. Gillette, Towanda, Republican, Bradford; Ira T. Williams, Pittsburgh, Republican, Eighth, Allegheny; Samuel M. File, Pittsburgh, Republican, Sixth, Allegheny.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP.)—Appropriation of $100,000 by Congress to be used by the Public Health Service in making an exhaustive survey of the problems of cancer was recommended today by Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, of Baltimore, in a statement submitted to the Senate Commerce Committee.

Bellevue Woman Loses Ocean Race With Death

Speeding across the Atlantic Ocean in a liner, Miss Eleanor Trimble lost a race with death today when her father, Anthony H. Trimble, 72, died at his home, 48 South Euclid avenue, Bellevue.

Last Friday Miss Trimble, formerly a teacher in Bellevue schools, was notified by cable that her father was near death. She took a steamer home that day and is due to arrive in New York tomorrow morning.

Mr. Trimble, long in ill health, contracted pneumonia, which was the direct cause of his death. He was president of the Superior Fire Insurance Company, vice president of the Manchester Savings and Trust Company, a director in the Uniondale Cemetery and affiliated with other business enterprises in the North Side.

He was a member of the Bellevue School Board for many years and was a member of the session of the Bellevue United Presbyterian Church. Besides his daughter, Miss Eleanor, he leaves his widow, Mrs. Della Trimble; two sons, W. F. Trimble, Jr., of Bellevue, and T. Lee Trimble, of Newark, N. J., and five brothers, Judge Thomas P. Trimble, of Orphans Court; W. L., Charles P., Robert D., and Alexander F. Trimble, all of this city.

Princess Leaves Husband For Love of Surgery

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, March 25.—(AP.)—She's a princess, but she wants to be a doctor.

Princess Charlotte has always been interested in surgery and until the recent quarrel with her husband was the largest contributor to the free hospital at Monaco.

Internes at the hospital say that the Princess is a born surgeon, although she never has actually studied medicine, except through watching operations. A major operation performed by Dr. Delmas aroused her enthusiasm to such a point that she appointed him her medical adviser.

Instead of going to the theater, reports say, she prefers to visit operating rooms and to study.

EUROPA BREAKS RECORD ON FIRST TRIP

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service

NEW YORK, March 25.—With the mythical blue ribbon of the Atlantic flying from her masthead, the 50,000 ton North German Lloyd liner Europa, new mistress of the seas, docked in New York harbor for the first time today.

To the accompaniment of shrieking sirens and whistles the gigantic new liner was warped into her Brooklyn pier by a fleet of 15 puffing tugs after setting a new trans-Atlantic crossing record of 4 days, 17 hours and 6 minutes from Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose Channel Lightship. By this remarkable achievement, she lopped 18 minutes off the former record established last October by her sister ship, the Bremen.

Capt. Nicolaus Johnsen, skipper of the Europa and commodore of the North German Lloyd line, declared he was "surprised" that the vessel had set a new record, and said he had not attempted to lower the Bremen's mark.

CAPTAIN PRAISES SHIP

"She is a very good and staunch vessel," the grizzled veteran of Germany's merchant marine said. "She behaved perfectly against adverse weather. Under favorable conditions, she could break the record wide open."

A crowd of approximately 2,000 persons was at the flag-decked pier when the new ocean queen pushed her way through the blanket of mist which had overhung the harbor from early morning. Bands were playing and whistles shrieking as the vessel came to the end of her triumphal maiden journey.

Aboard the liner, in the chart-room, was a distinguished committee headed by Dr. Wilhelm von Prittwitz und Gaffron, German ambassador to the United States, and Dr. Ernst Glaessel, director-general of the North German Lloyd Line. They had boarded the Europa at quarantine and broadcast from the ship messages to the people of the United States and Germany.

Captain Johnsen was emphatic in declaring he had not intended to lower the Bremen's record, and that he made the entire trip with the vessel's mammoth turbines set at normal.

"The weather was bad most of the time," he said. "We encountered westerly winds which are the worst kind, and the boat pitched somewhat."

WOMAN DIES WITH WATZL IN VIENNA

Cleveland Man Ended Life in Time to Beat Dead Line On His Insurance Policy

VIENNA, March 25.—(AP)—Four months of search for Dr. Ernest Watzl, monocled Cleveland chemist and inventor, who disappeared last November, ended today with identification of his body by his father in a hotel here.

With Watzl's body was that of a woman believed to be Mrs. Mary McGranahan, of Cleveland.

The two bodies, both bearing gunshot wounds, were found in a dowdy room at the Hotel Sacher yesterday.

ARRIVED TOGETHER

The woman was known here as Josefa Kropej but was reported to be a mannequin named Mary McGrannahan whose mother named Julia Horvath, Cleveland. She is a resident of was said to have joined Watzl in Europe and to have come to Vienna with him.

Dr. Ernest Watzl

This morning H. Watzl, a watchmaker and now owner of a toy shop in Vienna, identified the body of the man as "Hermann Watzl," his son. He said his son was a chemist, 40 years old, and that some years ago he went to the United States to sell patents and there married and had three children.

FINANCIAL DISTRESS

Among the effects of the two, who were believed to have been dead since before midnight Sunday, when Watzl's insurance policies would have expired, were letters to various persons in different countries, one of them to Mrs. Watzl in Cleveland.

From the information gathered here the dead woman, a former secretary to the chemist, was married in Cleveland, and her husband, James McGranahan, sued Watzl for $100,000 for the estrangement of his wife.

Financial distress, coupled with worry over this suit and over the lapsing insurance, was believed here to have been among the causes leading to the tragedy.

Whether there was a suicide pact or whether Watzl shot the woman and then himself the authorities are uncertain.

PENNILESS

There was no money about the two bodies. The couple arrived here Thursday and spent the days, until Sunday, rambling about the city.

Missing since November 7, 1929, but for a few strange circumstances Dr. Watzl would have been given up for dead. His car was found burned near Pottstown, Pa. with indications pointing to searing by flames aided by extra oxygen or some chemical.

Doubts that he had died were emphasized when his insurance premiums were kept paid up from some mysterious source.

Watzl's widow said her husband had conformed to custom of Austrian high society when under the circumstances he committed suicide. It was a gesture of pride, she said.

Watzl Timed His Death To Save $60,000 Insurance

CLEVELAND, March 25.—(AP)—Dr. Ernest Watzl, Cleveland chemist, timed his death in Vienna as dramatically as he did his disappearance in Pennsylvania.

The $60,000 life insurance policies which he kept paid while eluding a four-months' search would have expired a few hours after his death. His friends here believed that, driven to desperation by financial difficulties which had attended his turbulent career, he timed his suicide so that his widow and the persons who financed his last trip would not suffer.

Accepting part-time employ as Dr. Watzl's secretary, Mary also was known to have posed as a model in his studio. Dr. Watzl had considerable ability as an artist.

The disappearance of Dr. Watzl left a mystery that for a time provided Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York police with murder and kidnaping theories of all sorts, revealed that he had kept a studio here under an assumed name and prompted the filing of four suits for divorce and alienation of affections.

U. S. PRISONERS BROUGHT HERE

Four federal prisoners were transferred today from Armstrong County Jail to the jail here on orders of Attorney General Mitchell, who authorized the removal after Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington learned that convicted bootleggers were permitted to go to "movies."

Three of the men, John Franciello, Paul Heffernon and Joseph Reich, were seized on the streets of Kittanning by prohibition agents. Questioned by Pennington, they said they had been permitted by Sheriff George Shaffer to visit town.

The fourth man, Ernest I. Kanter, has never been so privileged, it was said, but because he was a federal prisoner, he also was brought here. All four had been sentenced for bootlegging.

Sheriff Shaffer has been notified to appear in the United States District Court April 1 to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court.

GERMAN OCEAN LINES TO POOL

BERLIN, March 25.—(AP)—Pooling of interests by the Hamburg-American Line and the North German Lloyd was announced officially today in the form of a joint communique issued in Hamburg and Bremen.

From this communique it was clear that a fusion in fact, if not in name, has been consummated, thereby placing German shipping on an entirely new basis and ending a rivalry of many decades between Germany's two greatest lines.

The joint fleet will number 330 steamers, aggregating more than 2,000,000 gross registered tons.

Under the plan the lines agree for the next 50 years, to exercise all their economic functions jointly, renouncing all priority, supporting each other and advancing their mutual interests.

The companies have called stockholders' meetings for April 15 for ratification.

LABOR OBJETCS TO PARKER

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(INS)—The American Federation of Labor announced today it would oppose the nomination of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, named by President Hoover as associate justice of the Supreme Court, because Parker upheld the injunction issued by U. S. Judge McClintic against the United Mine Workers in West Virginia.

Under the McClintic injunction the union is not allowed to approach non-union men in West Virginia and solicit them to join the union or to call a strike. The injunction was issued at the time of the famous "miners' march" over the West Virginian mountains.

Crash Sinks Steamer In Chesapeake Bay

BALTIMORE, March 25.—(INS)—Steaming through a thick fog off Fort McHenry in the Chesapeake Bay early today, the steamer Calvert rammed and sunk within five minutes the steamer Mary Clare. The Mary Clare went down in deep water in mid-channel. The crew of nine was rescued by the Calvert.

Blast on Brazilian Cruiser Kills Three

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 25.—(INS)—Three sailors were killed and 12 others probably fatally scalded in an explosion of boiler tubes on the Brazilian battle cruiser, Minas Garaes, according to officials dispatches today from Santos.

Leaping Off Plane, Birdman Lands 3 Miles Away

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 25.—(AP)—Lost in a dense fog, a mail plane bound from Washington to Richmond, Va., crashed near Antietam Station, at the edge of Antietam battlefield this morning. The pilot, Verne Treat, jumped in his parachute after cutting off the ignition and landed unhurt about three miles from where the plane was wrecked.

Treat, who was about 75 miles off his course, said he ran out of gas. He telephoned to Richmond that he was unhurt and was taking care of the mail.

Singed Cat Rouses Family, Six Hurt Escaping Fire

A mother dropped her four children out of a window of the second floor of their home in Natrona early today to save them from flames spreading through the house. Then she jumped herself. The five received bruises in the jump, and so did the father who had dropped from another window.

The family was that of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Frejkowski, of 1265 Third avenue, and the children owe their lives not only to their mother but probably also to the family cat.

The cat and a dog were asleep near the stove in the kitchen on the first floor. Flames from the stove set fire to the house. The cat's fur was singed.

Mrs. Frejkowski roused Paul, 12, Agnes, 10, Peter, 8, and Regis, 6. In the confusion the father became separated from his family.

The two-story frame building was left in ruins at a loss estimated at $4,500. And the dog was cremated.

9 MORE CITIES HIT DRY LAW

NEW YORK, March 25.—Additional evidence of public desire for modification or repeal of the Eighteenth amendment is revealed in figures released by the Literary Digest in its national poll on prohibition.

Nine cities cast votes favoring modification or repeal of the law. New Haven went overwhelmingly in favor of repeal as did Wilmington, Del. Only in Oklahoma City and Tulsa were there more votes cast for enforcement than either modification or repeal, but combined modification and repeal ballots outnumbered enforcement votes.

The incomplete analysis follows:

City	Enf.	Mod.	Rep.	Tot.
New Haven, Conn.	994	2,825	4,605	8,120
Peoria, Ill.	722	858	1,599	3,179
Oklahoma City	1,479	1,078	884	3,441
Tulsa, Okla.	1,388	873	913	3,174
Richmond, Va.	758	1,601	2,111	4,470
Wheeling, W. Va.	1,438	776	944	3,158
Louisville, Ky.	1,479	2,362	4,456	8,297

Ortiz Rubio Rests, Suffers From Grip

MEXICO CITY, March 25.—(AP)—President Pascual Ortiz Rubio was obliged today to suspend work for a day or so due to what his physicians said was a slight attack of grip. He is still wearing bandages about his jaw, wounded by an assassin's attempt at his inauguration, but doctors say the injury is healing.

Bandits Kill Owner In Cafe for $30 Loot

NEWARK, N. J., March 25.—(AP)—Resisting two bandits in the holdup of his cafe in the basement of Lincoln Park Hotel early today, William Curry, 48, was shot to death.

The bandits escaped with $25 scooped from the cash register and $5 which they took from Curry's son, Joseph, 24, an eye-witness to the murder.

Farm Plan Puts Talley Furniture Up For Sale

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP)—All the furniture has been moved out of Marion Talley's apartment in West Seventy-third street so that it may be sold and the grand opera singer may retire to the middle western farm which she says will be her future home. The furniture was taken to auction rooms.

Miss Talley, in April, 1929, announced she would forsake the complicated life of a big city and go back to the simple atmosphere of a western farm.

"I have no need to keep an apartment at present," she said.

517 MILLIONS PAID IN TAXES

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(INS)—Income tax receipts at the Treasury continued to swell today, but up to the close of business, March 22, had amounted to only $517,803,000 for the month, a decrease of $28,000,000 from last year.

The reduction is largely accounted for by the 1 per cent reduction in tax rates.

Collections for the fiscal year amounted to $1,770,437,000, an increase of $138,000,000.

DRY TRANSFERS UNDETERMINED

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Department of Justice officials today characterized as premature the report that Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington of the Western Pennsylvania-West Virginia district, is to be transferred to Philadelphia under the prohibition reorganization contemplated in the pending Williamson bill, which provides for the transfer of all enforcement activities from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

A similar statement came from Dr. James M. Doran, commissioner of prohibition, who said that all plans for the reorganization of personnel were being held in abeyance, until the Williamson bill, already passed by the House, is finally approved by the Senate.

The Pittsburgh administrator's friends are known, however, to be prepared to urge his retention for one of the important reorganization posts.

While the Pittsburgh headquarters may be relegated to the status of a subordinate district in the new area, the personnel of the present office will be unchanged, except for the transfer of certain of those in higher executive positions.

U. S. DRYS RAP CANADIAN PLAN

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(INS)—Director of the forces defending prohibition before the House Judiciary committee decided today to launch an attack on the Canadian governmental dispensary system when hearings are resumed tomorrow.

E. C. Drury, former prime minister of the Province of Ontario, will appear as the first witness for the drys. He is expected to declare the Canadian system has failed to check bootlegging and to advise against the adoption of the system in this country.

The dry forces will go to the hearing tomorrow prepared to close their case in one day, if necessary, although they will ask for more time.

John J. Lentz, ex-congressman and president of the American Insurance Union of Columbus, O., also is slated to be a witness.

The "aces" of the nation's dry organizations, including superintendent F. Scott McBride, Anti-Saloon League, Dr. Clarence True Wilson, Methodist Board of Prohibition, Temperance and Public Morals, and Dr. E. C. Dinwiddie, legislative agent of the drys, also are slated to appear.

GRANDMOTHER OF BYRD DIES

BALTIMORE, March 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Jennie Byrd, 90, widow of the late Col. William Byrd, of Virginia, and grandmother of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, and former Gov. Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, died here yesterday.

Mrs. Byrd has made her home with her daughter here for the last 18 years. Despite the fact that she was in ill health for some time prior to her death she kept up her interest in the exploits of her grandson during his Antarctic explorations. During the last presidential campaign she cast her first ballot, voting for Alfred E. Smith. She was a native of Tennessee.

Dry Forces Probe Drinking by Lepers

NEW ORLEANS, March 25.—An investigation into charges of prohibition law violations at the Federal Leprosarium at Carville, La., was begun today by Prohibition Administrator O. D. Jackson, on orders from Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon.

Jackson said he would send two men to the institution to make the investigation. Charges of liquor drinking among the staff and the lepers was made in a letter to Mellon from a person who said he is a resident of Carville.

Tilson to Recuperate At White House

WASHINGTON, March 25.—(AP)—President Hoover has extended the hospitality of the White House to Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the House Republican floor leader, during his recuperation from a recent attack of grippe.

Tilson has accepted the President's invitation, and will go to the White House late today as soon as he has been discharged from the Naval Hospital. He will remain at the Executive Mansion until he has recuperated sufficiently to resume his duties at the Capitol. He became ill suddenly last week.

Mellon Scans U. S. Progress Over 75 Years

Treasury Head Presented $14,500 Loving Cup at Birthday Celebration Here.

Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon was guest of honor and principal speaker at a dinner given by a group of friends at the Pittsburgh Athletic Club last night, in honor of his seventy-fifth birthday. The dinner was a surprise, and was arranged by a committee composed of H. C. Mc-Eldowney, Arthur E. Davis, Howard Heinz, A. E. Humphreys and James H. Lockhart.

Mr. Heinz presided. Dr. Stuart N. Hutchison, pastor of East Liberty Presbyterian Church, delivered the invocation. Mr. William Watson Smith delivered a short address, and Mr. Davis presented a $14,500 loving cup to Secretary Mellon.

The loving cup, a Georgian design of silver, 3 feet 6 inches high and stands on a silver base. To each of the guests a silver replica was given as a souvenir. The boss of the cup shows three buildings the United States Treasury, the Frick building in Pittsburgh and the Mellon National Bank.

In response to Mr. Smith's address Mr. Mellon reviewed changes that have occurred in many fields of human activity during his lifetime. When he was born, he said, Pittsburgh was a city of less than 50,000 and what is now an important industry—steel—was almost negligible, for Bessemer did not discover his new process in England until the next year, and the age of steel had not yet arrived.

Banking Changes

Banking operations in those days, and for many years afterward, Mr. Mellon said, differed greatly from those which prevail today. They consisted largely in discounting bills of goods sold or lending money on personal notes, and in most cases the business was conducted across a counter on one side of a long banking room with a safe and a castiron stove behind.

Mr. Mellon touched on notable events of his 75 years: the panic of 1873 caused by Jay Cooke's failure; the rise of the petroleum and aluminum industries; the railroad strikes; of the Homestead steel strike of 1892; the increase in the productive capacity of labor; the rise in the standard of living; the increase in wealth.

Mr. Mellon said:

"I am moved greatly to find myself the recipient of such evidence of your friendship and regard. While I cannot believe that I am deserving of all the kind things that have been said of me this evening, I would rather have them said by you who are my friends and associates and have known me all my life than by any other gathering of men anywhere. The friendship which you have always shown me is deeply appreciated and I thank you for this happy occasion which you have so generously arranged to mark my birthday.

Looks Backward

"Age comes on so gradually and unnoticed that one can be conscious of any material change. But seventy-five years of life lead one into a reflective and contemplative frame of mind and make one I think more appreciative of old associations and friendships as well as more keenly perceptive of the changes affecting present day conditions and habits of life.

"When I look back I realize that the world into which I was born in 1855 was a very different place from the one we know today. Pittsburgh itself was a city of less than 50,000 people. It was concerned then as now chiefly with manufactures of which the most important were iron, coal, coke and glass. Steel was almost a negligible industry, for Bessemer did not discover his new process in England until the next year, and the age of steel had not yet arrived. Business was on a small scale and was carried on by individuals or partnerships. In those days and for many years afterwards banking functions differed greatly from those which prevail today. They consisted largely in discounting bills of goods sold or lending money on personal notes, and in most cases the business was conducted across a counter on one side of a long banking room with a safe and a castiron stove behind.

Lived Simple Life

"Life in those days was on a more simple scale than now, and it is easy to understand that it should have been so, for in the entire country the taxable wealth was less than $16,000,000,000 as compared with considerably more than $300,000,000,000 today. The nation then had less than one-fourth its present population. In the year 1856 out of 131,000 immigrants 126,000 came from Europe in sailing vessels. Even as late as 1865 the country had but 35,000 miles of railroads as compared with 250,000 miles today. At that time the railroads extended westward only to the Mississippi Valley. The country beyond was served by wagon and stage lines and from the Missouri River to California fortified storehouses protected the route from hostile Indians.

Then came the Civil War and great changes. Forces which had long been held in check rushed forward and in less than half a century transformed the country from a pioneering and agricultural nation into one in which the predominant interests were manufacturing and trade. It was this period which saw the rise of great industries. Most important of all it saw the rise of steel. The Bessemer process had been brought to this country in 1864 and under such leaders as Carnegie, Phipps, Frick, Schwab, Jones and later Gary, steel making expanded with great rapidity. In less than 25 years America, along with the rest of the civilized world, passed from an iron to a steel basis and with this transformation came great social and economic changes.

Reign of Steel

"Steel has had a inestimable influence on transportation, engineering and building construction. It has made possible the development of industry on a large scale, so that from this time the American people used steadily less and less goods manufactured in small, simple establishments, and more and more from factories managed by corporate boards. Such concentration seemed inevitable. It marked the beginning of those changes in production and distribution which have so largely altered the fabric of American life, though it is only of late years, since our attention has been focused on chain stores, branch banking and other recent developments, that we are beginning to appreciate how far-reaching these changes have been.

"One of the first industries to feel the new trend toward integration was oil. The first oil well had been discovered near Titusville, Pennsylvania, in 1859, so that this great industry has come into existence entirely within my own lifetime. Of primary importance to Pittsburgh were developments in the coal industry. From the early days coal had been mined in the Pittsburgh region, largely for shipment by river to Southern markets, but it was not until the expansion of the railroads that it attained production on a large scale. The H. C. Frick Coke Company was one of the first great producers of coke and was always the largest factor in the industry. You all know the part which H. C. Frick had in building up this industry. He began with no capital but his native ability and character. I knew him from his youth and, as his lifelong personal friend, I was familiar with his early ambitions and his successes to the close of his career. To him Pittsburgh owes much.

Rise of Aluminum

"Another industry which centered in the Pittsburgh district and has arisen since the Civil War is aluminum. Glass is still another industry which has always been important to Pittsburgh, and the growth of this industry has kept pace with the others. In 1869 the Heinz Company was founded and became one of the pioneers in large-scale production of prepared food-stuffs. The great Westinghouse industries had their beginning in this same year the year after Mr. George Westinghouse invented the air brake. In the years that followed enormous developments were made in electricty as regards power and light and many of them have come within the knowledge of most of you here present. As a nation we now use almost as much electrical energy as all the rest of the world combined.

Such were a few of the outstanding developments in the years immediately following the close of the Civil War. During these years the nation presented a scene of feverish activity. New cities were springing up over the West and throughout the country. Increasing numbers of immigrants were coming each year from Europe, and beyond the Missouri River a flood of population was rushing towards the last frontier. Everywhere were boundless optimism and belief in the limitless possibilities of the country. Then came that fateful year 1873 and the panic.

Recalls '73 Panic

"I remember well the consternation caused by the failure of Jay Cooke & Co. Every one knew that credit was inflated, that railroads were being overbuilt, that expansion had gone ahead too rapidly; but no one was prepared for the extent or severity of the crash when it finally came. The news of Jay Cooke's failure was like a financial thunderbolt. It made plain to every one the fact that the aggregate indebtedness of the business world was far too great to be liquidated out of any available capital. Values subsided rapidly. Every one demanded money and there was no money to be had. Nothing could be done but to let the storm blow itself out and business adjust itself to a smaller and more solid basis. The banks in Pittsburgh stood up well under the strain, but here as everywhere there was a succession of failures, because nothing could be realized on values and every one was demanding payment.

"The effects of the panic were felt for years afterwards. In Pittsburgh and elsewhere, the value of real estate subsided slowly and it was not until 1877 that it touched bottom. As the winter of 1874-1875 came

ATLANTIC ZEP LINE PLANNED

NEW YORK, March 25 (INS) — Trans-Atlantic Zeppelin service was a step nearer today following announcement that German and American concerns had signed an agreement to proceed toward forming international airship schedules.

Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the board of the National City Bank, and Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graff Zeppelin, announced the agreement had been signed by the National City Bank, German Zeppelin Company, Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, The United Aircraft and Transport Corporation, International Zeppelin Transport Corporation and other banking and industrial organizations.

Airships to be used in the service, it was understood, will be built in this country and abroad. At the outset the trans-ocean airship trips will be limited to the North Atlantic.

No definite date for the start of the airship service has been set, but actual preparation will be started in 1931 or possibly sooner.

Bird Baths 6.95

Regularly Priced 11.00

Birds are very human, we've discovered after a little nature study. Even the blue-jay is as timid about the first plunge into cold water as most of us. So we went to no end of pains to get these bird baths, very specially priced, by the way, with gradually deepened bowls. It's much nicer, it seems, to wade in bit by bit.

You'll enjoy the social chit chat of the birds as they hover along the edge. And the design will add a note of decorative simplicity to your garden. In concrete, finished in white. Height over all, 31 inches. Diameter of bowl, 23 inches.

Age of Machinery

"During the period from 1865 to the end of the century the economic development of this country was marked not only by acceleration but by structural change. New inventions, the increased use of machinery and the application of improved methods and scientific principles introduced new industries and accelerated production. Production both of goods and services was organized on a vast scale. Since the opening of the present century and especially during the World War and afterwards, there has been marked increase means of a comfortable subsist- ... the volume of production. During this period, from 1899 to 1925, the physical volume of manufacturing output nearly tripled, and in 1927 although the use of labor had been reduced ... it ... the per capita productivity of labor in this country is engaged in manufacturing, mining, agriculture and transportation was about 50 per cent greater than it was at the beginning of the Nineteenth Century.

This increase in the productive capacity of labor was due ... to the ... and ... and also to ... the quantity and the consequent elimination of waste. In this way American industry has found that it can pay high wages and ... reduce costs so that the finished product is ... plied ... cheaply to stimulate further consumption and thus raise the standard of living. High wages in turn have increased the country's purchasing power and as a result we have ... a domestic market of great ... capacity.

Great Buying Power

Nowhere ... in the world ... does such a buying power exist. One of the greatest factors in its development has been the freedom with which commerce moves throughout the vast expanse of this country. Another has been the increase and distribution of wealth ... and during the period of the World War and afterwards. The national income has increased from about 30 billion dollars in the last years of the pre-war period to about 90 billions in 1928, accompanied by a great increase in savings and a steady flow of capital to industries both in this country and abroad.

Consumption has also been stimulated by improving taste and a better standard of living. With increase in wealth has come a demand on the part of the average American for more and better things than would have satisfied him at the end of the Civil War. He has greater comforts and better clothing. He has finer educational facilities and access to sources of intellectual and aesthetic enjoyment not available to the average man 75 years ago. He also has more amusements, such as radio and motion pictures, which did not exist when I was a boy.

As one looks back over the entire period, the economic developments of the last 75 years have been so vast and have brought about such far-reaching changes in our daily lives that it is difficult to come to any conclusion about them. Each generation is prone to think that it is living in an era of fundamental change. But certainly the immense material progress since the Civil War, not to speak of progress along other lines, has carried mankind forward, not backward, and has raised the whole plane of civilization to a higher level. It has been accompanied, as all great movements are, by social disturbances and economic setbacks, some times of serious proportions, but which later proved to be but temporary in their nature and of small importance in comparison with the advance that has been made.

Complete With Shade

The Oriental feeling and detail of the original porcelains are perfectly duplicated in these Japanese copies of those grayish-green vases of world fame. They are mounted on a turned wood base and have a decorative colored glass finial. Other shapes besides the one pictured from which to select.

They are equipped with 18-inch tailored shades of stretched taffeta in green or gold, lined with silk. The rippled silk roll edge of the shade is beautifully done.

Be rid of Dandruff This easy way

YOU, too, can say goodbye to hair-worries, if you'll learn this simple method of caring for the hair. It's known to hundreds of stage and screen stars, used by thousands of women and girls, who haven't time for laborious methods.

Sprinkle a little Danderine on your brush tonight. Then a few brush your hair you'll feel the soothing, tingling effects.

Danderine, to dissolve the crust of dandruff, stop falling hair, tone the scalp, encourage the hair to grow long, silky and abundant.

One first application gives your hair new life and lustre, makes it softer, easier to manage, so it's like new to arrange it. Even a beyond all, he proves the benefits of its regular use.

For over 30 years specialists have recommended

A Challenge in Quality Performance and Price

Forget price for the moment. Look for usefulness, beauty, convenience and long life. Before you think of the first cost—know what "last cost" means. Count up all the benefits you have expected of electric refrigeration—and check over the design and construction and features of ordinary electric refrigerators. Compare them with Norge. Note the added and exclusive Norge advantages. Do this with thoroughness. Then compare the prices—and you will buy a Norge.

The WHY of NORGE Value

Norge Refrigerators are the climax of 20 years of leadership in building precision machinery; 7 years world-wide, successful experience with the rotary type of cold making unit—they are the direct result of the lower cost of producing the Norge Rollator (cold maker) because of its basically right and utterly simple design. Further, the Norge Corporation as a Division of the Borg-Warner Corporation, commands the immense purchasing power and manufacturing facilities of this $50,000,000 organization.

3 of the Exclusive NORGE Advantages

The Rollator or cold making machine, with less parts, simpler action, less wearing surface, permanent lubrication—assuring quiet operation through a longer life—with finest materials and the best workmanship—taking minimum power and giving maximum refrigeration. The most important point in your choice of an electric refrigerator is to know this remarkable unit.

The Clean-Easy Edge of the snow-white porcelain lining—curved up or filletted—aiding quick cleaning. Also helping seal refrigerator door tighter.

Be sure to have every one of the Norge advantages explained to you fully. It will pay.

The Line of NORGE Models

You will find in the beautiful Norge line of electric refrigerators just the size and style which will fit your individual requirement—one which will fit your pocketbook as well.

Hotels that keep ahead of your demands

The traveling public didn't demand a bath with every room, or circulating ice water, or a morning paper under the door at no cost—until Hotels Statler inaugurated these improvements.

Neither did you hear anyone ask if there was radio reception in every room at no extra cost—until Hotels Statler made that standard equipment in these hotels.

And it's going on all the time. There are bed-head reading lamps, full length mirrors, colorful furnishings, even threaded needles in the pin cushions in every room.

In restaurants there is the widest variety, ranging from formal a la carte service to lunchroom or cafeterias.

But it is in Statler Service that this policy of keeping ahead of your demands is most noticeable. Statler employees are not only instructed but are trained in courtesy and helpfulness. They, too, keep ahead of your demands.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should try Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 20 years of study.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and help overcome constipation. Take nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes sold yearly. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Doctors Recommend Oil After Every Diaper Change

In a nation-wide investigation recently conducted it was discovered that the majority of physicians were advising their patients to use a medicated oil on their babies' buttocks after every diaper change, to prevent irritation from urine. They were advised in addition, to use a specially medicated baby powder. The greatest difficulty was to find the proper oil—until the Mennen Company, makers of the famous Borated Baby Talcum, produced a scientifically medicated Baby Oil.

Mennen Baby Oil is a blend of those oils indicated or in use by leading baby specialists, and in principal maternity hospitals.

The correct procedure as advised by leading pediatricians, is to anoint baby's entire body each morning after the bath—rubbing the oil gently into the folds and creases of the skin. Then to wipe off the excess oil with a piece of cotton and over the entire skin surface to dust Mennen Borated Baby Talcum.

Both the oil and the powder being scientifically medicated they will prevent and cure diaper rashes.

Always after every diaper change, and as long as the child wears diapers, the buttocks should be oiled. The oil will aid in the removal of fecal matter and will act as a water-proof coating to prevent the urine and more solid matter from clinging to and attacking the skin.

Special Offer! This week your druggist is offering a can of Mennen Borated Baby Talcum FREE with a purchase of a bottle of Mennen Baby Oil for 50c. Mennen Baby Oil is a sterilized blend of oils, properly medicated, pleasantly scented, and will not become rancid. The Mennen Company, Newark, N. J.

COMEDY, MUSIC, DRAMA, STAGE AND SCREEN FARE IN NEW ATTRACTIONS

Tomboy Ilse Marvenga's 'Naughty Marietta' Third Herbert Hit

By GEORGE SEIBEL

THE melodious Victor Herbert caught the magic of Franz Schubert's "Sweet Mystery of Life," runs like a golden thread through "Naughty Marietta," sung last night before a great audience in Syria Mosque, and there are others, melodies and airs bewitching, which raise this composition beyond ordinary opera bouffe into the realm of ballad opera like "Martha" and "Bo[illegible]"

Such work demands an adequate interpretation, and it had one. Not a little of this success was due to the augmented orchestra from the Alvin Theater, where the performances will be given from Wednesday on. William Ortt, musical director of the company, had full charge of the orchestra at this concert, and his skill must have understood when he heard at most of these melodies played under Herbert himself in symphony concerts.

With such a foundation for the musical edifice of the week, with Ilse Marvenga in the stellar role, with a tenor like Halfred Young, who can sing and act, and with a comedienne like Eulalia Young to put the parquet into hysterics, it was a glorious festival of song and laughter.

NEW YORK, March 25.

THIS TOWN OF OURS

THE American Mercury is plotting a torrid expose on local moom pitcher critics, authenticated by documents from files of three different companies . . .

Winchell.

J. Whitehead, the coca-cola man from the South (with a a big cigar in his mouth), and and Laura Scofield, who were secretly welded wk-ends ago, are at the Plahzah . . . It's a girl at the Philip Currys (Blanche O'Brien) . . . Frazier Jelke of the Social Register and Mimi Woodward, who were going to middle-aisle it, won't . . . The subway advertisements feature a photo of a firm's radio quartet, showing five men.

ALWAYS AT TOP

MRS. WILLIAM ASTOR CHANLER, the Social Reg's highest hat, has written the topmost play in Brock Pemberton's topmost drawer . . . B. Trivers, who started as an extra with "Street Scene," is now its lead . . . Pauline Lord is not a Greta Garbo fan, despite the Sabbath Trib's "The Two Anna Christies Meet" story . . . Helen Zenna Smith is the pseudonym of the "Stepdaughters of War" author, who is well known under her own tag . . . Postal Telegraph is plotting a pictorial news service . . . George Jean Nathan's "The Critical Circus" will boo the critics (by name) in the May Forum.

THE CHORUS LEFFS

A SONG about Rudy Vallee was jerked out of Ziegfeld's "Simple Simon" during rehearsals because the gels laughed so . . . Mary Watkins, the writer, antiizpates a blessed event . . . Hollywood's theme song racket is wilting with many Big Money tune builders coming down to earth . . . Cole Porter is in Borneo . . . Ernest Boyd will do pieces for The New Freeman . . . Edwin Rich, head of the Curtis Brown Limited, a literary agency, will ankle up a local altar soon and tenant at Scarsdale . . . Practically every leading lady in town will see Ward Moorehouse off on the Ile de France . . . Rosy Dolly is Newyorkbound and will dwell in Kate McCarthy's penthouse at 912 Vth Ave.

ROYAL GOOD TIME

EZRA WINTER, the artist, hurled a party in his Grand Central Station studio to which the guests had to come costumed as a King or Queen. Most of the girls came as South Sea Island queens . . . The woman who owns the barber shop on the 8th near 56th will shave and hairtrim you . . . The reason those new Terminal cabs display their license tags so high is to save bulb and plate expense from minor bumps . . . Janet Holbrook and David Farnum, who met at 4 a. m. on Vth Avenue via the flirtation route, were married three days later in Canada . . . You can have the official weather bureau report sent you for two dimes a month.

Recommended to diversion seekers: Louis Armstrong's platter, "Song of the Islands," simply swelegant . . . Ted Weems' blazing version of "Harmonica Harry" (he imitates birds, too pretty for words) . . . The breathlessly interesting tome, "The Strange Death of President Harding" . . . The Plantation Revue at the Krazy Kat Klub, plenty good . . . The chorus at the City Theater on E. 14th.

SCANDAL IS DUE

THE biggest literary scandal New York has even known is due any day (a noted author and newspaper man who has been ghosting hit novels from his "heart") . . . Van Wyck Brookes, the noted author, has had a breakdown and will not be able to lift his quill for a long time . . . A. Woollcott is on the high seas wearing a porthole tor a lavalliere . . . A forthcoming issue of Time will "expose" Sime . . . That fellow with a posie in his o'coat lapel skipping up Broadway was Maxie Rosenbloom, the fighter . . . You seldom, if ever, see a clock in a respectable night club or a calendar in a real speakeasy.

EXCLUSIVE TRADE

THE ladies at Bergdorf-Goodman may buy their clothes at a discount there, but must not wear them in the store for fear of frightening off the big money customers . . . A showman in a jail housing other celebrities was caught cheating in a poker game and now is barred from playing . . . The B. Lohmuller-Louise (blonde) Brooks romance has curdled again . . . George (AE) Russell, the Irish poet and editor, is coming here in Sept. to lead a cpusade for "better" government, being organized by a mess of millionaires . . . After a score of yrs a 44th Street traffic cop resigned last wk and was given a bag of gold by the Lambs Club, which has to throw itself a benefit frequently . . . Add Don Hancock's simile: No more heart than a tramp has towels.

SPRING IS HERE

THE Main Stem mazdas are now doused at 5:35 . . . The George S. Kaufmans are throwing a party for their landlord, Peggy Joyce . . . B. A. Rolfe says an ignoramus is a bird who doesn't know the meaning of the word you learned yesterday . . . Anne Seymour, who until recently was Mrs. Henry Santrey, will become Mrs. Dennis Dufor any day now . . . Fanny Ward's piano player, Al Siegel, is missing after a "scene" at Belle Livingston's . . . H. Broun, the critic, sang three songs at Violet Carlson's party, which was full of actors, so, of course, he went good . . . Lieut. Paddy Fitzgibbons, of the Broadway Strong Arm Squad, is the only mannerly plainclothesman, for he removes his hat when he walks into a night club.

WALLOP COMING

THE musical unions will shortly try the Biggest and Best Wallop against their canned enemies . . . A drastic reduction of trans-Atlantic rates is impending for the Autumn . . . At Chotzinoff's party, Zimbalist and other stars were spellbound by Gershwin's two-hour session of his own compositions . . . Mabel Wayne, according to Master Vallee's book, "is the only successful woman song writer, and has several hits to her credit, while Mary Earl, who wrote 'Beautiful Ohio,' several years ago, seems to have rested on her oars ever since" . . . So the future historians won't be misled, "Mary Earl" is Bob King of the Shapiro-Bernstein Music Publishing firm.

Penn and Aldine To Change Day Of Opening

The Penn and Aldine Theaters will change to a Friday opening of their stage and screen shows beginning Friday, April 4.

The new arrangement will enable the Penn to give more care to the proper staging of the traveling unit shows, allowing more time for working out the electrical lighting and mechanical effects. The new schedule will bring the traveling shows to Pittsburgh several days before they are due to open here. It also will enable both the Penn and the Aldine to offer picture productions three days earlier than was possible under the old schedule.

Again?
Periodically she suffered; expected to; was virtually an invalid certain days of every month. Then a trained nurse told her the story of Midol. A most marvelous medicine—not a narcotic—that actually ends such pain. Today, the woman who has learned the use of Midol regards the process as an incident! A harmless little tablet acting directly on the organs affected; in five to seven minutes not a twinge of pain remains! Midol is fifty cents, metal case.*

*Midol's comfort is not confined to any certain days or age. It relieves at any time of life. Its ease is felt immediately in cases of nervous headache, backache, cramping, hot flashes and all febrile pain peculiar to women.

WESTINGHOUSE

THE REFRIGERATOR THAT COMBINES ALL 3 OF THESE ESSENTIAL REFINEMENTS..

Made possible by the Compact Efficient Freezing Mechanism developed by Westinghouse Engineers.

Have you seen the New Westinghouse Refrigerator? If not, you really ought to take the time to look at it. It is worth—if you are the least bit interested in modern kitchen equipment—an hour of your time.

The low, flat Buffet-Top is so necessary when you are taking dishes out or putting them away. Without it, you must either search about for a place to lay them down or else handle them one at a time. And the Broom-High Legs to make underneath sweeping easy! And the Temperature-Selector to give you absolutely flexible control of freezing speed. You couldn't do without any of these refinements . . . and you can't find them all in any other machine.

For Westinghouse has a freezing mechanism which permits the building of a refrigerator that has these requisite features. This mechanism . . . perfected after 12 years of patient research and experimentation . . . is a complete innovation. It is decidely fast freezing and is definitely more efficient and economical.

DRUGGIST PICKS REM FOR HIS OWN COUGH

MR. A. MATERA, JR.

Explains why he chooses it

Mr. A. Matera, Jr., is a druggist at 8136 Baxter Ave., Elmhurst, N. Y., and has a whole storeful of various remedies at his disposal. Therefore it is interesting and significant that he chooses REM when he himself has a cough. Mr. Matera says: "REM is a very good expectorant, loosens the phlegm in the throat, soothes the tissues, and promptly checks the coughing." This prompt action of REM is partly due to a special ingredient not found in ordinary cough remedies. Though harmless itself, it helps produce the quick soothing effect so noticeable when REM is swallowed. Then he adds: "It's an easy remedy to give children because they like to take it, and I've noticed that it always does all that is claimed for it."

REM is quicker. Clings to the throat. Starts relief immediately

SECRECY ON AIR CRASHES O.K'D

WASHINGTON, March 25 (INS.)—Publication of the causes of individual airplane accidents is not required by the air commerce act, according to a ruling of Attorney General Mitchell made public at the Commerce Department today.

Mitchell approved the statistical method under which the causes of accidents are made public without reference to individual accidents.

This system brought about some criticism in Congress when Secretary of Commerce Lamont declined to divulge the results of investigations of a number of air transport tragedies in which many lives were lost. Fixing of responsibility by the department was suggested.

Mitchell's opinion said:

"The real purpose of demanding detailed information as to the cause of particular accidents may often be to assist private parties in litigation."

"The publication of such information might make it difficult for the department to secure frank disclosures from those concerned in accidents and thus hamper the securing of accurate information upon which to base remedial measures."

Parrot Fever Germ Isolated by German

BERLIN, March 25.—(INS.)—Prof. Robert Koch of the Institute for Infectious Diseases, announced today that he had discovered the psittacosis germ, the cause of parrot fever. He has been working in seclusion for some time.

The psittacosis germ long sought by physicians all over the world is believed to have been discovered by Dr. Koch in a virus taken from the heart of parrots infected with the disease. The germ was unrecognizable by the naked eye but was found by a process of filtration, it was said.

Woman Politician Faces Year in Jail

CHICAGO, March 25.—(INS.)—Mrs. Dora Robin, precinct worker in the Twentieth Ward, today faces a year in jail for election fraud during the April, 1928, primary. Her sentence was affirmed by the appellate court yesterday, making Mrs. Robin the fourth woman election official to be thus sentenced.

Il Duce O. K.'s Papers For Edda's Wedding

ROME, March 25.—(AP.)—Premier Mussolini today in the course of an intimate ceremony at the Villa Torlonia formally signed the legal papers for the marriage of his daughter, Edda, to Count Galleazzo Ciano. The banns will be published next Sunday, but the wedding probably will not occur until April 24.

No Relief So Quick! Stomach Gas Pains

Indigestion, Bloating

Don't wait another day—don't suffer another moment — eat everything you want now without a sign of indigestion, gas, bloating or dizziness. The right way—the time-proven way to get quick relief from weak ailing stomachs and get back health and strength is thru the use of Tanlac.

Just a tablespoon of this reliable medicine before meals is almost an absolute guarantee that you will have no after-eating misery. But Tanlac is not intended to give temporary relief only. Its object is a banishment of those troubles which have kept you so miserable. These claims for Tanlac are based on a record of over 10 years' success. One man says he lived on milk and raw eggs for 8 months and had lost all his strength but after taking Tanlac for only 3 days he began to eat everything and gain strength. If you doubt that Tanlac will benefit you, you have the privilege of going to your druggist, purchasing a bottle and if, after using it you are not benefited greatly your money will be refunded. Accept no substitute.

Must Buy Teeth For Husband Who Divorced Her

DETROIT, Mich., March 25 (AP.)—Wolf B. Lakritz is going to have a new $100 set of teeth, his wife paying the bill—and he is going to have $3 a week alimony.

Yesterday he appeared in court seeking a divorce, charging his wife, Lena, with cruelty. Mrs. Lakritz, he said, took over all his property as fast as he acquired it, and when he became ill she refused to give him money.

Judge Maurice McMahon, in granting the divorce, reversed the usual order of things and gave Mr. Lakritz $3 a week alimony, ordering Mrs. Lakritz to buy him a new set of teeth, the cost not to exceed $100.

PLAN RESUMING CANAL TRAFFIC

CUMBERLAND, Md., March 25.—Activity on the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, which starts here after eight years of idleness, is a matter of much speculation. There had been rumors of resumption on the waterway this season, but the first actual evidence was in the towing of the big dredge to the boatyard.

It is understood the dock of the boatyard, the basin and the canal level here are to be dredged and that a number of boats are to be brought to the docks here and repaired for partial navigation this spring and summer.

Mayor for 9 Times, Seeks Private Life

CUMBERLAND, Md., March 25.—Dr. Thomas W. Koon, completing 16 years as mayor of Cumberland and re-elected for a ninth term last Tuesday, has made formal announcement that he will not seek the honor again but will retire in 1932 to give full time to the practice of his profession and his private business affairs.

SIMPLE HOME MIXTURE DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Cincinnati Barber Tells How Any One Can Prepare It In 5 Minutes.

Any man or woman can easily look ten (10) years younger by simply darkening their gray, faded, or streaky hair. This is now easy to accomplish with a recipe given by a well-known Cincinnati barber.

Simply take a half-pint of water, add one ounce of bay rum, ¼ ounce of glycerine and a small box of Barbo Compound. Shake and it is ready to use. These ingredients can be bought at drug stores at trifling cost.

Applied to the hair twice weekly, this delightful mixture quickly gives the desired shade. It is easy to use, is not sticky or greasy, will not color the scalp and does not rub off.

Cold in Head, Chest or Throat?

RUB Musterole well into your chest and throat — almost instantly you feel easier. Repeat the Musterole-rub once an hour for five hours . . . what a glorious relief!

Those good old-fashioned cold remedies—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor—are mixed with other valuable ingredients in Musterole.

It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. Keep Musterole handy—jars, tubes. All druggists.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

HOME LIFE DEPENDS ON THE WOMAN

Necessary That She Keep Herself in Perfect Health to Hold Her Family.

Happiness of the home usually depends upon the mental atmosphere created by the wife and mother. When she is cheerful, considerate and attractive, home is a delightful place. When she is crabbed, uncomfortable and half sick, the husband and children seek their pleasures elsewhere.

That is one of the reasons why the woman of the home must take the utmost precaution to safeguard her health. If she desires to retain the love of her husband and children she must be amiable and magnetic. Many women fail in this because they do not realize that their lack of good health shows in every action.

No woman can be amiable and attractive when she is dragging herself around utterly worn out. She permits herself to get into this condition without realizing it, and then she sees her home going to pieces. Good health is a matter of keeping all the bodily functions up to top notch. When the digestion weakens, the liver and kidneys become torpid, and waste matter remains in the system, common sense demands immediate action. Something must be done to restore those great filters of the body, the kidneys and the liver, into working order, and to cause the throwing off of waste products so that pure blood will refresh the tissues, clear the mind and energize the body. Worth's Tonic is intended to do just those things. It is a prescription that has helped thousands to health. It will do the same for you—get a bottle of it today from Dow's, May's & Liggett's, Mayflower, or any other good drug-gist. (A-51)

4 NEW PLANETS REPORTED

LONDON March 25 1930

The discovery of four new planets which reveals that the solar system is 50 times greater than heretofore supposed was announced today by Prof. Rafael Bendandi former cabinet minister of Rome according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome.

His announcement of the discovery of four new planets followed the recent discovery of a similar planet at Flagstaff Ariz.

The fourth of the newly discovered planets is seven times more distant from the Sun than Neptune Prof. Bendandi claimed.

"My method of studying astral bodies is wholly different from the usual calculations but I have proved my discovery by astronomical and mathmatical methods."

Rome newspapers skeptical did not publish any news concerning Bendandi's claim.

Police Probe Voted And Whalen Scored

ALBANY March 25 (INS)—A bitter attack on Grover Whalen New York police commissioner preceded passage in the Assembly today of the Republican bill authorizing Gov. Roosevelt to name a commission to investigate three major departments of New York City Police Magistrates Courts and Standards and Appeal.

The bill which already had been approved in the Senate went through the Assembly by a party vote all Democrats opposing it. Gov. Roosevelt is expected to sign the measure as soon as it reaches his desk.

Tex's Aides Face Court in Shooting

CHICAGO March 25 (INS)—With Texas Guinan's night club still closed Judge Philip Finnegan today will decide the future of Harry Yoler Miss Guinan manager and Arthur Reed Yoler's bodyguard.

Both men were arrested and held without bond early Sunday when Leon Lazar owner of the resort was shot three times and seriously wounded in an argument which is said to have arisen over the collection of rent.

Woman, Lone Worshipper Of Meeting House, Dies

BLOOMSBURG Pa. March 25 (AP)—Miss Mary Emma Walter 91 who for the past 25 years worshipped alone in the Friends Meeting House in Catawissa died in a hospital here last night. She fell on her way to attend services.

Miss Walter was the last member of the congregation at the Friends Meeting House. In 1905 all the other members had died or had moved from the district but Miss Walter continued to attend worship at the church. Each Wednesday and each Sunday she went to the little log building and sat for half an hour in silence according to the rigid rules of the faith.

The church is now a historical shrine and is a historical landmark. Miss Walter, the daughter of a well-to-

Real Cigarette Pleasure

WHY BE SATISFIED with less smoking pleasure when for the same price you can have the luxury of Camels?

Camels stand alone. If you merely want to puff, anything will do. But if you want to know the true delight of smoking—to enjoy the mild, mellow fragrance of superbly blended Domestic and Turkish tobaccos, brought to perfection by the most scientific methods of manufacture but with none of the delicacy of its natural goodness lost or spoiled by over-treatment—then Camel is the cigarette for you.

Rulers of Belgium Defy Curse of Pharaohs

LUXOR, Egypt, March 25.—(AP).—The King and Queen of the Belgians defied the reputed curse of the Pharaohs.

With Howard Carter, excavator of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, King Albert and Queen Elizabeth visited the tomb in the Valley of the Kings and neither indicated any bad luck was expected. Thereafter the King walked nearly two miles from his yacht into Karnak. He will go to Cairo tomorrow.

The curse of the Pharaohs is a popular superstition in England where many persons believe that anyone who touches the tomb of an ancient Egyptian ruler will suffer a quick or violent death.

FINDS $50,000 GEMS GONE

HAVERFORD, Pa., March 25.—(AP).—The theft of jewels valued at $50,000 from the home of Maj. David S. Barry, Jr., United States Marine Corps and socially prominent, were reported to the police here.

Mrs. Barry said she discovered the theft when she opened for the first time in 36 hours a jewel case she kept in a drawer of a dresser in her boudoir. The case was empty, but a rope of pearls valued at $15,000 which she had laid on top of the dresser was undisturbed.

Among the articles stolen were a rope of pearls valued at $30,000 and bracelets and rings valued at $20,000. Police were unable to find any evidence that the house had been entered forcibly.

Every Building in Pennsylvania

Property owners — individually and collectively — create the conditions which determine the cost of their fire insurance.

To establish Fire Insurance Rates for the various properties in your state in keeping with their individual conditions requires careful measurement and estimate of the fire hazards in practically every commercial building in Pennsylvania.

Inspection and Rating Bureaus

Consider the task of surveying practically every commercial building in this state—with details of construction, occupancy, protection and exposure kept on file.

Even then you have an incomplete idea of the inspection and rating services involved in establishing fire insurance rates.

This is the job done by the Underwriters' Association of the Middle Department, Philadelphia Board of Fire Underwriters (Philadelphia only), Philadelphia Suburban Underwriters' Association, and the Board of Fire Underwriters of Allegheny County (Pittsburgh and vicinity) with their extensive staffs of trained engineers.

Engineering Standards and Laboratory Tests

Engineering standards published by the National Board of Fire Underwriters and researches and tests of the Underwriters' Laboratories pertaining to the strength and usefulness of materials and devices are available to these rating organizations.

Should an owner desire to improve his property, where standard conditions do not already prevail, information showing him how to do it will be supplied free of charge directly through his insurance agent or broker. Constructive work of this character results in reducing hazards.

A Free Service

The above rating organizations are constantly advising property owners and communities as to specifications for new buildings or changes in old ones—the installation of fire protective devices—community fire prevention programs—and all fire safety activities. All of this service is free.

Public use of these and other measures of conservation afforded by Stock Fire Insurance is a principal factor in the constant decline in the average fire insurance rate in this country for more than twenty years.

VETS' HOSPITAL AREA SET

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 25.—(AP.)—The $750,000 United States Veterans' Hospital authorized for West Virginia, will be located within a 75-mile radius of Pigeon, Roane County, Representative Frank L. Bowman announced in advices received here from Washington.

Bowman said he had been advised by the Hospital Board of the Veterans' Bureau that engineers would be sent out shortly to determine the exact location of the hospital.

The general area specified by the Hospital Board includes approximately 25 counties, extending south of Beckley; northeast of Beckley; north of Parkersburg and west to the Ohio line.

Numerous cities and communities in West Virginia have offered sites for the proposed hospital. Many sent representatives to a Hospital Board hearing in Washington recently to present details in favor of their respective sections.

Miss Smith's Height Record Approved

FREEPORT, N. Y., March 25.—(AP.)—Elinor Smith, aviatrix, said she had received word from the United States Department of Commerce that she established a new official altitude record for women on March 10.

The Bureau of Standards of the department wrote her that her barograph showed she had attained a height of 27,418 feet, breaking the previous record of 23,916 feet held by Marvel Crosson, who was killed on August 20, 1929, during the women's air derby. Miss Smith made her altitude flight at Roosevelt Field.

Papers Asking Carol Return Confiscated

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 25.—(AP.)—On orders from the crown attorney the police confiscated the entire issues of the principal daily newspapers published in the capital. All of them had printed a complete story of a meeting of Gen. Averescu's People's Party in which the recall of Prince Carol from exile was demanded.

Copies of Adeverul, Coventul, Lupta, Facla and the Independence Roumaine, were among those seized.

French Destroyer Claims Speed Title

LORIENT, France, March 25.—(AP.)—The proud title of the fastest warship in the world is claimed now for the new French destroyer Bison, which logged 41.2 knots in official trials.

UNDERWEIGHT DUE TO TASTELESS DIET

Often True in the Case of Children

"Get correct weight on children," says the doctor. For the underweight child is more subject to disease than the one up to standard.

However, the old saying about horses being "led to water" can be paraphrased to describe underweight children—you can lead them to food but you can't always make them eat.

In such cases, the mother or the cook must take extra pains to make the foods in the child's diet inviting and palatable. Sugar is a great aid in this respect. A dash of sugar on essential vegetables as carrots, peas, cabbage and spinach improves their flavor to a marked degree. A leading child specialist in Pennsylvania invariably suggests that tomatoes be sweetened to taste.

This recommendation should be followed even in the case of adults who are underweight. In addition to using sugar on vegetables, a sprinkling on fresh and stewed fruits, also cereal, makes them more tasty and is dietetically correct. It must also be remembered that nourishing desserts such as custards, puddings and ice creams are invaluable. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Farm of Dynamite Slayer Sold At Auction

ST. JOHNS, Mich., March 25.—(AP.)—The name of Andrew Kehoe, whose maniacal fury led him to destroy the schoolhouse at Bath, Mich., killing 45 children, has been written off county records. The 80-acre farm, where he killed his wife and burned and dynamited his house before destroying the school and himself, has been sold at auction to satisfy a $4,900 mortgage.

Kehoe, a member of the school board, committed his ruthless act of destruction on May 18, 1927.

Before the land was sold every foot of it was plowed to alleviate fears that wires and explosive still might be hidden on it. This fear had made the place one to be avoided ever since the tragedy.

3 DIE AS BEERY PLANE FALLS

LOS ANGELES, March 25—(AP.)—Three persons were killed yesterday in the crash of a cabin biplane owned by Wallace Beery. The motion picture actor was not aboard when the ship went into a tailspin at 500 feet, nosed into a field near Alhambra, Los Angeles suburb, with terrific impact and burst into flames.

The victims were George Maves, 23, pilot; his wife, Mrs. Cynthia Maves, and Lynn H. Hayes, 26, pilot and friend of the Maves. Maves was the personal pilot of Beery.

Motorists rushed to the scene, but were driven back by the fire. Three bodies were seen behind the wall of flame. Before officers arrived the plane was destroyed. It was more than an hour before the victims were indentified.

Husband's Suicide Fake, Wife Asks Divorce

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Adel G. Carlson wants a divorce from the husband who fooled her about attempting suicide.

Last November, she relates in her bill filed yesterday, Carlson came out of the bathroom, announced he had swallowed poison and lay down on the floor with the obvious intent of dying.

After Mrs. Carlson forced him to drink antidotes and made a great fuss over him, she discovered he hadn't taken poison after all.

INVALIDS JOIN GANDHI'S BAND

BROACH, Bombay, India, March 25.—(AP.)—There are 18 invalids among the 79 devotees who are following Mahatma Gandhi from Ahmadabad to the sea at Jalalpur, where they will manufacture salt in defiance of the British monopoly.

Gandhi leaving today left general directions to be followed, and asked that prayers be said for the safety of his party. Seventeen of the 18 sick ones had to be conveyed here in advance.

Ordinary City Water and Soaps Will Not Clean Dishes Thoroughly . . . Because Water Is Too Hard

For best results in any home washing just add this new WATER-SOFTENING cleanser to soap and water. Takes ¼ the usual amount of soap—saves ½ the time and effort

WOMEN here are discovering an easy inexpensive way to avoid the greasy film on dishes and greasy scum in dish pan that follows washing in this hard water. They claim amazingly fine results.

This new discovery is not a soap—but a water softening cleanser, that gives any soap four times its cleansing efficiency by turning "hard" water into "soft".

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene that you add to your washing water. Just a tablespoon or two.

Instantly, it takes all the harshness out of that water. Makes it soft as rain water. So soft that it does the work with ONE-FOURTH the soap you use now. And thus ends danger of "soap eat" to fragile things.

At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all dirt, stains and grime. And thus cuts washing time, too—in either dishpan or washing machine—ONE-HALF or more.

Use the soap or soap flakes you ordinarily do. Then see for yourself the amazing results. During 1929, women used over 24,000,000 packages of Climalene for washing, for cleaning and in the dish pan.

Laboratory Proved

To assure results to you, we buy fine things, lingerie and delicate fabrics. Then by repeated washings, try to spoil or fade them.

We wash delicate lingerie, often 50 times—without perceptible fade. Children's rompers, 60 to 90 times. That's over a year's home washing.

We wash gold encrusted china hundreds of times—without a trace of gold gone. And thus prove the blandness of this way.

Consider, please, what those things mean to you. Consider, too, that the minute you put this creation into water, all harshness is taken away—your hands protected from roughness, made soft, smooth and white. Then try it.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it. Sold only in 10c and 25c packages.

PRICE AND ROSE SUE FILM FIRM

Miss Brice seeks $155,000 ($125,000) for the company's alleged failure to produce a talking picture in which he was to star, and $30,000 under an agreement to pay her $2,500 a week for six weeks if a picture with legs and not run more than 4 weeks on Broadway.

An attorney for the actress and her husband said the corporation contracted to feature Miss Brice in three talkies. They produced the first, but failed to produce the second and third, he said.

Rose's suit is based on a claim that he was to be paid $25,000 to write the music for the second picture, which was not produced.

Upset Not Serious If Bowels Get This Help

When you're out-of-sorts, headachy, dizzy, bilious, with coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite or energy—don't worry. It's probably constipation.

Take a tablet Cascaret tonight and see how quickly your troubles clear up. No more headache, no sick on stomach or bowels. Appetite improves, digestion is encouraged. Take another tomorrow night and the next night. Get every bit of the souring waste out of your system. Then see how bowel action is regular and complete.

Cascarets are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. Ten cents at all drug stores.

Over Sixty Years Ago

a young physician practiced widely in a rural district and became famous for his uniform success in the treatment of disease. This was Dr. R. V. Pierce, who afterwards established Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., composed of well-qualified medical men, specialists in the treatment of various chronic diseases.

If you are ailing, and desire a thorough medical examination, go to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., where you will receive the best medical advice from Dr. Pierce's Clinic. If you cannot go there, write and you will receive good medical advice free of cost.

An herb tonic that Dr. Pierce prescribed most often for building up the weakened system, and for making richer blood, cleansing the systems of men, women or children, without harm, was afterwards put up in ready-to-use form and is known the country over as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It is sold in both liquid and tablets at all drug stores. It is just as popular now as 60 years ago.

A SIMPLE STEP TOWARDS HEALTH

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a Daily Essential and Millions Know Its Effectiveness in Relief of Constipation

Perhaps the one simple thing you are not doing to guarantee permanent health is having sufficient roughage in your food. Absence of this roughage is the direct cause of constipation which results in so many other ills—headaches, listlessness, general depression, indigestion and, sometimes, serious disease.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is roughage. It is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or the purchase price will be refunded. Two tablespoons daily (in serious cases, with each meal) is the proper amount.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also helps you to health in other ways. It is rich in iron, practically all of which goes into the blood, bringing red, healthy color to the complexion. It helps prevent anemia. Be sure to include it in reducing diets.

Many eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with cream or milk added. It is a delicious addition to cereals, fruits and soups. In cooked foods, such as bran muffins, it is just as effective in the relief of constipation. Recommended by doctors. Ask your grocer for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SOUTH SIDE BOY SHOT DOWN AS ROBBER

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

SECRETARY MELLON, 75 yesterday, is Pittsburgh's best-known international figure, but the man himself seeks to remain as anonymous as John Doe. What does he read? Has he a hundred suits of clothes or two suits? Is he forceful, aggressive or retiring? These are questions Mr. Mellon runs away from, for he is fond of his privacy.

Here in Pittsburgh, his home town, most of us have a vague picture of the man. We know he is tall, lean, quiet, unhurried, that his voice is barely more than a whisper, that when he must refuse this or that request he is apologetic.

Walter Davenport, of Collier's, tells us that Mr. Mellon walks three or four miles Daily, from his 15-room apartment in Washington to his Treasury office, and back and forth for lunch, that he doesn't read fiction, but enjoys biography, that he rises at seven and works from nine to six, if not later, that he likes apples, that he enjoys eating more than the average man, that his father lived to be 95, his mother to 93, that music doesn't interest him, but paintings do, that he acquired his taste for paintings from Pittsburgh's late Henry C. Frick, that he enjoys a thin, mild cigar which is no fatter than a cigaret but longer, that he is extremely healthy, and that painters have found his face baffling for canvas.

THERE is a story which perhaps will bring out a side of the man little known. A few years ago much was made of a contemplated visit Mr. Mellon was to make to Pittsburgh. The political situation was, as they say, tense, and Mr. Mellon's advice was awaited anxiously. When he did arrive he talked with reporters in his home, but he had little of consequence or interest to tell.

A reporter for one of the papers missed the interview. He had overslept. He tumbled out of bed late, rushed downtown to Mr. Mellon's bank and pleaded with a secretary to be allowed to see Mr. Mellon. The secretary appreciated the reporter's dilema and promised to try to arrange a second interview. He bade the reporter wait.

The reporter did. Not only that, he dozed off to sleep in Mr. Mellon's reception room. He was awakened by an elderly white-haired gentleman who tapped his shoulder and asked, "Are you the reporter who wants to see me?"

"Yes, yes," the embarrassed reporter managed to say. "I—er, I overslept, Mr. Mellon. I was out late last night at a party and got home feeling pretty sick. I missed the appointment. What our paper wants to know is what brings you to Pittsburgh?"

Mr. Mellon smiled. "You've been frank with me," he said, "and I'll be frank with you. I came home to see my dentist." That reporter's story was the best of all the interviews.

Former Senator Pepper writing his memoirs, tells another story concerning Mr. Mellon. Soon after Mr. Coolidge became President, Secretary Mellon went to the White House to resign, in accordance with the custom.

"Mr. Coolidge plunged into a discussion of the entire financial system of the government and displayed an accuracy and breadth of knowledge which took Mr. Mellon by surprise," Mr. Pepper tells. "The interview was so interesting that not until he reached the anteroom after its conclusion did Mr. Mellon remember that he had not offered his resignation. Re-entering Mr. Coolidge's office, he said:

"'Mr. President, I neglected to tell you that I had come to resign.'

"'Forget it,' said the President."

AND this happened yesterday: Ed Sykes, the dean of Pittsburgh reporters, and Howard Kennedy, photographer for this newspaper, had taken Mr. Mellon's picture and talked with him in his East End home and were departing to take a street car to the office.

"Are you going downtown?" Mr. Mellon asked.

"Yes," Mr. Sykes answered, "we're going to our office."

"Why not ride down with me?"

Mr. Mellon, Mr. Sykes, Mr. Kennedy and the chauffeur rode downtown together.

RAIL FIGHT ON MILL OUTPUT

Fight for control of all the traffic from the $75,000,000 plant of the American Steel and Wire Company at Monessen reached its keenest stage yesterday with the filing in the Federal Court here by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company of an application for an injunction to prevent the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad from constructing a branch line from Pigeon Creek to Baird.

For months the Pennsylvania has been opposing the plans of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia and a bitter contest has been waged before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

At present the Pennsylvania is the only line serving the American Steel and Wire plant, one of the largest in the country. The proposed line would be a branch of the extension being built by the Pittsburgh and West Virginia to Connellsville. While only six miles in length, the branch would connect with the Donora and Southern Railroad and would give the Pittsburgh and West Virginia a share in an enormous volume of traffic on which the Pennsylvania now has a monopoly.

Residents Complain On Factory Noise

Residents of the vicinity of South Pacific and Coral avenues have complained to Council about noise made by the repair shop of the International Harvester Company of America, at 5200 Penn avenue. Too much noise at night is alleged by the complainants, who ask the city to take relief measures to stop the racket.

WHITE HOUSE GANG

Quentin's Wagon Damages Valuable Portrait

Theodore Roosevelt, when President of the United States, started the adventurous, rollicking, joyous career of the White House Gang by sending his youngest son, Quentin, to the Force Public School in Washington. Here the gang was recruited. The accredited members are Charles (Taffy) Taft, "Brom" Seeley, Dick (Sailor) Chew, Edward (Slats) Stead, also called "Bedstead," Walker White, "T. R.," the most active member of the gang; Quentin, the leader, and Earle Looker, the author of this story.

Each day, after school, the gang went into a huddle to confound all rules of deportment in high places, mingle in the lives of presidents and policemen, win victories, taste honor, suffer punishments and engage in escapades which were swept along the wires to national publicity. Many exploits of the gang, however, either remain unknown or were known only to the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. Some there were securely hidden even from them.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Q CLUTCHED Eddie by the belt, and pulled him out into the hall. Eddie took one look across the passage and groaned. Quentin had been coasting up and down the hall in a small express wagon, propelling it with one foot over the edge. Suddenly the front wheels had twisted, the tongue of the wagon had jerked out of Q's hands and gone right through the lower part of the full-length portrait of Mrs. Rutherford Hayes!

"And," Norris said, years later, indicating the seriousness of Q's accident, "that portrait, by Huntington, had been presented to the White House by the Women's National Temperance Union, because President Hayes drank nothing but Potomac River water. . . ." The patching and repainting of the canvas was most skilfully done; today it is unnoticeable to the casual observer and hardly to be detected with the closest scrutiny. It was not repaired exactly as Q suggested, however, nor by Eddie, but by experts, and under presidential supervision.

Just before we reached Eddie's door, Q halted to exchange banter with one of the ushers, making one of his favorite remarks, "Are you going to change your clothes right now?"

This had reference to the dress regulations, then in force, and which had made a great impression on Q. Ushers wore white gloves always, and frock-coats, from 8 in the morning until 6 in the evening. After 6, they appeared in formal evening dress.

"The shirt and collar you wore last night will not be worn again tonight, I trust," Q remarked casually.

The President
Boys Get Excited When He Approaches

The usher, used to this sort of thing, grinned with good humor. Then he suddenly stiffened into alert formality. Without looking, we knew this to be caused by the arrival of TR. The signal is of course passed along when the President is "on his way." In addition, however, there circulates through the Executive Mansion a sort of telepathic knowledge of the President's movements. This sort of foreknowledge, so I am told, attaches itself to the king, regent, dictator or president of every country in the world large enough to have corridors in a palace . . . and, as I have said, despite its stately simplicity the White House had it aplenty. The feeling among the ushers that the President was in the offing was positively uncanny; it was, moreover, definitely experienced by sensitive boys.

Q must have felt it, too, that morning in the lower hall, because he cried, "He's coming!" in a loud voice, and pretended to swoon with excitement. Naturally, it developed in another member and speedily spread to the rest of us. The Gang began to collapse all about the lower hall.

In the midst of this hubbub TR entered, and halted to observe us; so we went right on with it. I chose to stagger and drop right opposite the President and the red plush-covered pedestal on which stood the marble bust of Martin Van Buren. I clutched at the pedestal as I fell, and was immediately jumped upon by members of the Gang.

Inquisitive
TR Wants to Know What's Wrong

There was a warning shout of "Look out!" from TR, and we saw Martin Van Buren wobbling upon his pedestal, about to topple to the floor and be shattered into fragments. TR, however, considered only the Gang, not the bust, and swept the two nearest boys out of danger with great dexterity and vigour. As for myself, I simply sat transfixed upon the floor, looking as TR said, afterwards, "as white as Mr. President Van Buren himself."

Fortunately, the bust did not fall, but settled back upon its base. It was held on its pedestal only by its own weight—some three hundred and fifty pounds—quite sufficient to have killed a boy.

"Nobody hurt—least of all Van Buren," said TR. "But you must be more careful of these historical and valuable things—we are the custodians of them—or shall I have to put this corridor out of bounds. . . . What caused these fainting spells?"

"We were pretending," Q explained, "to be very much alarmed by your coming, Father . . . . ."

"Is there anything so very alarming about me?" TR asked quickly.

"I—I—don't know," hesitated Dick Chew, who happened to catch the President's eye.

"Not denying it, it must be so," TR said, with a note of concern. "Now, what do you suppose I can do to overcome it?"

"Take a bath," Q suggested. "That's what everybody keeps telling me is best for everything—"

Correspondent Speaks Well of Quentin

Q could not possibly have been more than 11, and in this remark, there is an alert quickness of repartee, surprising for one of his years. There, of course, was his mind, turning over and over like a little motor. His body, well-rounded, but never sluggish, simply had to hustle to keep up with his mind, and only partially succeeded. That was one reason why the Washington correspondents hardly ever saw Q except—as they recorded it—"on the run."

Preserving a great respect for the newspaper fraternity, of which, later, he, himself, was a member, this chronicler has closed his ears to many of the stories it tells of Quentin. Though the importance of Washington news precludes the employment of all but the best-equipped journalists—men most sincerely careful of the exact truth—many of the published Quentinian incidents were happenings beyond the ken of the Gang.

One comment, however, made twenty years after Q's exploits in and about Washington, is certainly worth consideration. A well-known newspaper correspondent, very wise in the ways of the world, very keen, and as direct and impersonal as a surgeon, in his diagnosis of personalities, said, "Just one re-

DAVIDSON HAS FAITH PUPILS DON'T DRINK

Pittsburgh Schools Are Free Of Liquor, Superintendent Believes; Backs Morals

No official statistics were available as to the status of liquor drinking by high school seniors here when the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education compiled its survey on the question, Dr. William M. Davidson, superintendent of schools, said in an interview yesterday.

The board, through its directors of research, announced that a survey showed 78.7 per cent high school seniors in Pittsburgh and other cities throughout the United States claimed they did not touch liquor and 21.3 per cent said they imbibed on occasions.

Although nothing official, as far as the Board of Education representative is concerned, at least, has been made of the scholastic indulgence in alcoholics, Dr. Davidson has "implicit faith in the morals of Pittsburgh students."

"People talk a lot about the morals of high school boys and girls being not what they were years ago. This is pure canard," he assured.

"Despite any ideas to the contrary, morals are better now than at any time during the past 50 years."

Mining Advisory Board to Meet

More than 25 persons were expected to attend the spring meeting of the Mining Advisory Board in Carnegie Inn, Carnegie Tech, at 6:30 o'clock this evening, Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Tech, was to preside. Research work of the board is conducted jointly by Carnegie Tech and the Bureau of Mines. Talks and reports are to be given by members, most of whom are connected with coal firms or with the two institutions handling the research. An informal dinner was to precede the meeting.

Car Strikes Mount, Horseman Injured

Knocked to the ground when the horse he was riding in the Stoops Ferry road, near Sewickley bridge, was struck by an automobile, Eugene Coukart of 432 Centennial avenue, Sewickley, today was in the Valley Hospital suffering from leg injuries and body bruises. Charles Walter, of 800 Montour street, Coraopolis, alleged driver of the car, was arrested by Coraopolis Heights police, but released later under his own recognizance.

Iron Worker Dies In 90-Ft. Plunge Off Bridge

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., March 25.—(AP.)—Plunging 90 feet from the iron super-structure of the new Rochester-Monaca Bridge yesterday, R. A. Mitchell, of Raleigh, N. C., was drowned in the Ohio River. He was an employe of the American Bridge Company, which is building the span.

Although stunned as he struck the water, Mitchell made a futile attempt to swim to shore. His widow and four children reside at Raleigh.

FEUD SLAYING DETAILS BARED

Details of a fatal battle in a basement which culminated in the shooting to death of John J. Fitzgerald, 68-year-old industrial policeman, by his stepson, Vincent Sweeney, 27, in their home at 68 Edgewood avenue, were being revealed before Visiting Judge Frank E. Reader and a jury in Criminal Court today. Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk, for the state, and Attorney Edward G. Coll, for the defendant, took up most of yesterday selecting the jury.

A feud of long standing between Sweeney and his stepfather is said to have burst out with renewed enmity two days after Christmas, while Sweeney was firing the furnace in the cellar. Fitzgerald, police say, went down and demanded that Sweeney and his wife, who lived on the second floor of the house, move out. Sweeney admitted the shooting, police say, but told them that Fitzgerald had first fired at him. Sweeney then wrested the other's gun from his hand and shot him through the neck and shoulder.

Mrs. Penchie Sweeney, sister-in-law of the defendant, today took the stand and testified she heard the argument, the one shot believed to have been Fitzgerald's, and the two that followed after a brief pause. Jerry Deasy and William Scott, city detectives, testified they believed Sweeney shot his step-father after the older man fired at him.

EXPECT JUDGES AT BANQUET

Many prominent jurists will be among the 400 persons present at the annual banquet of the Washington and Jefferson Alumni to be held Friday night in the William Penn Hotel. W. W. Murray is chairman of the banquet committee. Among those expected to attend will be Judge W. H. S. Thomson of Federal Court, Judge R. M. Gibson of Federal Court, Judges Joseph M. Swearingen, H. H. Rowand, and Elder W. Marshall of Common Pleas Court; Judge S. J. Snee of County Court; Judges J. J. Bronson and Howard Hughes, of Washington County; Judge W. T. Dom, of Westmoreland County; Judge J. FOUR YOUTHS ACCUSED IN LOOTING

Victim Injured as Owner of Burned Bakery Shoots At Sight of Intruders

An alleged attempted robbery of the fire-swept Star Bakery, at 2400 Josephine street, sent a 15-year-old boy to the South Side Hospital with a bullet wound in his back and three other boys and the proprietor of the bake shop to the South Side Police Station early today.

The wounded boy, Walter Lenkowski, of 2615 Barry street, and John Karzmarck, 16, of 2502 Josephine street, were surprised in the bakery by Frank Pietszynski, 45, of 2126 Carson street, owner of the shop, police reported.

OTHERS ARRESTED

He fired three shots at the boys as they attempted to escape through a rear door, it was reported. A bullet struck young Lenkowski in the back.

Capt. Dennis Hennessy arrested Pietszynski, and the Karzmarck boy on suspicious person charges. Both boys admitted, according to police, that they were about to loot the place when Pietszynski discovered them.

Police went to the Karzmarck home where they arrested John's brother, Frank, 18, after finding several bags of sugar which had been reported stolen from the bakery earlier in the evening by Frank and Sorce Funk, 18, of 29 Eleanor street, who was arrested in his home following the shooting.

In Morals Court Magistrate Thomas Jones ordered Pietszynski to be held to await the result of the wounded boy's injuries. Leo Karzmerek, 16, of Josephine street, was discharged. The other boys were held for court on charges growing out of the alleged looting.

SHOP SWEPT BY FIRE

The interior of the bake shop was damaged by fire Saturday night and the doors of the place had been boarded up. The boards had been broken, police said, and the place ransacked.

The condition of Lenkowski was undetermined. X-ray pictures will be taken of the victim's back to determine the course of the bullet.

Ice Plant Builder To Address Banquet

Capt. Thomas M. Rees, builder of the first artificial ice plant west of the Alleghenies, will be the principal speaker tonight at the thirty-second annual party of the Consolidated Ice Company, in Hotel Schenley. Two hundred officers, directors and employes will attend. Frank L. Duggan will be toastmaster. Beside Capt. Rees, other speakers will be Director Edward G. Lang, of the Public Works Department, and Thomas A. Dunn.

New Light 'Halts' Whirling Propeller of Airplane

As a group of spectators at Bettis Field last night watched a whirling propeller of an airplane invisible because of its speed suddenly appeared to stop as a Westinghouse engineer directed the beam of light against it.

The effect of the light was such that small fingerprints, scratches and the type on a small label on the propeller blade were clearly visible while the propeller was moving at 1,000 revolutions a minute. The light with which the effect was obtained is called the stroboglow by its inventors and developers, D. D. Knowles, L. R. Peters and W. E. Bahles of the Westinghouse laboratories. In simple terms it differs from any light only in that it flickers at the same speed at which the propeller or other moving object being observed moves. The result is apparent arrest of motion.

By the use of stroboglow behavior of speeding gears, whirling wheels and fast-moving belts can be examined by engineers under actual working conditions.

35 'Drunks' Given Jail As Safety Measure

Thirty-five common drunks lined up before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today were committed to jail to serve five days each as a sequel to the tragic death yesterday of "Louis, the Pearl Diver."

Addressing the prisoners before him, Rothenberg told the story:

"Louis, who had been drinking too much, stood yesterday just where you fellows are and he faced the same charge. He talked himself out of jail by promising to sober up and go back to his trade of dishwashing. I let him go, but instead of going back to work he went after more mooney and was run down and killed by a street car at Second avenue and Try street. If I had sent him to jail he would be alive today.

"Now I'm not going to be morally responsible for the safety of you fellows and everyone of you must go to jail and stay there until you know what it's all about. Five dollars or five days each."

The police patrol made two trips in taking the 35 prisoners to jail.

GRUNDY'S tariff bill is all set. Nobody in either House of Congress is satisfied with it, that's why it passed, for each one will figure, "well it will do him more harm than it will me." Everybody gets a raise but the few people that don't manufacture anything.

"How many people is there in the U. S. that don't manufacture anything?"

"Oh, roughly I should say about 112 million."

"Who pays for the raise that the manufacturers receive under this bill?"

"The same people who sent the men there that passed the bill."

"Well what's the answer to it all?"

"Brother, there is no answer. It's been going on like this for 150 years. If you take it serious you are cuckoo."

WOMAN AND YOUTH ARE RESCUED FROM FLAMES

WIFE CARRIED TO SAFETY BY HUSBAND

Victim, Overcome, Thrown From Window When Blaze Destroys Clairton Home

An unconscious youth was thrown from a window and an aged woman was carried from one porch roof to another by her husband in spectacular rescues in a fire which destroyed the home of George Andrews, of 725 Waddell avenue, Clairton, early today. Loss was estimated at $5,500 by Fire Chief Fred Batchelor.

Joseph Kalsevich, of 743 Waddell avenue, captain and star center of last season's Clairton High School football team, and Alexander Mindo, 19, of 726 Waddell avenue, reached the unconscious form of Hartley Andrews, 19, in the kitchen of the burning home. With flames eating their way all around them, they were compelled to throw him through a kitchen window. Young Andrews had been overcome by smoke and had fallen downstairs, an investigation proved.

CRASH AROUSES FATHER

George Andrews, 60, was awakened when a chandelier in the parlor fell to the floor. He aroused his wife, also 60, who is deaf, and his two sons, one of whom escaped from the burning home by jumping from a second-story window.

Andrews carried his wife through a second-story window to the roof of the porch and with her in his arms sprang to the porch roof of the adjoining house, from which the couple was assisted to safety.

Mrs. Archie Summerville, 729 Waddell avenue, aided her two daughters, Dorothy, 17, and Marjorie, 19, from their room where they were overcome by smoke while taking articles from a drawer.

Hartley Andrews was given first aid treatment by Dr. G. A. Calhoun, of Clairton, who ordered him sent to the McKeesport Hospital. He suffered burns of the body, face and arms and bruises and lacerations, according to hospital authorities.

Mrs. Andrews today was at the home of neighbors, where she was suffering from shock.

TWO ALARMS SOUNDED

Mindo and Kalsevich entered the burning home before the arrival of firemen, making their way from the front entrance to the kitchen in order to rescue Hartley Andrews.

Two alarms of fire were sounded, the second by Chief Batchelor, summoning every available fireman in Clairton. A dog and two canaries, household pets, perished in the fire.

THIRD DURANT DIVORCE HINTED

NEWARK, N. J., March 25.—(AP.)—W. Howard Demarest, who said he acted as counsel to Mrs. Margery Durant Cooper, daughter of William C. Durant, automobile manufacturer, obtained certified copies of her wedding license and certificate at city hall. Mrs. Cooper was married April 19, last, to John H. Cooper, of Palm Beach and New York.

Demarest said he was unable to "give definite information as to a possible separation or divorce."

Mrs. Cooper's marriage April 19 was her third. Divorces ended her marriages to Dr. E. R. Campbell, her first husband, and Robert W. Daniel, a banker, her second.

Thugs Steal Negro's Lottery Winnings

John Mason, 24, a Negro, of 5740 Pierce street, was in Pittsburgh Hospital today with a stab wound in the right side inflicted by two Negroes who robbed him of $20 at Hamilton avenue and Flavel street, last night, according to the victim's story to police. Police said Mason told them the loot comprised his winnings on the clearing house lottery.

CROWDS SEEK USED CARS

Time's tested theory that the public remains bargain conscious was evidenced again when hundreds of motorists, including many from the ranks of the fair sex, crowded the doors of C. A. Rehtmeyer & Co., Center and Negley avenues, Oakland-Pontiac dealers, for used car bargain day.

Prizes were offered—free cars to the first three who entered the portals of the establishment—and the resulting scene looked like bargain day in a department store basement. After the smoke of "battle" faded away, three persons, including a woman, received gift machines. Others, less fortunate, bought cars for the modest sum of $10 up. The free list customers were Miss Violet Adams, of Philadelphia street, Indiana, Pa.; Roy Cook, 502 Meyran avenue, and Francis Thornley, of 2018 Mountford street.

To insure her promptness of being first in line, Miss Adams stayed all night outside the used car buildings. With her was Mrs. Florence Boyer, also of Indiana.

SUPREME COURT HEARS PLEA ON CITIZENSHIP

Urged to Grant Papers to Geneva Official Despite Religious Qualification

The appeal of Robert Clarke, assistant to the president of Geneva College, from the denial of naturalization by the United States because he qualified his oath of allegiance to support the Constitution and laws to the extent they were "in accord with the moral law of Jesus Christ," was argued before the Pennsylvania Supreme Court here yesterday.

"An applicant for naturalization is under a political as well as religious obligation to God and Jesus Christ, and Clarke, with many others, believe that Jesus Christ is actually God, as one of the Trinity, and in a very real and definite sense is the Divine Ruler of the world and the political states in which society is organized," Attorney George A. Baldwin, representing Clarke, argued.

This political-religious loyalty does not conflict with the prescribed oath of allegiance, Baldwin asserted.

Raymond D. Evans, assistant United States attorney, argued that admitting such a qualification would set a dangerous precedent and declared there is no authority to administer an oath other than that prescribed.

The right of Teresa Caruso to receive compensation from the state for the death of her husband, Nicola Caruso fatally burned in fighting a forest fire, was argued. Caruso was in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad April 19, 1928, and was instructed by a section foreman, who was instructed by an assistant superintendent, to help extinguish a fire along the right of way at Cedar Point, Indiana County, it was stated. The state contended it was not liable to compensation as Caruso received no instructions from fire wardens and was not in the employ of the state.

AIR MAIL PORT LIKELY HERE

Possibility that Pittsburgh may be made an air mail port loomed today with the announcement that Col. Paul Henderson, vice president of the Transcontinental Air Transport, National Air Transport and Eastern Air Transport had indorsed the plan of Postmaster General Walter F. Brown for the letting of air mail contracts on a space rather than a weight basis. It was the first indication that the T. A. T. is interested in air mail transportation.

Should the Transcontinental Air Transport go in for mail transportation, it is virtually certain that the route would follow the Pennsylvania Railroad through from East to West, making Pittsburgh a direct air mail port.

ONLY $4.93 DUE ON WINNING APPEAL

Details of Circuit Court's Decision Show Bankrupt's Creditors Share Big Sum

The government's claim of $247,354.42 against the estate of John A. Bell, bankrupt banker and former coal operator, assessed by the commissioner of Internal revenue for income taxes, with interest, for the years of 1923 and 1924, has been reduced to $4.93, according to Attorney George D. Wick, counsel for James N. Jarvis, trustee for the estate.

This good news to creditors of Bell was announced by Mr. Wick after receiving a copy of an opinion handed down Saturday by the United States Circuit Court, to which the trustee appealed when the entire government claim was upheld in the district court.

1923 CLAIM VOID

The Circuit Court reversed the District Court by eliminating the government's claim of $190,699.39 for 1924, which was wiped out by reason of allowance of a $581,000 loss by Bell in the O. A. Kraaer Company, Tulsa, Okla. The higher court sustained the district court on the assessed tax of $56,655.03 on the alleged debt of $82,460.35 of W. A. Magee to Bell in 1923, but, according to Mr. Wick, this is almost entirely offset by other losses, as shown in Bell income return for that year. The suit was brought by Collector of Internal Revenue D. B. Heiner in 1926.

TAX REDUCED

Mr. Wick issued a statement in which he said:

"As to the year 1923, the Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the United States District Court on the deduction of $200,000 claimed by John A. Bell on a loss of the Lauraine Magneto Company's stock and sustained the District Court on a deduction of $82,460.35 claimed as a bad debt of William A. Magee. The income tax return of John A. Bell, bankrupt, for the year 1923 showed, as filed, a loss of $75,967.53. The decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals restored this item of $82,460.35, deducted as an improper bad debt, and has the effect of charging this sum against the loss showed by the John A. Bell tax return of $75,967.53, which leaves a taxable net income of $6,492.82, the tax upon which, in the year 1923, amounts to only $4.93, therefore, the total government's claim of $247,354.42 has been reduced to $4.93."

TRAFFIC HERE KILLS MAN, CHILD

Three Injured as Auto Skids on Car Tracks Into Pole; Two in Hospital

A man and a boy were dead today, victims of traffic accidents in the Pittsburgh district.

Louis Golden, 65, known as "Louie the Waiter" and "Louie the Flower Man," was killed when struck by a street car at Second avenue and Try street.

His skull fractured when he was struck by an automobile near his home, Robert F. Wagner, also known as Billy Elder, 4, of Neville Island, was taken to the Valley Hospital, Sewickley, where he died several hours later, the coroner's office reported.

Three men early today were injured, two seriously, when their automobile skidded as the driver sought to get it from the street car tracks in the 1200 block of Federal street and crashed into a pole.

They were J. W. Jones, 33, of Wheeling, owner and alleged driver; Howard Langfit, 21, of 961 Kirkbride street, and Charles McGinney, 20, of 1400 Arch street.

Jones and Langfit were taken to Presbyterian Hospital, where it was said Jones was in a critical condition, with a possible fracture of the skull and internal injuries. McGinney was taken to Allegheny General Hospital, where it was said he suffered a possible fracture of the skull. Langfit was cut and bruised.

The car, which was going north, struck the pole with such force it tore off a mail box and bent around the pole. The injured men were thrown clear of the wreckage.

AUTO AND BOY TAKEN, 2 HELD

Two men, said by police to have stolen an automobile from Turtle Creek and to have taken a 13-year-old brother of the owner with them, were being held by Turtle Creek police today pending a hearing tonight before Justice of the Peace Ralph T. Seneff. The men said they were Barney Swearinger, 32, of Pittsburgh, and Paul Polsnack, 32, of North Braddocks, according to police.

The car, police said, was owned of Robert Logan, of Monroeville, and was taken while it was parked in Sycamore street. The men compelled Hilliard Logan, who had been left in the machine by his brother, to accompany them, police said, and put the boy out of the machine in East Liberty early today.

Swearinger and Polsnack were arrested a short time later by Patrolman Joseph Kucel, of the East End station. They were returned to Turtle Creek by Constable R. L. Brown.

BUREAU TO BALK FIRES URGED

The personnel of the new bureau has been provided in the budget. The new bureau has the support of the underwriters here, and would have considerable power in case of fires.

The new bureau would have power to inspect buildings, order the removal of inflammable materials, insist upon the installation of portable fire fighting apparatus, the installation of sprinklers, the construction of proper hallways and exits, and the right to investigate the cause of all fires.

Four times a year, according to the ordinance, all structures containing inflammable materials must be inspected while all closely-built areas must be inspected at least twice a year. A $25 fine or 30 days' imprisonment is the penalty for a failure to obey the new ordinance.

Grotto Will Hold Spring Ceremonial

Islam Grotto is to hold its annual spring ceremonial in the Davis Theater Monday evening. Delegations are to attend from Morgantown and Steubenville. Dubor Grotto, Morgantown, is expected to bring 100 candidates to Pittsburgh to be initiated in joint ceremonial with Islam Grotto. This move is said to be in reciprocation for Islam Grotto's trip to Morgantown for the ceremonial last year. J. Clifford Franz, master of ceremonies at Islam Grotto, is in charge of the program.

SACRED HEART TO STAGE PLAY

"Barter," a religious drama by Urban Nagle, will be presented by the Sacred Heart Dramatic Club, at the Catholic Boys' High School auditorium, Fifth avenue near Craig street, March 31 and April 1. The production is under the direction of the Rev. E. Lawrence O'Connell, and proceeds for the benefit of the De Paul Institute of Brookline. Miss Elizabeth Schroeder, department of drama, Carnegie Technical Institute, is the designer of the costumes.

Mr. Nagle, the author, a member of the Dominican Order, Washington, D. C., will be present at both performances. The play was a prize winner in the national contest for religious plays conducted by the Drama League of America.

Exposition Building Rental Provided

Part of the old Exposition buildings is to be rented to the Ready Mixed Concrete Company at $505 a month, according to an ordinance that Council plans to discuss today or tomorrow. The company wants the building for five years for a total rental of $30,300.

The Department of Public Works also asked for two "pushers" with tractor operators to get 75 cents an hour. The "pushers," or "bulldozers," are part of the new machinery equipment that aided in causing the dismissal of about 300 employes of the Bureau of Highways and Sewers.

PENN BUS LINES HEARING HELD

The Public Service Commission today conducted a hearing on the application of Penn Bus Lines, Inc., to take over the operating certificates of the Perence Brothers, operating between Donora Monessen, and the Cantoni Brothers, operating between Monessen and Canonsburg.

The incorporation, Examiner W. E. Best was told, wants to give residents of the Monongahela River valley through service to the points in question.

As it is now, businessmen and residents testified, several transfers are necessary to go from Washington to Greensburg, or from Steubenville, O., to Monessen. The commission's decision will be announced later.

4 Youths in Auto Arrested for Theft

Four youths who were driving an automobile that did not belong to any of them, stopped the wrong man to ask the way to Washington, Pa., early today when they flagged County Detective Frank Ritz near Carnegie. Ritz questioned them and learned that the automobile had been stolen from John Tyler, 1225 Wylie avenue. They will be arraigned tonight before Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillen, of Carnegie.

Rob Jewelry Store, Leave Rare Gems

Thieves entered the jewelry store of John Seigel, 1608 Carson street, last night, through a front transom, took jewelry valued at $66.50, but made no attempt to open a safe which contained valuable gems, according to a police report.

Urge Grave Removal To Clear Street Site

Petition to remove a number of bodies from graves in the Mt. Pisgah Presbyterian Church Cemetery in Greentree borough to allow a 40-foot street to be laid through the old burying ground, is before Judge Harry H. Rowand in Quarter Sessions Court. The petition is signed by officials of Greentree and trustees of the church.

The proposed street would connect McKenna avenue with the city line and the bodies would be moved to another part of the cemetery at the borough's expense. The older part of the graveyard was established in 1830 and a new tract added in 1915. The street would take part of both plots.

DeValera, Irish statesman, during his visit to Pittsburgh. He is in America to raise funds for the establishment of a national Irish newspaper which he is planning.

DE VALERA ASKS AID HERE

Ireland's lack of a daily newspaper supporting the Republican party is retarding the nation's progress in industry, which in turn causes the youth to emigrate to United States and other countries, Eamon de Valera charged here today.

The political leader and chancellor of the National University of Ireland speaks tonight at a mass meeting in the Memorial Hall in interest of launching a daily Irish newspaper. Pittsburgh is included on a tour of cities wherein additional capital is being sought. Explaining the project, De Valera said:

"It is the intention to publish a newspaper of unbiased and uncolored news. The editorial column will represent the voice of the party, which already has 57 representatives to 61 of the opposition in Ireland. One of our chief objects will be to encourage industries that will cut down the importations that can be readily produced in Ireland."

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Patronesses For Play Named

TODAY and tomorrow are going to be the most eventful days of the week, I do believe, ushering the week-end, always a favorite time for weddings, dinners and dances.

First of all, tonight the Stage and Play Society will give another performance in Carnegie Music Hall, when the cast will present Ellis Will Out, by Claire Kummer. This winter have you noticed what an exceptionally small audience these amateur performances attract.

And [illegible] events [illegible] Currier Lewis, daughter of Mrs. James Lewis, [illegible] Armour, [illegible] Tenn., [illegible] Mench, at [illegible] take place [illegible] 5:30 o'clock.

SOME time ago I mentioned that the postponed February morning musicale would be given on April 2 at 11 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Taylor Allderdice.

Music Plans

The music for the meeting is planned by Mrs. William Knox and Mrs. F. W. Edmundson. A string quartet including Mary Redmond, first violin; Della Herring, second violin; Mrs. Nina Weldin, viola, and Miss Jean Wessner, cello, will play. Bach, Rodin's "Nocturne" and Schubert's "Death and the Maiden." Margaret Husband, soprano, and Alberta Irvine will sing groups of songs, and a duet from Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro." At the piano will be Matthew Frey.

STYLISTS PRESENT LATEST MODE IN STRIKING PLAIDS

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, March 25. The gathering of the clans is a constant event in the satorial world, for nearly every season costumes appear with a dash of Scotch in their make-up. The plaids of the various Scottish clans, particularly those showing touches of red and green, are always liked, especially in fine tweeds. We have also seen lately some good-looking models of plaided taffeta that should be delightful on a charming and youthful admirer. All others will find that tartan is a a tartar for adding age and bulk to the figure.

THE tailored frock manages to maintain its place despite the feminity of the mode, by tempering its severity with dainty—but not too dainty—touches. Lingerie and pique are used with pleasing results and intricate detail is deftly blended into the silhouette to create a frock that looks much more simple than it really is. Capes, boleros, bolero bodices and flounces are used in masterly fashion in the tailoring of such frocks that are so much liked by both young and mature women of the more active type.

AT MANY restaurants here fashion is as much the attraction as food, which is often neglected while a very original or striking model is studied and admired. While lunching at Philippe's the other day we together with many other guests were entranced by a delightful and amusing scarf and bag ensemble, which was vivid enough to permit sketching from memory.

* * *

THE SET was of red, white, blue and gray woolen fabrics in a Scotch plaid design. The top, the piping and the fastening of the bag were all of navy blue leather. Unfortunately we were not permitted a peep into the inside of the bag, to see if it was fitted but in any case it seemed quite large enough to serve for a week-end trip. These two accessories completed a navy blue sport ensemble of heavy jersey.

Prohibition Observance Meet Held

AS long as the Constitution is good for defense, it ought to be good for obedience, Mrs. Edward Franklin White said at the district law observance luncheon held yesterday in the Congress of Clubs by the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women.

The meeting, one of several in the state, was held as a reply to an invitation from the Association Opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment asking the clubwomen to join forces with it. Mrs. White, who formed the law observance committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and was its first chairman, was the speaker. Her talk was largely a recapitulation of the reasons, moral, economic and physical, for prohibition and its enforcement and of its record for the last 10 years.

NO REGULATORY laws have ever been enforced and if the liquor dealers had been willing to obey the law they never would have precipitated prohibition, she said, adding that no amendment to the Constitution had ever been adopted without violent opposition. Legislators vote dry when they drink wet, because they are voting the sentiment of their constituents, she observed.

Liquor Dealers

Miss Gertrude MacKinney, head of the State Federation law observance committee, stressed the necessity of knowing the attitude of every candidate on enforcement before election and she warned against the ease with which issues are beclouded. It is every club woman's duty, she stated, not only to vote and to be intelligent, but to be a medium of information on political questions. She urged her hearers to be alive to the importance of the coming election.

Mrs. Sidney Kaufmann arranged the luncheon, acting for Mrs. H. M. Kirk of New Castle, district law observance chairman.

AN attractive program has been arranged for the annual luncheon of the Crafton Heights Woman's Club which will be held Thursday at the Fort Pitt Hotel. Dr. H. Clay Skinner, head of the psychological department at the Pennsylvania College for Women, will speak on "Mental Hygiene," and Mrs. C. C. Taylor, chairman of the work for the blind in the State Federation, will also make a brief address. A quartet from the club choral, directed by Mrs. McKinzie Dobson, will furnish several numbers and Charles Hemma, baritone, will offer a group of solos. Completing the program will be a short sketch entitled, "The Rehearsal," which members of the club will present.

IN his lecture before the Twentieth Century Club yesterday morning, Dr. Andrey Avinoff of Carnegie Museum showed that art has always taken nature as its model and that nature is the supreme stylist. Dr. Avinoff illustrated his talk with beautiful and extremely interesting slides of snowflakes, ice crystals, dewdrops on spiderwebs, weeds and many other subjects, all of which showed the variety of nature's designs and their adaptability to art.

THE FIRST TIME YOU TASTE PEBECO

You'll be aware of a different feeling—you'll know this toothpaste is working. Not the sweet, meaningless flavor of most dentifrices. But a sharp, refreshing tang . . . distinctive, active! Perhaps at first you may not like it—but it definitely assures you that it is doing its job. In a week you will be grateful. While cleaning and whitening the teeth, Pebeco actually counteracts the mouth acids which cause decay. Isn't this extra result alone worth your week's trial? NOW

Half Size Dresses

In a Special Sale for Extra Large and Small Women

$15.75

The only difference between these dresses and the ones you wanted to wear, and couldn't, is the size. The styles are the same as those worn by the very few "Perfect Thirty-Sixes." These Half-Size dresses actually fit 75% of all who try them on. Even those who consider themselves "average sizes" find these dresses fit them beautifully and look extremely smart.

Prints Chiffons
Plain Crepes Georgettes

Alterations Unnecessary

The manufacturers from whose lines these dresses were chosen, specialize on models for women who are below 5 feet 4 inches, or taller than 5 feet 7 inches; and women who are larger than average. They make dresses that FIT.

The hemlines and waistlines are placed just right for the smaller or taller woman. The hips and arms are wider, the shoulders are correctly proportioned for larger women. Altering in many cases is unnecessary.

Dresses Will be Modeled Daily Wednesday—Thursday—Friday

Living models will show how smartly these dresses can be worn. They will be in the department from 9 to 5:30 daily. These models will consult with you about your particular clothes problems.

Sizes 16½ to 52½ Included

The range of sizes above will show how extensive the group is. You will find a dress you want at $15.75

CHICKIE

CHAPTER XLIII

AT 2 o'clock Barry Dunne stood at his window. And Chickie knew that he was there. She went on with her typing. From the corner of her eye she saw him lean out, resting on his hands. She got up and moved into the shadow, opening the drawers of the filing cabinet. She didn't wish to look at him.

Yet his gray eyes moved before her smiling. His hand clasped hers. She felt him bending down to her, holding her spirit in. Tears ran scalding to her throat; turn his thumbs down to her—and afterward—

She glanced swiftly to Janina's desk and, sure that she was unnoticed, stole to the dressing room. She pressed her face against the cold marble of the walls, pressed her hands against her, and she would cling to him, would whisper warmly.

She saw him stepping into the machine, Ila Moore radiant as she greeted him. She grew chill with a sick, deadly fear.

No use to think. She couldn't think. She could only feel, and now even her emotions were passing into a cruel numbness.

Then she felt him coming to her, putting his arms about her, and she would cling to him, would whisper warmly.

She sat on the window sill, closing her eyes. No! She wouldn't do that! Oh, no! Why—why, if he preferred lunch with Ila, oh let him!

She looked down to the roof of the adjoining building, wondering aimlessly how far it was. Her whole body trembled.

That dream of herself standing on a gray, wind-blown shore returned. She worked all afternoon with this feeling of empty desolation closing on her.

But at 5 o'clock she turned her back on the alley, hurrying out with Stella Wilson, choosing a side street because he would not look for her there.

Barry Brings Book

He could go. She said this to herself in a bleak litany all the way home on the subway. By the time she reached her door she had so terrified herself that he might, indeed, do this thing, she was spent and a little frantic.

She had an idea that she would go down to Mary's, go to a movie, take a walk. But she waited in the living room, starting nervously when Jennie asked mildly what had happened during the day, bounding from her chair when a machine honked at the corner.

When, finally, he was at the door, red hair brushed back, eyes shiny with a boy's eagerness, she was unable to meet his look, unable to speak. She leaned against the wall, letting her hand rest nerveless in his.

But he said, unaware: "Melancholic tonight? Why for? Ran off and left me! Waited for you. Here, more presents. Ain't I good to you?"

He thrust the package in her hand—another book. She glanced at the title. "Thus Spake Zarathustra." Oh—Nietzsche—Ila had a grand passion for him. With a shrill apprehension she wondered, "Is he comparing me to her? A brilliant person like that!"

She said feebly: "You bring me philosophers, Mr. Red? And I a poor, untutored ijiot!"

"I'd like to bet that you'll get more out of it than these pedantic dames."

She laughed merrily: "Meaning Ila?"

"Meaning any one you please but a sweet, untutored ijiot!"

Chickie Glad Again

"Something blessed happen?"

"May hap! On your way."

Like that, gayety returned, rushed in silver waters over her. Pooh! Pedantic dames! But they, the two of them—ways buoyant, full of rhythm then.

They went to the St. Francis. Stepping into the lights, the glow of music and color, Chickie felt, as always, an intensified brightness in her mind, a sharpening along her nerves. As though a great, golden ball of joy opened like a sun and she was caught into the midst of it. More stimulating than wine. Snatches of song hummed to her lips.

Other girls dancing, gazing with half-closed eyes at their partners, swaying with a seeming, innocent abandon in the slow, throbbing measures, fascinated her. She compared her dress now to that clingy Persian thing, now to the striking black. All of them—herself included—were creatures of another world, endowed for this one night with a brilliant, mysterious charm.

She watched them, wondering if she looked graceless on the floor; if her face took on a vacant, guileless stare like that slim brown girl with her cheek so serenely against her partner's.

Barry tapped the table. "Here, frail, am I to be ignored all evening as I was all afternoon? Come through now, why did you give me the back of your hand, the back of your head all afternoon?"

"Busy, sir. Very busy."

"And she's not interested enough to ask where I was at lunch?"

"Does he wish to tell me?"

"He do. It may be his future and hers at stake." He told her that Tufts had made an appointment with Moore because Moore might soon be returning to New Orleans and he wished to get everything straightened out before then. He made no mention of Ila.

Chickie asked her voice trailing: "Just the three of you went to lunch?"

Barry Explains

"Well, you miserable little piker! So that's it? And I'm treated with scorn all afternoon. I'm left waiting at the church when 5 o'clock rolls around. Proud isn't she? Oh, she won't ask any questions? She'll pass judgment. Like that! So you saw us, did you?"

It hurt to be trapped so. Blood flew in a painted red to her face, her eyes brimmed. "Yes, I saw you."

"Mean, contemptible way to pass it up! You think that's fair and noble, I suppose. It's not! She merely happened to be at her father's office and he was driving her to the Palace. He dropped her there. You believe me, don't you?"

She kept her head lowered, smiling. "Of course, I do! But then—you're thumbs down on me—oh, you can see—"

"Yes, frail! And perhaps you can understand how I felt on a similar occasion, only yours was calculated. You went with him on purpose."

Finally she managed to say, "Did you get anything settled?"

"Not so much. These selfish hogs don't seem to realize that two young and beautiful are hanging by their teeth waiting while they decide whether or not they may have each other. Sardonic, isn't it? Our rights should depend on their pleasures! Any time in the next 55 years is soon enough for them."

"And for you, Barry?"

Honeymoon

"It will suit me better if they make it in 20. That'll give us a year or two ahead of the grave. What if we're limping a little—as it may be."

"Twenty is too long for me."

"You won't wait for me that long, Chickie?"

"Well, I might, but my trousseau wouldn't. It would be all out of date. That would never do."

"And our feeling might be all out of date, too. That's the thing I'd be afraid of—gambling on the future—giving a promise that we'll feel as we do now a score of years hence. That's a great insolence."

"Barry, no." She suddenly chilled and frightened. "Won't you be faithful—years and a day?"

He answered huskily: "Yes—look up—as long as I can see your eyes! But we'll not wait years and a day. We only have 'now.' We can only live 'now.'"

"Do you mean, then, that as soon as it's settled?"

He laughed, binding his arm about her. "What say, frail, if we go away on our vacation together? Have our honeymoon then?"

"In those few months from now? That soon?"

"Or sooner, as you will!"

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, March 26

THE sidereal operations for this day presage some small complications, anxieties and delays, but as a general thing affairs are lively and hold a measure of advancement. Literary and business matters should find high stimulus.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a lively and progressive year despite small anxieties, delays and complications.

Improves Flavor

Give them the air is they're canned. That is, speaking of vegetables and fruits, of course. When planning the menu for the next meal and realizing that it will include a can of fruit or some vegetable, open the tin and pour the contents into a bowl. You will find that there will be a more delicious flavor in the food when it is served.

Fay Dreams of Art and Authorship—Maybe It's Spring Fever

By FAY KING

I SOMETIMES get letters from readers telling me that they are not satisfied with the work they are doing and wish to do something else.

That is not at all an unusual state of affairs. In fact, I do not know of anyone, including myself, who is satisfied with the work he is doing. We all want to do something bigger and better.

And the unfortunate thing is that we are rarely as qualified for the thing we wish to do as that which we are doing.

Yet if we only pursue it as a hobby in our leisure moment it will give us pleasure.

My color work is atrocious. I have dabbled in clay, and plots, leaving them reluctantly to do my daily stunt.

Madge and Lillian Ponder a Bit on Leslie's Reason

I DID not need Lillian's quick, reproachful glance or her admonitory lifted finger to realize the enormity of my sharpened tone sounding against the modulated murmurs in which we had carried on our conversation since Noel's injury. I turned toward the door of the room where Noel lay, with Mary keeping vigil over him, and saw that the boy was stirring restlessly, and that Mary was bending anxiously over him.

"There, there!" she was crooning, as if she were speaking to a sick child, and Noel speedily became quiet again. I fairly held my breath until I was sure that my thoughtlessness had done no real mischief, and then turned back to Lillian contritely.

"As I told you awhile ago," Lillian resumed, "Hugh not only put the fear of God, man and the devil into Jack Leslie when he shipped him east of the Suez but he gave him a liberal allowance to stay there. Hugh has been out in that region himself until about three months ago. At that time, according to his last letter, he was starting for China—a summons from Lee Chow—you remember?"

With the question her eyes came back to my face—she was too tactful and shrewd to make her averted glance conspicuous—and I nodded my affirmative answer to her query in as careless a fashion as I could manage. The name at the high born Chinese who was Hugh Grantland's friend, but who had masqueraded as his servant for years in the mysterious unofficial diplomacy in which both were engaged, was one that I would never forget.

But memory and gratitude were not only feelings aroused by the mention of his name. There was distinct fear as well.

"You say his last letter?" I faltered. "Then you haven't heard from him since he started for China?"

"Yes, a coded telegram, saying he had arrived safely but would not be able to communicate with me for some time. It also said to remember Wilcox."

"Wilcox?" I repeated the name mechanically, my mind still busy with the picture of Hugh in China.

Yes, one of Hugh's most trusted agents, living in the island port to which Hugh had sent Jack Leslie. Wilcox was the man to whom Hugh turned over the guardianship of Leslie. The capering cockroach—I love that name Dicky gave Jack—was to caper over to Wilcox's office each week, receive his stipend, and report as to what he had been doing.

"Now I know," Lillian went on, "that Hugh trusted Wilcox implicitly, and that the man was empowered to handle large sums of Hugh's money. Do you think I am too melodramatic in the conjecture that Wilcox, knowing Hugh's absence was to be an extended one, might have decided to flap his wings away from there with all the dough he could lay his hands on. He could have told Jack Leslie that Hugh had decided to end his exile and could have shipped him back here with just enough money to get by on. That would explain Jack's apparent need of funds."

"Yes," I agreed, "and I think it is a plausible explanation, not melodramatic at all. But don't you think Wilcox must have been very sure Hugh would not return—ever."

"No, I don't think anything of the kind," Lillian's voice kept its muffled monotone, but her eyes were eloquent with disapproval of my fears. "And please see that you don't either. Anyway, this is all academic. We won't really know anything until Harry gets hold of Leslie and puts him through an unofficial third degree. And may I be there to help with the rack and the boiling oil. Now, milady, if you're to start at daylight, you'd better be moseying toward home. There isn't a thing you can do here, we'll take care of Noel and Mary—and attend to Leslie until you get back, and I know you must have an hour or two of work stacked up in your apartment. Come on, let's call Harry and then you beat it. I'll put Mary to bed, now that you've hypnotized her into promising to go. And—stop worrying about Hush. He has a charmed life, that hombre."

The Marry-Go-Round

Not to Be Taken Seriously

TO A BACHELOR, Spring suggests new haberdashery, romance and adventure; to a married man, merely fly screens, moth-balls, lawn-mowers and cleaning day.

Eve had as much choice in the matter of a husband as any other woman. She merely accepted what fate sent her, and then convinced herself that he was "the only man in the world!"

Somehow, when a man hears that a woman has a vivid, colorful "past," he is always inspired with an irresistible desire to brighten up her present.

Satan, himself, could probably make almost any girl love him, if he took the trouble to convince her that it was Mrs. Satan's "lack of understanding" that drove him to—where he is.

The girl of today has had all her "rights" handed to her on a silver platter, by the feminist of yesterday. That is, all except the right husband—and he is just as hard to find as ever.

Jealousy is a magnifying glass; and a jealous woman can always put two and two together—and make 24.

The first thing to do is to discover the exact geographical location of a man's vanity—whether it is in his physical prowess, his mental superiority or his sex-appeal. After that, all that remains is to wind in the reel and take him off the hook.

Apparently, the tenderest, most impressionable thing on earth is the heart of a brand-new Reno-graduate.

* * *

In the average man's opinion, the command, "Thou shalt not steal," does not apply to an umbrella, a kiss, a wisecrack, the hotel towels, or another man's girl.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Deep Breathing

HEALTH is a natural thing. Bad health is unnatural. Most diseases are brought upon us by ourselves. They are due to our lack of knowledge of nature's laws, or to lack of common sense to act in accordance with these natural laws.

DR. COPELAND

The normal healthy body wards off infection and disease. The wonderfully efficient methods by which the body protects itself are only now being discovered. We are beginning to understand the working of the complex glands of the body. There must be proper functioning of the heart, lungs and other vital organs, to protect the healing power of Nature.

Children, the vast majority of them, are born with sound health. Too many of them are allowed when young to form bad habits of one kind or another. This is a pity.

Every child should be taught deep breathing. It should receive attention in the very earliest years.

Good lung action is absolutely essential to good health. When you see a person whose body lacks symmetrical development around the chest, you may know it is due to lack of deep breathing.

Deep breathing means that your very elastic lungs are opened wide enough to take in a large volume of air, giving oxygen to the blood as you breathe. If that air is pure, then you are building up your body.

If you are on a mountain top where the air is uncontaminated, that is quite a different thing from being in the midst of crowds of people in the city. In the latter case, the air is defiled from germs, dust and dirt, and the foul air excreted from millions of persons.

The blood circulates through the lungs and around the body three times in about a minute. Each time the blood passes from the right side of the heart into the lungs it is dark purple in color. It is saturated with the waste products of the system picked up by the blood as it passes through the body. When you exhale in breathing, these waste products are expelled in air and moisture.

When you inhale, and the air is drawn into the lungs, oxygen is absorbed through the thin walls of the tiny blood-vessels of the lung structure and thence into the blood stream. Here the impure purple blood turns to pure blood of a red color, and returns to the heart from the lungs, purified for its journey around the body again. It takes with it life and vigor.

Now you can see how important it is to take deep breaths, and to form the habit when very young.

The blood stream, as it passes through the nose, mouth and throat, cannot help but pick up the myriad germs deposited there. They are carried by the blood stream to every part of the body. If you are in perfect health, the wonderful processes of Nature takes care of them in the body. They are overcome there. But if your bodily resistance is not good, then the weakest spot in the body is a good place for them to grow and set up disease.

Those who suffer from debility, lassitude, frequent colds, influenza and pneumonia should ask themselves, "To what extent do I breathe deeply?" There cannot be perfect health without proper breathing.

To have and to hold good health means vigilance on your part. You cannot leave the whole responsibility of health to Nature alone.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

In the treatment of pimples and blackheads, the proper diet is important. Fewer fats, starches and sweets. Anything that hinders digestion or disturbs the intestinal tract will make blackheads and pustules thrive. Cleaning the skin with a soft cloth dipped in benzine will prove helpful. No, we didn't say benzoin, we said benzine. Keep the dry-cleaning agent away from the fire.

For straight, sleek hair that collects oil quickly and refuses to stay curled, the permanent wave is a blessing. Operators who do the work report that in almost every case the hard-boiled process makes the hair thicker and more luxuriant.

Drink p[illegible] of water. It helps the arteries and veins in their occupation as distributors of strength and vitality to the tissues of the body. It rids the system of poisonous wastes through various organs of elimination—the skin, the kidneys and the intestines. Any beauty supplicant who would be rid of blackheads and pimples should try the water cure.

Skin has business to attend to. It sends off poisonous vapors of which the body must be free. It pours forth oil to keep the epidermis soft, smooth and pliable. It has a good deal to do with retaining the normal heat of the body. All the time it is casting off used cells and building new ones.

The White House Gang

mark—just one comeback—from Quentin, would reveal his attitude completely. . . . They speak of Lincoln as a man for the ages; if that be accepted, then Quentin Roosevelt was a boy for the ages—a boy who was a man in the beginning, a man who was a boy at the end. No finer boy-man than Quentin, has come within the province of my knowledge. . . ." So this correspondent—who knows—passes Riggs Bank, on his way to the Press Club, swinging his stick, and looking anxiously, perhaps a little disappointedly into the faces of the boys he meets. He is looking wistfully, it may be, for another Quentin. . . .

Funny Faces

Twenty years before, we strove, at various times, to impress our faces upon all Washington, from the back-facing seat of the trolley-cars going down Connecticut avenue, towards Lafayette Park and the White House. As we passed the carriages, we would proceed to make the most enigmatical mask at the occupants. Q sometimes sticking his fingers in the corners of his mouth and eyes and pulling out to right and left as though his features were rubber. When it hurt, he knew the best face had been attained.

The personal characteristics of the countenances we saw, in Washington—nearly every sixth individual being, or imagining himself to be, a personage—provided us with the best masks for imitation and mockery. One particular model with a square-cut beard was irresistible. On occasion, Q would put the back of his hand to his chin, and waggle his fingers to and fro, to imitate the breeze rippling through the hirsute adornment. This personage became outrageously angry and flushed scarlet across his forehead and exposed cheek bones; but we were yards away from him by the time he rose in his carriage, waving a walking stick. Had the street-car stopped in his vicinity, doubtless he would have struck at us.

Dignity Unhurt

Quite the opposite was it, when we passed TR, alone in his carriage; he was our friend, and we made the worst faces we knew how. He responded immediately, in kind, and as the street-car slowed down, on account of traffic on the tracks ahead, TR produced some terrifying and extraordinary grimaces, which were witnessed with the utmost amazement by passengers on the car. As the car halted, for the carriage to make a left turn ahead of it, TR leaned forward and said, loudly enough to be heard the length of the car, "Quentin Roosevelt, and you other little rascals, I think you have very nearly succeeded in making a fool of me, in public—ordinarily, a rather difficult thing to accomplish. I had the idea of asking you to hop in, and ride the rest of the way with me. On second thought, I have concluded that it is entirely too dangerous for me to be seen with you—"

At this point, the carefully preserved solemnity of Wheeler and Reader, the presidential coachman and footman, cracked into dazzling white apertures, and the carriage swept away.

As a matter of fact, TR's dignity had suffered in no way. That were not possible. About Theodore Roosevelt there was ever an unaffected naturalness, which remained splendidly unassailable, no matter what the character of the incident in which, at the moment, he was engaged.

Thinking about this episode now, I have every reason to be certain that it furnished the occupants of that street car with a privileged and tremendously refreshing sense of human closeness to TR. They had seen one as human as themselves—daring, without consideration, to be even more spontaneously human. . . . Such things are of the high degree of greatness. . . .

Boys Proud

But to the members of the Gang their pride of position was well, just pride—no more, no less. It would encompass a small boy—small wonder!—sitting formally erect in the exact center of the seat of a White House carriage, the horses fresh from the hands of the faithful Lee—who is still with Mrs. Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill. The coachman was not only a coachman, he was an emblem. He wore a red, white and blue cockade on a shining silk hat which towered above his shining black face; he drove two spanking horses with parti-colored rosettes and ribbons fluttering at their ears. And the round, blazoned seal of the United States of America was set upon the coach doors. All this made the heart beat fast!

It was amusing, also, to receive bows and familiar waves of the hand from someone of whom we had not the slightest knowledge. One could not possibly go wrong—so, doubtless, these people thought—in saluting anybody who sat behind that livery.

Such perambulating pride and honor, moreover, could easily be shared with another member of the Gang, even split into thirds and quarters, and before we crossed Pennsylvania avenue and turned in at the gates of the White House.

But since that State-War-Navy affair, and our discovery—with TR's assistance—that we did not own the earth, there was laid upon us, a spirit of restraint. While we still heartily enjoyed every bit of the pomp that circumstance brought us, it was that keen sort of pleasure which is tinged with seriousness, if not sadness. We came to understand that our position of power was a temporary thing; it would cease for all time, at the end of the administration. We should then become mere nonentities, like congressmen out of office. Truly we had no abiding or continuing place. . . .

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

An Invitations to Be Accepted

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am a young man, seventeen years of age, and I "chum" with a boy a year older than I. His parents are going to have a small wedding anniversary celebration—that is, just inviting relatives. There are no formal invitations, but I know that I am going to be invited to entertain the guests, as I play the piano quite well. I go to his home quite often and his parents are very nice to me. I have also met some of his cousins, and they have been very nice also. Do you think I should go as only his relatives will be there?

2. If I do go, should I take a gift.

READER.

SINCE you know the family so well, and since you are to be invited not only as a guest but also as you say, as an entertainer, I see no reason why you should not accept the invitation, if you wish to. Surely they need not invite you, if they do not wish to have you come. And apparently they are very fond of you and consider you as "one of the family." Also, since you have it in your power to give them pleasure, it would be a very kind thing for you to do. You're a fortunate gentleman to have such a gift, so give it to the world for its pleasure, too.

2. I suggest that you send a lovely box of flowers to the hostess, to arrive on the morning of the party.

The Bride's Slippers

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it all right for a bride to wear silver slippers with a white dress, or must white slippers be worn?

I have a pair of silver pumps with rhinestone heels and I would like to wear them if it is all right.

M. B.

THIS kind of slipper would not be good looking or appropriate with your white wedding dress, for they would call too much attention to themselves. It would be better to have white satin slippers.

ENS LIKES LOOKS OF CLUB'S RECRUITS

THAT Jewel Ens is entirely satisfied with the present Pirate situation as a whole, and decidedly optimistic in his views of the Pittsburgh club's prospects for 1930, is made clear by a letter from the skipper just received at Buccaneer headquarters. Ens doesn't go to the extreme of making boasts or predictions as to where the team is going to finish. He isn't that kind. But he is all the more convincing because he discusses things with a common-sense clearness and in a manner that indicates he has avoided snap judgment and has arrived at his conclusions only after a careful study of every point involved.

Jewel Ens

"Except for the fact that Traynor has pink-eye and that it has been necessary to bring Lloyd Waner along slowly and carefully—and I feel sure that both of those players will be right when the bell rings—we could not wish for better progress than we have made this spring," writes Jewel. "We have had less rain in San Francisco than in previous years, we have not lost any more time since the start than any other club, perhaps not so much as the majority, and there is every reason to expect that the team will be in fine shape for the start."

ENS leaves no doubt that he feels secure about the shortstop situation now that Bartell is on the job and that he is confident the new material will strengthen the club. It is evident that he has weighed the spirit and behavior of the men as well as their mechanical ability. "Suhr looks great," he comments, "and he is a boy with whom we are not going to have any trouble. He is showing plenty.

"Bartell looks fine and there is nothing to worry about at shortstop. Bool looks good to me. Aside from his mechanical work he uses good judgment behind the bat. He needs lots of work and we have been giving it to him. Stoner will help the club. He has the stuff and will work harder than ever because after his short trip back to the minors he is determined to stay up this time. We have everything else that we need. The whole club looks good, the spirit and morale are fine, and I am greatly pleased at the way things are shaping up."

THE ball player who centers his efforts on the success of his team is worth a whole lot more to a manager than one who is striving for individual records, but in Philadelphia they've made so much of Chuck Klein's home-run slugging that the player appears to be keeping that matter uppermost in his mind.

Last year, Klein boosted the National League record for home runs in a season from 42 to 43. Rogers Hornsby set the old mark while with the Cardinals in 1922. Chuck, a holdout until last week, aims to raise the total to 50 in 1930.

Chuck Klein

"IT is my intention to start swinging for home runs the day the season opens," Klein is quoted, "and I have set my mind on making at least 50 of them. That's a lot of homers, but I think I'll drive them out. Last year I did not pay much attention to my total until about three weeks before the season ended. Then I tried to get one every time I went to bat. I was the most contented player in our league when I finally tied Hornsby's mark and my happiness increased when I made the new record. Now it is my ambition to break my own record, and I am going to start swinging for the fences right off the bat. The home runs I make early this year are going to mean more to me than those I hit in the first part of the 1929 season, when making a new record had not entered my mind."

STATEMENTS published in some quarters in connection with the unconditional release of Kenneth Williams by the Yankees, to the effect that the dropped player had ranked as the oldest outfielder in the major leagues, were erroneous. That distinction is held by Cy Williams, of the Phillies, who was 41 last December 21.

Ken Williams will be only 37 June 28 next. In addition to his namesake, Cy, there are three other older outfielders still active in the big show. Next to Cy, the oldest in Sam Rice, of the Senators, who was 38 last February 20. Charley Jamieson, of the Indians, passed the 37 mark last February 7, and Eddie Roush will be 37 next May 8.

DURING a game between the Dodgers and Browns in Florida, a knowing guy, seated behind the press box, pointed to a pitcher limbering up along the side lines and said to a helpless neighbor: "See that felow warming up there? Well, he'll never get anywhere with that windup."

The fellow with the "hopeless" windup happened to be Dazzy Vance. When he learned of the judgment passed on him Vance shook his head and with a worried expression said: "He was probably a scout."

Walter H. Eckersall

THE news of the sudden death of Walter H. Eckersall in Chicago caused regret throughout the entire football world, in which he had long been one of the most prominent and popular figures, first as a player and later as an official and writer. He had many friends in Pittsburgh and officiated in a number of games for local teams. Eckersall as a player at the University of Chicago made Walter Camp's All-America team three times. He was placed at end in 1904, and at quarterback in 1905 and 1906. Hugo Bezdek, a team mate, now at Penn State, was awarded the fullback post on Camp's third team in 1906. Tad Jones, of Yale, succeeded Eckersall as all-America quarter in 1907, and in 1908 the position was awarded to Wally Steffen, also a Chicago star and present advisory coach at Carnegie Tech.

ECKERSALL was the only college player ever to achieve on two occasions the feat of kicking five field goals in a game. He did it first against Illinois on November 18, 1905, the distance ranging from 18 to 36 yards, and repeated against Nebraska on November 24, 1906, the range being from 20 to 38 yards. All of the boots were drop kicks.

E. C. Robinson, of Purdue, set the record for one game at seven field goals against Rose Poly in 1900, and B. W. Trafford and Charley Brickley, of Harvard, each kicked five in a game, but no one except Eckersall ever kicked five twice. Walter's longest field goal was one of 45 yards from drop kick against Wisconsin on October 3, 1903. Against the same opponent on November 26, 1904, he made a run of

LOCAL PINMEN ROLL HIGH SCORES

CLEVELAND, March 25.—Pennsylvania and West Virginia were outstanding in the annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress here yesterday as a result of the work of a Tarentum pair that spelled seventh place in the doubles and the clicking of a Wheeling pinster for sixth in the singles. These were the only changes of the day in the two events.

J. Buck and W. Foeks, of Tarentum, teamed it to a fine 1,279 to get among the leaders, while Jack Gramlich, of Wheeling, winner of second place in the Tri-state all-events at Pittsburgh in February, came through with a 689 to score in the singles.

LOCALS IN MONEY

While Buck and Foeks were doing such good work, another member of the Foeks' family teamed it with G. Vogel for a handsome 1,245 and big money. Not to be outdone by neighbors in classy 1,200-shooting, R. Immekus and J. Lauterbach, of Pittsburgh, handed the wood a 1,219 walloping late in the day.

Then there was another Wheeling pair that came through handsomely, this being R. Burke and E. Schoenlaub. Their mark was 1,206.

LAUTERBACH SHINES

This only represents the outstanding work of the east in yesterday's labors. There are plenty of other pairs from that way, to say nothing of individuals, who are in the line for goodly chunks of the $100,000 prize fund next month.

In turning out 1,219, Lauterbach almost single-handed pulled the pair through in the last game as he banged out a 279. The team games were 399, 359 and 461. Games of the Buck-Foeks duo were 434, 424 and 421. These proved the most consistent of any made by higher ups in the standings so far.

Yesterday's Pittsburgh district scores follow:

Nick Altrock Says:

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 25.—Folks, I listened in on the radio last night and it was quite a treat. Connie Mack gave a baseball speech and he was fine except once when Connie stopped to clear his throat and it was just as good as listening to Niagara Falls. Then De Wolfe Hopper recited "Casey at the Bat." Hopper has struck out Casey more than 11,000 times and his arm is still good; that's what you call pitching.

Nick Altrock

Connie's voice came in nice and strong, but somehow I got the idea he wasn't exactly enjoying himself. I bet the next time they ask him to broadcast he will put in Ehmke.

Handball Tourney Reaches Semi-Finals

The A. M. A. A. A. U. doubles handball championship tournament, which opened yesterday at the Keystone Athletic Club, will be resumed at 4:30 this afternoon. Frank Smith and Theos Manos, K. A. C., defending champions, meet McGinness and Laughlin, P. A. A., in one semi-final contest, while Clarke and Bialas, P. A. A., test Winkelman and Gladstone, Y. M. H. A., in the other. There is a possibility of the final being staged tonight.

Yesterday Winkleman and Glandstone eliminated their Y. M. H. A. clubmates, McCab and Stevenson, 21-8, 17-21, 21-16; Clarke and Bialas put out Fierst and Lapidus, Y. M. H. A., 21-18, 21-17, and McGinness and Laughlin defeated Wolfe and Chersky, Y. M. H. A., 21-7, 21-9.

YOUNGWOOD TEAMS HERE

The Phalanx Fraternity and Radnos, Jrs., of Youngwood, Pa., will play the Trinity Cathedral Royals and the Royals Reserves in Trinity's Parish House, in Oliver avenue, tonight.

YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON EXPLANATIONS—THE CALL OF THE BELL BIRD CAN BE HEARD THREE MILES AWAY—The Bell Bird, of South America, is so called for the pecular sound of its voice, which resembles a slow solemn tolling of a bell. It is a little white bird about the size of a pigeon. A horny excrescence growing out of its forehead communicates with the bird's palate, causing the peculiar sound which can be heard three miles away. HENDRICKSON CAN PICK UP 15 POOL BALLS WITH ONE HAND—Hendrickson, whose home is in Jamestown, N. Y., has an unique way of picking up the balls from a billiard table with his elbows, and allowing them to roll down his arm, having his other hand tied. He has given many exhibitions of his prowess in pool and billiards, and I have seen him pick up 15 pool balls with one hand.

Time of game—8 p. m.

By JESS CARVER.

Out of the competition which began last December, about the time we all were exchanging Christmas presents for credit on the old account, three high school basketball teams have survived the rigors of strenuous campaign and are looking forward with covetous eyes to the P. I. A. A. title for 1930.

And after tonight this trio will be reduced to a duo, for Sharon and Lewistown clash in a semi-final game in the Pitt Stadium this evening. Last night, in the gigantic Palestra of the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, Lower Merion eliminated John Harris, 30-18, and will now represent the eastern section of the state in the title game Saturday night at Philadelphia.

All three of the teams still in the running, Sharon, Lewistown and Lower Merion have successfully carried on through the various stages of league, district and inter-district play, and all three have strong claims to recognition as the outstanding quintet in its geographical division.

LEWISTOWN STRONG

Tonight's contest here appears to be a tossup. Lewistown comes on with a great scoring and defensive record. The District No. 6 survivors have tallied 1,060 points in 23 ball games, against 366 permitted all opponents. That is an offensive record of slightly better than 46 markers per game and a defensive mark of about 16½. Not many points . . . for the other fellers.

Chocolate Ill Of Influenza In New York

The Cuban, Dr. Hudson J. Oliver, his physician, reported, had a temperature of 102 when he fought and knocked out Al Ridgway at Madison Square Garden last Friday night.

The Cuban will be out of the ring indefinitely.

GRIDIRON RULES CHANGED

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP.)—Football legislation designed as an additional curb on shift plays, providing for a "count of six" instead of four before the ball is put in play, has been adopted for the 1930 season by the National Football Rules Committee.

Heretofore, the stop interval in shift plays has been governed by approximately one full second, the equivalent of an ordinary count of "1-2-3-4" by the official. Under the new rule, the interval must be "at least one second" and is to be governed by a count of "1-2-3-4-5-6." The referee, as a further check, will be permitted to carry a split-second watch for use whenever he is in doubt about the rapidity with which a team produces plays out of a shift formation.

This was the most important alteration in the college gridiron code effected by the national committee, which made public its findings today after a week-end session with the chairman, Edward K. Hall, at Absecon, N. J.

The committee, in two other matters, voted to make the duties of all four officials on the field "concurrent" in respect to all

AMATEUR MITT TOURNEY ON

With a field of 70 ambitious young amateur boxers entered, the annual senior championship tournament of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U., gets under way in the Motor Square ring tonight. The semi-finals and finals will be staged tomorrow night. The winners will represent this district in the National senior championships at Boston next month. As usual, the local tournament is being staged under the auspices of Islam Grotto, M. O. V. P. E. R.

In addition to the individual competition, the rivalry for club honors will be keen, most of the organizations sponsoring amateur boxing having entered full teams.

Between Rounds

Frank Novak, of the North Side, former A. M. A. senior heavyweight champion, will swing back into action in the second bout at McKeesport Thursday night. His opponent has not yet been selected. A few years ago, Novak stopped a slug in the same ring when he was knocked out by Chuck Taggart, of Butler. Taggart will appear in one of two 10-round bouts on the card Thursday against Ray Fay, of Charleroi. Young Hyde, of Charleroi, and Tommy Herbert, of Detroit and formerly of Connellsville, will box the top 10-rounder.

Paul Boster, of Chicago, has signed Paul Leberto, Italian bantamweight champion of the Chicago-New York Golden Gloves amateur tournament, and wants Bic to show him in Pittsburgh. Leberto was one of the sensations of the recent tourney because of his Terry McGovern style of milling. He is credited with having scored 41 successive victories as an amateur.

Paul Oger has been selected as Young Rudy's opponent in the windup at Washington (Pa.) next Monday night.

Jack Wells, Wellsburg (W. Va.) heavyweight has been ordered by his doctor to take a layoff from ring work until he recovers lost weight and now is holding down a job in his home town.

The Perlick Twins, Henry and Herman, box in the Mechanics Building arena in Boston Thursday night, the former against Hy Diamond, of Boston, and the latter against Bruce Flowers, of New York, in 10-round battles.

The card has been completed for the double windup show in Duquesne Garden tomorrow night. Young Chiesto, of Johnstown, who licked Young Corsey at Motor Square Garden last night, meets Ken Hargraves, of New Kensington, in the second bout and Peaches Gallagher, of Roosevelt, takes on Frankie Moran, of Homewood.

VAN RYN-ALLISON BOW

AUSTIN, Tex., March 25.—(AP.)—Johnny Van Ryn, of Princeton, and Wilmer Allison, of Austin, members of the 1930 Davis Cup tennis team, fell before the intercollegiate champions, Bruce Barnes and Berkeley Bell, University of Texas stars, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1 and 6-3, in an exhibition game here yesterday. In singles matches Allison defeated Barnes, 6-3 and 6-0, while Bell triumphed over Van Ryn, 6-4 and 6-3.

HARGREAVES GREAT BEHIND PLATE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

HARGREAVES SMART

Whatever may be the official attitude toward the veteran catcher, who was slated to leave the club during the winter, it is a fact that Charley has been a standout in the Pittsburgh camp despite a week of idleness due to a sprained back. Charley just didn't seem to fit with somebody in authority on the team as the last race closed. It was stated quite openly and with little show of contradiction that the Jersey athlete would be swapped ere another season began. Right now Hargreaves is the smartest and most dependable receiver on the team. While the critics wrote many bright things of Rolly Hemsley and Al Bool, Hargreaves sawed wood in a commendable manner.

There is no denying Hargreaves' smartness under the plate. If you wish a further testimonial on the veteran, you are referred to Burleigh Grimes, whose whereabouts, by the way, are entirely unknown to the members of the Pittsburgh entourage.

Grimes likes to have Hargreaves behind the plate when he works. Consistently he will take the catcher's opinion on doubtful batters rather than rely on his own, so strong is his confidence in the receiver's judgment.

According to his actions since the team left Pittsburgh, Charley determined to make certain parties like him and, who knows, but what he has succeeded. Skipper Ens would not be throwing him into the long ends of these preparatory battles if he were getting ready to ship him pronto.

FRENCH GOES GOOD

The veteran of mask and big glove was under the plate all afternoon as the Pirates trimmed the Oakland Oaks yesterday in the first contest of a three-game series. The score was 6 to 4.

Larry French was one of the feature numbers of the contest. The Visalia sensation worked seven rounds of the battle, his feat marking the longest route any Pittsburgh hurler has gone thus far. French hung up 10 rounds of hitless baseball before he was nicked for a single in the fourth inning of yesterday's game. In a Paso Robles appearance, Larry had two hitless rounds, he spun five hitless reels against the Seals the other day and today was in the fourth before the spell was broken.

George Grantham was a hero of the latest Pittsburgh success. The second sacker belted a ball over the long right field fence in the seventh inning. Brickell was on the sacks at the time. Glenn Spencer worked the last two frames for the Pirates. Glenn

LEAGUE BASKETBALL PLAYOFFS ON TONIGHT

VERONAS MEET LAFAYETTES AT TEMPLE

By JULIUS LEVIN

Championship series involving two of Pittsburgh's outstanding basketball leagues get under way when the winners of the first half clash with the victors in the second half to determine the title-holders for the 1929-1930 season. The Allegheny County League, Pittsburgh's best professional circuit, starts its playoffs in Columbus Temple tonight when the Duquesne Lafayettes, defending champions, engage the J. J. Veronas second half champions. In the West Penn League playoffs, the Ray E. Schneiders entertain the Penn Five of Sharpsburg at Forresters Hall, Lawrenceville. The Schneiders won the first half crown and Penn Five was returned the winner in the second. The West Penn League is the leading amateur circuit in the district.

Sky Twyman

CRACK QUINTETS

Both games bring fifty-action smooth-working floor machines and fans at each contest are in store for real basketball treats tonight. The J. J. Veronas made a strong comeback in the second half of the County League fight and if Artie Hoffman and Sky Twyman are in shape to play the local Italian club stands a good chance of winning the first game tonight.

The Penn Five featured the second half of the West Penn League race and is all set to take a fall out of Joe Goetz's passers. This Sharpsburg aggregation is really one of the best teams in the district. Strange as it may seem, both Penn Five and the Schneiders scored victories over the Duquesne Lafayettes, defending champions of the County League.

DATE CHANGED

A change has been made in the date of the second battle of the County League series originally carded for Duquesne Thursday night. Unable to obtain the use of Duquesne High School Thursday night the management of the Lafayettes has made arrangements to play the contest next Monday night.

Capable officials will be in charge of both games tonight. Leo Mackey has been engaged to handle the County League playoffs, while Al Speer and Aquadro will officiate in the West Penn League series. Interest in both openers has been high for several weeks and two capacity crowds are anticipated by the clubs involved. Both Columbus Temple and Forresters Hall can accommodate large turnouts.

HEINE HART JOHNNY DUNN REFEREE AL GRAYBER

Brought here as a "worthy opponent" for Jackie Rodgers, local Negro knockout king, who then took a runout on him, Heine Hart, of Allentown, last night proved a setup for Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, moved up from the second bout to substitute on short notice for Rodgers. Hart absorbed a boxing lesson all of the way. Above is a bit of the "action" in the fifth round. One of the smallest crowds of the season witnessed the show.

DUNN EASILY BEATS HART; SHOW A DUD

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Yes sir, it was as bad as all that. Which is to say as bad as it possibly could have been. Meaning, of course, the much-bungled boxing show put on in Motor Square Garden last night after a shutdown of a number of weeks.

And Jackie Rodgers, local Negro knockerout ought to kick himself around the block on his alleged bum ankle for having passed up such easy pickings as Heine Hart in the main bout which saw clever Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, moved up from the second bout as an eleventh-hour sub for Rodgers when the latter pulled his run-out, kick the stuffing out of the sixth-rater who was to have been Jackie's ninth straight knockout victim and would have been that even if Jackie had had to go in there on crutches.

Jackie, who saw Hart fight in the Eastern part of the state a year or so ago, didn't want any part of him on the ground that he hit too hard; yet Dunn, a frail fellow whose forte is boxing, last night took the hardest wild swings the Allentown Dutchman threw at him and smiled derisively at him and walked off with every round for as hollow a victory as he ever turned in. Hart never had a look-in, for his punch proved vastly overrated and he was a mark for Johnny's lightning left jab and right cross and two-fisted work inside.

Hart claimed after the bout that he had broken his right hand in the second round. If he did, he certainly did a lot of fancy tossing with a crippled duke, for he kept it in action to the finish with little or no effect. It was all he had, and it wasn't much.

BELL BOUT NOW OFFERED

After the bout, it was learned the club had closed with Pete Stone, of New York, manager of Archie Bell, to have Bell meet Rodgers here on April 7 at 122 pounds. This was the match originally made for last night and was lost when Rodgers, after signing, insisted on having the weight raised to 124 pounds, although Bell is a legitimate bantamweight. If he can make 122 pounds for Bell two weeks from now training on a lame ankle, it is a mystery why Rodgers and his managers garbled up the match in the first place, and, anyway, a Bell bout is out of order now. In getting Dunn to take Rodgers' place against Hart, the club promised Johnny a return bout with Rodgers if he defeated Hart. At least once before this same club promised Dunn a match with Rodgers if he won another bout and then was unable to induce Rodgers to go through with his end. In announcing that Rodgers would meet the winner of last night's fight, the club also informed the public that the fans who were loyal enough not to turn in their tickets for last night's fiasco would get first crack at the choice seats for a bout two weeks later between the winner and Rodgers, something new in the way of box office salesmanship.

In view of these promises to Dunn and the public, the boxing commission should force Rodgers if he wants to fight here again, to box Dunn or no one. Dunn holds two victories over him and Jackie's managers are leary of a return match, especially in view of the manner in which, last night, Dunn shook off the "deadly" right hand that scared Rodgers out of meeting Hart and breezed along to victory.

PRELIMS ALSO BAD

A match between Dunn and Rodgers very likely would be as hard to look at as was last night's melee, in view of the fact that it would be the same story of a clever boxer against a puncher whose only chance lay in getting over his wallop properly, but what more fitting punishment could be asked for the persons responsible for bringing about the present state of affairs with regard to Rodgers? And, of course, the fans could stay away, as most of them did last night, when it was said that upwards of $2,000 was refunded in money taken in in the advance sale for a Rodgers bout. Dunn weighed 125 pounds and Hart 119½ at 3 p. m. yesterday.

The preliminaries last night, also ruined by substitutions, were in keeping with Hart's punk exhibition in the main bout. Young Corsey, of Canton, O., outscored Johnny Chiodo, of Johnstown, subbing for Bobby Young, who came all the way from Detroit to report that he had a wrenched back and couldn't fight, in the eight-round semi-final. Chiodo, who scaled 129 pounds against Corsey's 132, did a lot of fancy posing and won a portion of the crowd, but what effective work was accomplished was turned in by Corsey, who received the votes of Judge Brown and Referee Robinson, while Judge Frank Ferris called it a draw. It was a case of two clever boxers putting up a tame exhibition.

REFEREE HALTS BOUT

An extra added substitution that had not been announced in advance developed when Roy Ryan, of Detroit, was sent against Don Frazier, Cuban Negro, of Chicago, in the second bout, which ended in 1 minute 40 seconds, when Referee Al Grayber stopped it after Ryan, who appeared to be a novice, went down a second time from a light punch and was too bewildered to take a count either time. The crowd booed this one plenty. Frazier weighed 122½ pounds and Ryan 126. Ryan took the place of Jesse Duke, of Clearfield, who weighed in too heavy in the afternoon, while Frazier was subbing for Dunn, who was matched with Duke before being shifted to the main bout.

Jimmy Thomas, Negro bantamweight, of the Hill, 119 pounds, proved too rugged for Young Nanci, of Swissvale, 121½, and outslugged him in the opening six-rounder, the only really satisfactory bout on the card. Thomas floored Nanci twice for no count at the end of the first round, hung a shiner on his left eye and had him well punched around when the final gong sounded.

It was announced that Joey Goodman, of Cleveland, and Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, lightweights, will box the main bout next Monday night. Mellow was introduced from the ring. The crowd stood in silent tribute to the memory of Dr. H. A. Briney, former commission physician, as the timekeeper tolled 10 seconds on the bell. Dr. Briney died suddenly last Thursday.

KNOCKDOWN TIMING TRIED

The knockdown timing system was tried, but didn't get much of a workout. Chappie Couch held that role, while Max Zeugschmidt was the regular timekeeper. Bill Schuster, as usual, did the announcing, and did it well.

Dr. M. R. Goldman, commission physician, examined Rodgers at Motor Square Garden late yesterday afternoon and said he had an injured foot, but did not presume to rule on whether or not it was sufficiently hurt to prevent him from boxing.

CAMPOLO WINS, LOSES VERDICT

NEW YORK, March 25.—By the most sensationally absurd decision ever rendered at a major boxing match, Johnny Risko was declared winner over Victorio Campolo, at the conclusion of their 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden last night.

Practically every boxing writer at the ringside gave Campolo the fight by overwhelming margins. A few credited Campolo with six rounds to Risko's three and the majority gave the giant South American eight rounds to Risko's two.

Strange as it may seem, the decision was widely acclaimed by a crowd of 10,000, which had rooted for the underdog all through the fight. Risko was on the short end of 12 to 5 odds.

SHARON PLAYS LEWISTOWN

towering center. He has led his team to 22 triumphs in the 23 games played, the only blot on the record being an early-season setback in a non-league contest of little import.

SHARON IMPRESSIVE

Sharon topped 'em all in District No. 8, and is in the midst of its fourth consecutive drive for the state title. Sharon, represented by a veteran team, boasts a giant center in Jim Murphy, and a pair of fine forwards in McCamant and Deems. The team is big and strong, probably as heavy as any high school five in the state, and the offensive correspondingly powerful albeit a trifle awkward.

LOWER MERION VICTOR

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—(AP.)—Displaying a whirlwind attack and an airtight defense, the Lower Merion High School of suburban Philadelphia, last night advanced to the final round of the state interscholastic basketball championship by defeated John Harris High, Harrisburg, 30 to 18, in the semi-final match.

By virtue of the victory the twenty-fifth in a row, Lower Merion won the Eastern regional trophy and will clash here Saturday night with the winner of the Lewistown-Sharon game, which is to be played in Pittsburgh tonight.

Lewistown and Sharon will pack a good sized crowd away in the Stadium tonight. The Mercer Countians will bring a couple special train loads of rooters along, besides the myriads who'll come by bus and automobile.

The lineup:

Merion (30)		Harris—18
Lockwood	F	Stiles
Pennypacker	F	Lash
Turner	G	Bridges
Bondurant	G	Lechner
D'Amore	G	Harbaugh

Field goals, Lockwood, 3, Pennypacker 4, Turner 2, Bondurant, D'Amore 3, Lash, Bathook 4, Foul, Merion, 4 out of 11; Harris, 6 out of 12. Referee, Day. Scout, Clayton Abrams.

Richmond Replaces Akron in League

CANTON, O., March 25.—(INS)—Richmond, Ind., will get the sixth franchise in the Central Baseball League, replacing Akron, it was announced here today by Don Jacobs, president of the league.

Other clubs in the league are Canton, Springfield, Dayton, Erie, Pa., and Fort Wayne, Ind.

The substitution of Richmond for Akron is the first and only change in the personnel of the league in its history.

Jacobs stated today that John McClosky, who managed the Akron outfit last year, will take over the Richmond team. All of last year's holdover players of the Akron club will go to Richmond.

Maureen Orcutt Sets Pace in Mid-South

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C., March 25.—A number of Pittsburgh district women are competing in the Mid-South medal play event over the links of the Southern Pines Country Club, the first 18 of which was completed here yesterday.

The Pittsburgh scores:

Mrs. Sarah Fownes, Wadsworth, 43-43—86; Mrs. C. R. Hollingsworth, 48-51—97; Helen Morrison, 51-46—97; Louise Elkins, 52-54—106; Alice Guseldinger, 52-57—109.

Legion Pin Stars Renew Play Tonight

American Legion bowlers will stage the third round of their annual tournament at the Haus alleys, North Side, tonight, when Wilmerding Post meets Swissvale Post and South Hills Post opposes Manchester Post. Crafton Post drew a bye.

Only five teams from a field of posts from all sections of Allegheny County remain in the running.

Sport Vignettes

One of the real Big Names of American football passes out with the death in Chicago of Walter Eckersall, whom Walter P. Steffen, the Carnegie Tech coach, understudied and followed to all-America glory . . . . John Pesek, heavyweight wrestler, has to call off a bout because he fell off a horse while training for the battle . . . . What was he doing on the horse? . . . . Stivers High School, of Toledo, has just won the Ohio State scholastic basketball championship for the third successive year, scoring 30 victories without a defeat during the recent campaign . . . . Stivers also won the laurels three years in a row in 1919, 1920 and 1921 . . . . Phil Goldstein, local lightweight boxer, who has severed his connections with Jimmy Bronson in New York to go under the management of Jimmy Dunn in Cleveland, is a pal of Tommy Crawley, his local rival, whom he has boxed four times . . . . He recently induced Tommy to go to New York under the management of Lou Brown, a former associate of Bronson, and Tommy has been going over big in the East . . . . Incidentally, he has taken over Phil's rooms in New York . . . . While in Cleveland, Goldstein will share an apartment with Joey Goodman, Jewish lightweight, who has made a hit in three bouts here and also is under the management of Dunn, who piloted Johnny Kilbane to the featherweight championship heights . . . . Goldstein, by the way, is somewhat of a practical joker . . . . Let Hippo Siegal, his friend, tell about one Phil pulled on him on a crowded electric train bound out of New York for Coney Island one day . . . . Out of a clear sky, Phil yelled to Hippo: "Hey, drop that lady's pocketbook!" . . . . A woman standing in front of Siegal, thinking she was being robbed, dropped her pocketbook and almost fainted and Hippo wished the earth would open up and swallow him . . . . He was lucky he wasn't arrested before he could do a fade-out . . . . Coach Jock Sutherland, of Pitt, is glad his gridders got themselves in good condition last fall for the spring workouts now under way . . . . Ray Eberle, Aliquippa's silver-tongued former fight announcer, who reformed and became matchmaker for the Junction Park arena at New Brighton, still has a yen for the announcing game and will get back into it if he ever gets tired of being a matchmaker . . . . The commission rules prevent him from holding a license in both capacities, but he may do some announcing on the side for Walter Taylor in Cleveland this summer . . . . The teams that lose most of their training season games are the ones to look out for when the pennant race gets under way, which is a cheerful way of looking at the Pirates' tough going out on the coast, where they hardly could lose more games than they have and retain their self respect.—HARRY KECK.

M'KELVEY, CIVICS STAR, GOES TO CHARLEROI

LOCAL HURLER TO FACE M. A. BATTERS

By TOM BIRKS.

It seems as though the Lincoln Civics will have to get along without the pitching end of its star battery this season. Jerry McKelvy, popular East End pitcher and ace of the Civics, intends to report to Charleroi to take a crack at the Middle Atlantic League batters.

Jerry McKelvy

McKelvy was one of the boys considered as having a chance to line up with Hank Daly in the reorganization of the Homewood-Brushton club. A quiet, unassuming chap, McKelvy should go a long way. According to well posted critics, he has plenty of stuff.

NEW CIVICS PILOT

The Lincoln Civics will change their managerial reins this season. Busch is no longer connected with the club, and Johnny Dotterwich will be responsible for the boys from Hartman Park.

The new addition to the Steel City League, the East Liberty Crimsons, one of the fastest amateur baseball teams in the East Liberty section, is getting ready for a banner season. The Crimson team has been a developing spot for the youngsters around the East End, and has sent many boys up to the big show. Many of last season's players have left the East Liberty district, and therefore this leaves many openings for ambitious young players.

The Crimsons have engaged Mellon Field for their league games, and will play at home Saturday evenings. Any player wishing to identify himself with this good club should call Hazel 1472-J.

Bunts

Lou Jacoby, Johnny Dunsky's star pitcher of last season, who was mainly responsible for Pleasant Valley winning the City League, boarded the latter for Asheville, N. C., the other evening, so Dunsky will have to line up another star to fill Jacoby's shoes this season. Jacoby was a sensation in the city loop last season, especially in the playoff series when his home runs did lots of damage.

The latest County League talk has it that several of the most impossible towns are likely to sponsor teams in that loop. Swissvale and Braddock have been mentioned. The Switch town never has been able to keep a club in smaller circuits than the county, which is the pest of all locality. And Braddock—well, in the days of long ago, it might have been all right, but when championship games have been taken to the Steel Works Park, or the Tri-Boro League games were played there, little in the nature of revenue at the gate was in sight.

Pitcairn is reported to have lined up a galaxy of stars for its railroad championship games. The outlook at the hands of Philadelphia still burns, and the hammering Hilly received is remembered. A move is on to get Pitcairn interested in league ball, but if that payroll is encountered by teams locally, the others might as well start to load up to make the competition equal.

In the opener, Andy Andruzet, of the East End, and Battling Gitsy, of Washington, Pa., box the main bout and Johnny Steinker, of Canonsburg, is in with Ray Collins, of Erie in the other 10-rounder.

Tom Frazier, the Cuban Negro featherweight, who made his local debut at Motor Square Garden last night, will box in the opening bout on the Mickey Solomon-Jackie Wilson card at the Motor Tuesday night and Jack DeNoia of the Friday night and Jack DeNoia of the North Side and Johnny Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, will appear in the second bout. Billy Nicholas, of the North Side, and T. S. Carpenter, of New Kensington, provide the semi-final.

Al Reno, of Philadelphia, who suffered the first defeat of his career when he was stopped by Sammy Harris in one minute of fighting in Erie two weeks ago, will get a chance to redeem himself against Harris in the main bout of a show there Friday night. Jack Coffman, of Buffalo, and Johnny Koule, of Youngstown, will box the semi-final and Johnny Sacco, of Buffalo, will oppose Jackie Shapnick, of Trenton, N. J., in another eight-rounder. Jimmy Dugo, Erie Negro, and Fred Johnson, of Akron, featherweights, are matched for six rounds and there will be a four-round opener. The show will be staged by the Auditorium A. C., of which Jim Carney is the promoter and matchmaker.

Freddie Edwards, of Chester, W. Va., and Joe Zick, of McKees Rocks, box the eight-round main bout of the Fourth Brothers show at East Liverpool, O., tonight. Joe Corvelli and Johnny Dundee are in the semi-final, while in two four-round preliminaries, Kenny Davis meets Ray Mitchell and Ed Yarosz boxes Freddie Lasko. Other bouts carded tonight: Bobby Abie, Joe Gibbs vs. Virgie Bachus, Joe Bavinda vs. Lew Friedman and Sully Espy vs. Joey Abrams, 10 rounds each, Dropping Murray Elkins vs. Mike Baker, 10 rounds, New York; Kid Kaplan vs. Jackie Fields, 10 rounds, Milwaukee, at Chicago; Matty vs. Gorham, Joe Grady, 10 rounds, Carbondale, Pa.; George Hoffman vs. Joe Parks, 10 rounds, Oklahoma City; and Frankie Carbone vs. Ray Spiker and Goldie Race vs. Eddie Thomas, 10 rounds each, Los Angeles.

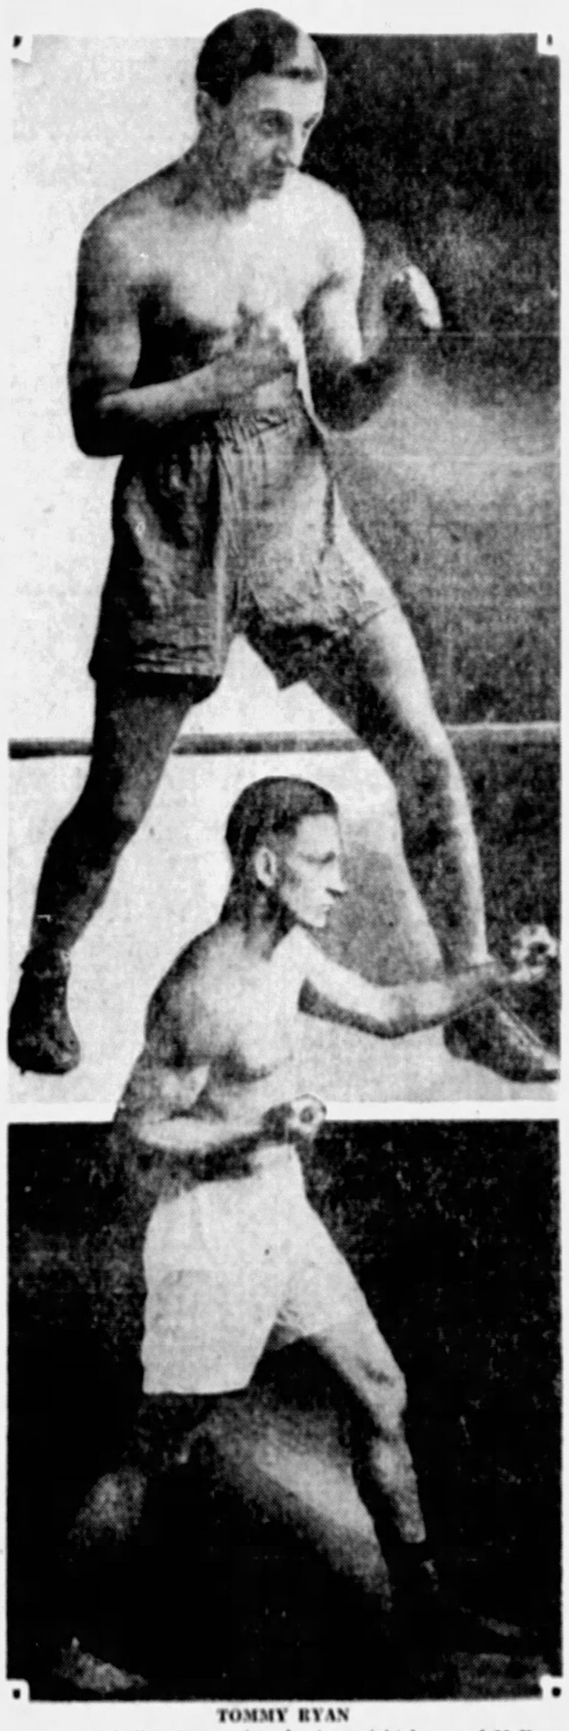
BROTHERS IN RING

TONY MARINO



TOMMY RYAN

Marino is the star amateur bantamweight boxer, of McKeesport, who will be a contestant in the annual senior championship tournament of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U., in Motor Square Garden tonight and tomorrow night. He is a brother of Tommy Ryan, the star pro baniam, formerly of McKeesport, but in recent years of Buffalo. Tommy fought the best in the game at his weight until he retired recently.

NICHOLS BEATS FIRPO

PURSES HELD UP

MIAMI, Fla., March 25.—(AP.)—Chairman Louis MacIlvaine, of the Miami Boxing Commission, held up the purse after Gilly Kay, 149, St. Paul, won on a six-round foul here last night from Frankie Sacco, 147, Philadelphia. He also held up the purses in the six-round preliminary between Harry Paul, 148, Philadelphia, and Billy Linder, 147, Jacksonville, Fla., which was called a draw.

Long's Sport Comment

106 yards from kick-off for a touchdown, a dash that has been beaten only four times in the history of college football.

JIMMY M'LARNIN thinks he sees a fault in the fighting technique of Kid Chocolate, declaring that he telegraphs his ring-hand punch. "But he is so fast that he can afford to do things that slower boxers could not afford to do," added Jimmy.

"Chocolate sure is fast; as fast a fighter as I've ever seen. And he's very clever, too. He seems to have mastered the art of slipping punches. It seems almost impossible for these other boys in his class to land a clean blow on him. He's either slipping it or going along with it."

Jim Thorpe

JIM THORPE, one of football's all-time greatest, has bobbed up in Los Angeles, working with a paint crew for the Standard Oil Company. Paul Lowry reports that Thorpe was in Del Monte during the national amateur championship golf tournament last year and was promised a job in Northern California, some sort of ranger proposition, but he did not take it when he learned it would pay only $75 per month. "Wonder what they think a married man can live on?" observed the famous Indian athlete. "Can't keep the wife and kids in food on ancient glory. I went to Southern California and took some odd jobs in the movies, but they were not steady, so I grabbed for real work. And I'm getting as hard as a rock on this work. I'm 42, but I still can play football, and I'll be ready to go when the pro season opens next fall."

IN two heavyweight fights last night the results were in line with general expectations, with Johnny Risko getting the decision over Victorio Campolo in 10 rounds in New York, and George Godfrey knocking out Roy (Ace) Clark in the seventh round of their bout in Philadelphia. Risko's victory not only bore out the claim that he should have received the decision over Campolo in Florida last month, but it directs some more "ha-ha's" toward the New York Boxing Commission, which refused to let Johnny meet the same opponent some time ago on the ground that he wasn't big enough for Victorio.

Godfrey just had to stop Clark in order to keep the proposed Carnera match alive. The only surprising feature was that it took him a round longer than it took Primo to turn the same trick. But maybe they won't give him Carnera right away. Risko is in line for a match with somebody, and they are likely to make Godfrey fight Johnny first rather than match Risko and Carnera and thus run an extra chance of Primo's getting licked.

GOLF PROS READY FOR SEASON

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

Those district golf professionals who hold down winter berths in the South are beginning to think about packing up and returning to their home links. Others who did not follow the swallows are anticipating opening shop early. There have been only few changes in district professional ranks and it is doubtful if there will be any further shifts between now and the opening of the season.

It'll sort of be lonesome to drift out to Oakmont and not find the affable Charley Rowe — Charley died late last season, you know—but the ever-helpful Emil (Dutch) Loeffler will be there handling the pro reins as well as the greenkeeper's job, which is some job at the championship Hulton layout.

TOWNS AT AMBRIDGE

Good old Pete Walsh passed into the Great Beyond last winter and in his place at the Greenville Country Club will be Johnny Capehianco, West Penn caddiemasters' champion, who has been identified of recent years with Chartiers Heights and Edgewood.

Eddie Towns after a period of years of private tutoring, will be back in our midst again as pro at the bustling Ambridge Country Club, succeeding Tommy Gray, who has not said where he will hook up this season, and Andy Velican makes his debut at the Greene County Country Club, near Waynesburg.

Lambert Flynn, former Stanton Heights instructor, is back in harness again, having been signed to handle the job at the Conneaut Lake Country Club.

COUNTY BERTHS UNSETTLED

Ben Loeffler is to take over the duties at the new Harmar Country Club as well as at Valley Heights, and H. G. (Swede) Olsen will succeed Jim Noble at Burke Glen.

The two outstanding jobs that appear to be open for professionals at this time are at the new Allegheny County North and South Parks. Neither Director Paul B. Riis of the parks, nor City Office Manager John Jay Burke has indicated which men are in line for these jobs, although it is well known the waiting list of applicants is aplenty long.

The lineup of the other professionals remains virtually intact. And here they are:

fouls, and adopted a resolution discouraging as "unsportsmanlike" the use of any equipment similar in color to the ball, and thereby aiding deception.

Officials heretofore have been restricted in the fouls they could call. Under the new definition, of their duties, they can report all fouls to the referee, who remains the final arbiter in case of any dispute.

The committee "deprecates the use of head protectors, jerseys or attachments similar in color to the ball," thereby giving an advantage, according to the resolution adopted on this point. It was cited that teams given permission to use a white ball for night games last season took advantage of this by wearing white jerseys. The committee expects to substitute a definite rule by 1931 for its resolution designed to stop such practices this year.

No fundamental changes were recommended or made in the football rules by the committee, which announced the completion of the important job of recodifying and simplifying the gridiron code. The number of specific rules, in the new form in which they have been put together, is reduced from 28 to 13.

It was the sentiment of the committee as well as most football coaches that the present balance between offense and defense is satisfactory.

This Lady Says "I Suffered Pain After Eating Until..."

"For the first time in years I am able to eat the things I like without suffering cutting pains afterward and lying awake hour after hour unable to sleep," says Mrs. Kate Stuart, of 116 E. 20th St., New York, N.Y. "Ever since I began taking Acidine my stomach is sweet and my nerves are calm."

How easy it is for people to relieve their sick, sour stomach, their acidosis, gassy belching, sour risings and indigestion caused by too much acid! Over 2 million people rely on Acidine to keep their stomachs sweet and fit. You can get it at your drug store or write Health Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Farmer, Veteran Boxer, Dies During Bout

TACOMA, Wash., March 25.—(AP.)—Counted out by a boxing referee as he slumped to the canvas, Frank Farmer, 39-year-old veteran fighter, died in the ring last night from what a deputy coroner said was a blow in the stomach.

Farmer, veteran of about 300 ring battles, was counted out by the referee before anyone was aware that he was in a serious condition.

Efforts to revive the boxer were futile. A physician was called and Farmer was pronounced dead.

U. S. Lodge, deputy coroner, said after an examination that death was caused by a blow to the stomach, bringing on what he described as a "heart block."

GOLF CADDIES INSURED

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 25.—Several thousand caddies and other employes of country clubs and golf courses are protected by workmen's compensation insurance, according to a report made to Peter Glick, secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry, by William H. Horner, director of the Workmen's Compensation Bureau.

A recent survey was made by Miss Sara Soffel, director of the Bureau of Women and Children, to determine to what extent the Workmen's Compensation Act, which requires that all employers of labor must carry compensation insurance for their employes, had been complied with by the clubs owning golf courses.

The result of this survey shows that practically 100 per cent of golf club employes are covered by compensation insurance. Of 104 golf courses in Pennsylvania, 99 were found to have taken out workmen's compensation insurance and the other five had signified their intention of obtaining these policies immediately.

The advatnages of workmen's compensation insurance were quickly realized by golf club officials and their members as it relieves them personally of damage suits in case of injury to caddies or other employes of the golf courses. The number of caddies and other employes of the golf courses of Pennsylvania is estimated as between 4,000 and 5,000.

GODFREY STOPS ACE CLARK

Clark was on the defensive through most of the fight with the Leiperville giant outboxing him at long range and tying him up in the clinches.

Campus Comment

By KNUTE ROCKNE

(Chairman, All-America Board of Football)

I received a rather irate message from a basketball devotee of Indiana the other day, who writes:

"I take exception to your article on stalling in basketball. I saw your Army game, and didn't Carideo stall the last two plays in that game? And I understand he did the same on the last two plays of the Southern California game. You are in no position to criticize other coaches in another sport when you coach stalling in your own game."

Knute Rockne

My Hoosier friend, being a basketball devotee, is perhaps a little too serious and a little too sensitive about his game. He does not see the difference between a slow stalling game carried on for almost 40 minutes and the natural tendency of a smart quarterback the last minute of a football game to not exactly stall, but to play it safe. In fact, stalling under football rules is practically impossible, as the team which has possession of the ball must make 10 yards in four downs or lose the ball. No play can take more than 30 seconds. A team such as Notre Dame, which for 59 minutes or so is playing rapidly, does not consume more than 20 seconds to a play. When, therefore, the team slows down and consumes the legal amount of time, 30 seconds, it seems slow by contrast, but it is perfectly legal.

I insist that basketball is a fine indoor game, so long as it is played by both teams. But when one team stands on defense under the basket and makes no effort to get the ball, while the opposing team, which has the ball, retires to its own end of the court and makes no effort to carry the ball down the floor and score a basket, there can be no contest. I believe most every fan interested in real basketball is against the stalling game.

BUCS BEAT OAKLAND

was not in his customary stride and the Oaks had him in jam when the game ended.

Chillysauce

Lloyd Waner has suffered another setback. Failed to go to bed as a result of the condition in his stomach, the little outfielder has anything but a prominent appearance. Brother Lloyd tried to play a few innings against the Seals, but the attempt was not very successful.

In the event of another wave of no improvement in the case of the wee midget, Manager Kiss will be worried and so will others connected with the team. It has been more weeks since Lloyd left the Pittsburgh institution where he was operated on for removal of his appendix. But right now he doesn't look much stronger than he did when he reached Paso Robles.

Pie Traynor's bad eye was reported somewhat better, but Pie may not be able to put on a uniform before the Pirates head eastward.

Remy Kremer, one of Oakland's favorite sons, is all set to give the natives a treat today. Kremer has no worry at all over runners against the Oaks provided they don't succeed in him early in the contest. The big Frenchman, Dick Barrett and Stuart Clarke are all his numbers in the series. Barrett resides at Alameda, which is a suburb of Oakland, while Clarke's home is in Oakland.

Fred Brickell's daily play is one of the Pirates' brightest spots. Brick acquitted himself like a star in the series with the Missions and Seals and he maintained the same swift pace in the first game here. Fred's diving catch of Griffin's liner in the first inning was the best play of the contest.

ROSIES BEAT ROCHESTER, KEEP TITLE

CLEVELAND, March 25.—Making it four straight in the world series basketball championship, the Cleveland Rosenblums retained their world title, giving them the crown for the third time since the formation of the American League. Rochester gave a great exhibition, fought hard and to the last, but had to bow to the Rosies 21 to 15 here last night.

Rochester started out with a lead, but the Rosies began functioning when the score was 6 to 1 against them. They tied the count at 7 as the half ended.

Barry and Husta gave the Rosies 11 points when the losers again shot out, but it was their last spurt for Lapchick broke the tie with two beautiful shots for four points. The Rosies could not be halted thereafter. The lineup:

Rochester—15		Cleveland—21
Barry	f	Allen
Lapchick	f	Chamberlain
Cunningham	c	Beam
Lefkowitz	lg	Allen
Husta	lg	Kinsbrunner

Substitutions: Rochester, for Husta, Fox; for Allen, Allen for Rabin. Field goals—Rosies 8 out of 34, Rochester 5 out of 35. Field goals—Kinsbrunner 1, Allen 2, Barry 2, Husta 1, Lapchick 3, Cunningham 1, Beam 2, Rochester 5 out of 7. First half score—Rosies 7, Rochester 1. Referee—Hepbinstall. Umpire—Hearts. Referee—Salador.

ECKERSALL SUCCUMBS

Death, caused by a heart attack, overtook the once famous streak of the gridiron suddenly and unexpectedly at 2:39 p. m. yesterday in his room at the Chicago Athletic Association where he had been bedridden for only a few days. He was 45 years old.

Eckersall had been in failing health for the past year, but not even his most intimate friends realized the end was so near. Last fall he jeopardized his health by leaving his sick bed and continuing his duties as football referee and sports writer for the Chicago Tribune, for which he also became famous. He never seemed to regain his old time spark after that.

Eckersall was married and divorced, and has one child, Elizabeth, who is 20 years old. After his mother's death he lived at the Chicago Athletic Association. Funeral services will be held Thursday at Holy Cross Church. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

HERRERA WINS OVER GROGAN

OMAHA, March 25.—(AP.)—Following 10 rounds of mediocre mauling, Tony Herrera, Mexican lightweight, last night was awarded his second decision over Tommy Grogan, Omaha. Herrera recently won a decision over his local adversary in a battle at Flint, Mich.

Dukes, Georgetown Card Court Series

Graduate Manager of Athletics John Holohan, of Duquesne University, has completed a home-and-home basketball series with Georgetown University for next year. The Dukes will meet the Hoyas first in Washington, D. C., January 16, and the Hilltoppers will appear here February 13.

Georgetown's quintet appeared here in Pittsburgh during the past season, bowing to the Pitt Panthers in the Stadium.

CHRONIC NERVE, BLOOD AND SKIN DISEASES TREATED BY MODERN METHODS

MEN, FIND OUT WHAT AILS YOU

Come today for examination and have your case explained to you—Laboratory Tests, Blood pressure taken, Blood tested when necessary. I aim to discover the cause and remove it by scientific methods.

My methods are modern and very thorough. Electricity is used in many forms, also medicine internally and by injections.

For more than thirty years I have treated successfully Chronic and Acute Stomach Troubles, Rheumatism, Nervous Disorders, Skin Diseases, Lame Back, Ulcers, Bladder and Kidney Troubles, Swollen glands; also Constipation, and if you have some trouble you do not understand, come to me for a plain talk today. Satisfactory terms arranged.

Mistakes and broken laws of Nature involve an awful penalty. TOXIC POISONS are robbing thousands of the full energy and strength rightfully theirs.

IF YOU ARE AILING DON'T GIVE UP. I HAVE HELPED OTHERS. WHY NOT YOU?

STOCKS GO ON WILD BULL RAMPAGE

100 Lifted to 1930 Highs; Profit Sales Interrupt Rise; Ticker Far Behind

NEW YORK, March 25. (AP.) — The stock market started out on a wild bull rampage today in which 100 or more stocks were lifted to new high records for the year. So great was the volume of trading that the ticker fell 45 minutes behind the market, the delay inviting sufficient profit-taking and short selling to interrupt, but not completely check, the advance by early afternoon. Extreme gains in the active issues ranged from 2 to 8 points, but at the end of the third hour scores of stocks had dipped a point or two below their early highs.

Passage of the tariff bill by the United States Senate, lowering of the call money rate from 4 to 3½ per cent and reports that operations of the United States Steel Corporation were being maintained at 80 per cent of capacity the first time in three weeks that they had not shown a decline, provided the background for the upward movement.

SHORTS COVER

Short covering also was an important factor in the advance, particularly in some of the high priced specialties of which there is a small floating supply.

While the call money rate dropped from 4 to 3½ per cent, indicating the passing of the strain incidental to the heavy mid-month federal income tax, dividend and interest payments, time money rates held firm. All dealers advanced bankers acceptances ⅛ of 1 per cent after having made nine successive reductions of similar amount.

WARNING SOUNDED

The rapid advance in the market, accompanied by unbridled speculation in some of the pool specialties, led to advices of caution and profit taking by several of the leading commission houses.

Revival of speculative activity in the oils was based on unofficial estimates of another sharp reduction in crude production last week and the prospects of higher crude and gasoline prices. Standard Oil of New Jersey and Houston, with gains of 3 points, were the leaders of that group. Foster Wheeler, A. M. Byers, Worthington Pump and stocks of other companies which manufacture pipe and oil machinery advanced in sympathy.

Despite the fact that the February railroad earnings statements now being published make unfavorable comparison with last year, selective buying continued in the railroad group. Chicago and Eastern Illinois issues moved into new high ground on unconfirmed rdeports that the Van Sweringen interests had acquired the Thomas Fortune Ryan holdings in that road. Union Pacific, Wabash, Frisco common and Lehigh Valley also moved into new high ground.

MANY HIT 1930 HIGHS

Vanadium Steel jumped 5½ points to a new top at 124½, which contrasts with the year's low of 49½ but met heavy profit taking at that level. Bullard Company, Newport Company, American Can, Air Reduction, Colorado Fuel, Eastman Kodak, Union Carbide, A. M. Byers, Foster Wheeler, Worthington Pump, Ward Baking preferred, McClellan Stores and General Railway Signal all moved into new high ground on gains ranging from 3 to 6 points.

Among the many other issues to reach new high ground were American Telephone, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, American Bank Note, Checker Cab and American Power and Light. Western Union, Columbia Carbon and J. I. Case were among the few outstanding soft spots.

Further Western Union Financing Hinted by President Carlton.

THAT Western Union Telegraph Company might have to resort to further financing in the next two years is suggested in President Carlton's discussion of capital expenditures in the annual report. He said: "Capital expenditures of an unusual character have been required for the new building in New York City for purchase of real estate, for ocean cables, extensive installations of printer telegraph apparatus and acquisition of controlling interests in various related companies. The sum of $33,000,000 has been expended for such purposes and it is expected further expenditures of an unusual nature will amount to nearly $30,000,000 during the next two years."

The consolidated statement of member banks reporting to the Federal Reserve, shows the total of loans and investments of such institutions increased $281,000,000 last week, of which $143,000,000 was made up of further advances against securities and the balance, or $139,000,000, in additional investments for the banks' own accounts. Commercial borrowings were down slightly, while borrowings from the Federal Reserve were cut by $51,000,000 to a total of only $45,000,000, contrasted with $660,000,000 in the same week last year. Loans against securities now total $8,054,000,000 as against the recent low of $7,641,000,000, and the high of $7,826,000,000 reported before the market break last year. Commercial borrowings are only slightly above the low level of February 26, last, and remain $1,076,000,000 under the peak of $9,871,000,000 reported on November 20 last year.

BEARING out the belief expressed in money circles, coincident with the rapid decline in yields offered on bankers' acceptances during the past fortnight that rates had probably gone too low and would be subject to some upward readjustment, leading dealers today posted advances of ⅛ of 1 per cent in maturities up to 90 days and of ¼ of 1 per cent in longer maturities. This action followed nine successive cuts in a two weeks' period, the last reduction having been ¼ of 1 per cent. Thirty to 90-day bills are now quoted 2⅛-2⅜ per cent and longer dates 2⅛-2¾ per cent.

For the first time since early last fall there is a growing disposition to keep close tab on the operations of the investment trusts. Several experienced observers have expressed the opinion more than once during the last week or more that the selling of stocks looked considerably better than the buying on more than one occasion. Today it is learned rather definitely that investment trusts have been realizing on some of their profits when the opportunity has been afforded by occasional market bulges. This fits in with the conviction of close followers of the situation that good selling has been in evidence recently.

DIRECTORS of Sears, Roebuck apparently see no reason for undue conservatism at this time. At any rate their action today in ordering the regular quarterly dividends of 62½ per cent in cash and 1 per cent in stock was widely accepted as evidence of their confidence in the outlook for business. Reports bearing on the merchandising business have not been all that might be desired of late, but then Sears, Roebuck came through 1929 in highly satisfactory fashion and appeared to be securely entrenched against the prospect of a temporary period of sluggishness in trade.

The trade revival is slow but sure. Julius Barnes made one of the best surveys of the year and his conclusions were sane and logical. Bankers agree with him, that the year 1930 as a whole is quite likely to balance 1929, and, what is more to the point, to go out with flying colors in contrast to last year's collapse. The oil stocks appear to have taken the leaders of the industry at their word. Standard of New Jersey, the aristocrat of the oil group, is now safely across 70 for the first time this year and the oil bulls are confidently predicting 100 for this stock this year. Shrewd observers of industrial and stock market conditions are recommending a number of the strong motor stocks with General Motors, Chrysler and Hudson receiving the preference.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, March 25.—With favorable weather reports at hand from domestic winter crop territory, wheat prices here averaged lower early today. An additional bearish influence was a relatively indifferent response made abroad to advances yesterday on this side of the Atlantic. Opening at ½ decline to ⅛ gain, Chicago wheat futures underwent a general sag afterward. Corn, oats and provisions were easy, with corn starting ½ off to ⅛ up and subsequently holding near the initial range.

Persistent selling on the part of speculators was a feature of wheat trading much of the time. Widespread snowfalls were generally regarded as likely to benefit winter wheat by affording moisture where needed and protection against cold. The bear side was given further incentive through advices that overnight export sales of North American wheat had been only moderate and restricted to wheat grown in Canada.

Considerable notice was taken however, of a closing advance at Liverpool today, and of an explicit statement from the Wheat Stabilization Corporation, an auxiliary of the Federal Farm Board, that the corporation did not contemplate shipping any unsold wheat to European markets. The announcement was looked upon as being much more definite and positive than any heretofore issued touching the export policy of the American government-sponsored agencies, and as likely to help impart more firmness to trans-Atlantic quotations.

DESIGNING NEW OIL MACHINERY

OIL CITY, Pa., March 25.—Although conditions in the oil industry remain unsettled, Benjamin Harris, president of the Oil Well Supply Company, says the management of the company is designing new drilling equipment which will be offered to the trade shortly.

A new style oil pump is now being tested at the Imperial plant at Siverly, but the management has indicated the tests have not progressed far enough where publicity is desired. If it is decided to build the new pump at the Oil City plant a large amount of new equipment, including an electric crane of huge capacity and elevating the roof of one of the shops, will be necessary.

Van Sweringens Add C. & E. I. To System

NEW YORK, March 25.—The Van Sweringens have added another link to the proposed transcontinental railroad system through the acquisition of working control in the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway, which operates between Chicago and St. Louis, it was reliably reported in Wall Street circles today.

The purchase was not made through the Alleghany Corporation, the Van Sweringens holding company, which has formerly been used as the medium for financing other merger deals, and it is not expected that any formal announcement of the acquisition will be made at this time.

Under the Interstate Commerce Commission's consolidation plan the Chicago and Eastern Illinois was to be merged with the Chicago and Northwestern Railway.

Budd Co. Business Ahead of Year Ago

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—E. G. Budd Manufacturing Company reports shipments are running at a rate which indicates an increase in March sales over February of close to $1,000,000. Unsold customers releases on hand at the beginning of March totaled over $13,000,000 against $8,000,000 a year ago.

Amerada Officials Deny Kansas Deal

NEW YORK, March 25.—Officials of the Amerada Corporation, a holding company owning extensive oil properties in the mid-continent field and in Venezuela, denied today that negotiations were in progress for a merger with the Standard Oil Company of Kansas.

LONE STAR GAS IN DEMAND HERE

Stock Resumes Advance As Volume Increases; Fruit Growers Lower

Lone Star Gas firmed up on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today following a period of quiet in which the stock had been absorbing moderate profit-taking attracted by its run-up of last week.

Demand for the stock today was stimulated by issuances of the pamphlet report covering operations for 1929.

Preliminary figures, showing earnings of $1.82 a share on the present stock, were made public a month ago. Gross earnings were shown to have increased 20.8 per cent and net earnings 35.6 per cent. During the year 45 wells were drilled, of which 36 were producers and nine dry holes. Meter customers increased 64,992 in 1929. Of this number 17,957 were from growth and new construction and 46,545 were acquired through purchase.

The general market was somewhat irregular. American Fruit Growers dropped back 1½ points from its last previous price, while Ruud Manufacturing recovered two points of the five-point loss sustained yesterday. The company announced an extra dividend of 25 cents a share today. Pruett-Schaffer chemical developed pronounced strength and recovered all the loss sustained in the set-back last week.

Many Can Help Prosperity Now by Doing This

By B. C. FORBES

A [illegible] columnist [illegible] head [illegible] banks in [illegible] the Federation Bank and Trust Company of New York. He writes:

Here is a circular which in my opinion is worth consideration [illegible] especially after the railroad Co-operative Building and Loan Association, the largest of its kind in the United States, with resources of over $55,000,000.

Of course this serves a double purpose. It not only urges people to make improvements to give employment [illegible] but it also accomplishes another important thing, that is, that they are keeping their own house in order and up-to-date.

HERE is the circular signed by O. A. Martin, president of this building association.

To home owners:

President Hoover recommends modernization of homes.

Do you need a new heating plant or a new bathroom? Is the wiring of your house adequate? Do your gutters and leaders need rehabilitation? Are your cement walks or brick work in need of repair? Do you need a new roof?

We have money available for this or any other modernization program, provided your property has sufficient value.

When you have your present mortgage paid up our mortgage department will be glad to discuss with you the problem concerning refinancing or modernization.

NOW, that money is cheap and plentiful, it would help a little if all of us associations and individuals having access to large amounts of money would send similar notices to their clients and customers and also advertise their readiness to extend financial co-operation in having work of this kind done.

PERSONALLY, I would appeal particularly to employers enjoying steady jobs and good pay to devote serious thought to the plight of those now unable to find opportunity to earn a living. Many such home-loving aspire either to acquire homes of their own or to make improvements on homes already owned. Instead of waiting it would be humane to make arrangements to have the work done now. A full day's work can now be obtained for a day's pay and a full dollar's worth of material can be obtained for a dollar. Among all classes the "ins" should have the utmost consideration at a time like this for the "outs."

MORE and more attention is being given the question of whether the time has not come in this country, with all its labor-saving machinery and cheap power and brilliant managerial skill, to reduce the normal work week.

Charles H. Hatch, well-known industrial engineer, discussing this subject, said:

"With over-production already a fact, it is obvious that to give full-time employment to all of the unemployed would greatly aggravate this already serious condition.

"It is coming to be realized by thoughtful business leaders that the only solution is to reduce the number of hours each man will be employed and so give every one some work.

"WE ONCE thought of full-time work as consisting of the 12 or 14 hour day and the six or seven-day week. Today in many trades the man who works full time spends only seven or eight hours a day for five days at his work. It is conceivable that some day fulltime work will be the three-day week of seven or eight hours a day.

"Of course it will be necessary to maintain the buying power of the workers. That can be accomplished only by still futher improving our machinery and methods. What most manufacturers pay for even now is not the time a man spends in the plant, but the amount of production he turns out. If we can make it possible for him to produce as much in three days as he now does in five or six we can afford to give him as much purchasing power as he now gets.

INDUSTRIAL leaders should do more than they are doing to convince the country that they are moving heaven and earth to solve the existing grave and pressing problem of steady employment.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, March 25.—Operations for the advance went forward with vigor on the curb market today, but there remained a distinct tendency to take profits on advances, and this market failed notably to develop the buoyancy of the big board.

Following is the final official action on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded on, with the number of sales, closing bid and asked quotations, net change from last sale, high and low for the day, and total sales in hundreds, column of bonds in thousands:

1ST MORTGAGE MONEY HELD PLENTIFUL

Prudential Insurance Co. Loan Executive Sees No Dearth of Home Funds

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, March 25.—Psychology plays a large part in determining the course of the business cycle, and sentiment among the great institutional money lenders has a distinct effect on the volume of building in any period.

Though recognizing that there may have been overbuilding of speculative apartment houses in some sections, President Hoover does not think that there has been overbuilding of small homes, and is eager to stimulate home building as an important means of raising the standard of living and as an immediate device for alleviating unemployment.

In setting forth the policy of the great institutional lenders, which have been distinctly conservative in recent months, Lester E. Wurfel, executive in charge of the mortgage loan operations of the Prudential Life Insurance Company of America, with headquarters at Newark, told me:

"We at this office do not feel that there is a dearth of first mortgage money. As a matter of fact, we stand ready to invest in first mortgages where we can be satisfied that the offering meets with all our requirements as to type, construction and location, but we are perhaps more discriminatory at this time than we have been for some years, again due in a large measure to the overbuilt condition of the country and the apparent lack of buyers for properties already built and unoccupied. As a matter of fact, we have a very definite feeling that there has existed for some months past a buyers' market in the real estate field."

LOANS ABOUT SAME

In discussing current plans, Mr. Wurfel said:

"This company has not in recent months shown any disposition to increase our rate of commitments in mortgage investments. As a matter of fact our commitment figure has remained about the same for the past seven or eight months. In order to furnish you with a slight piece of background, this company in 1928 invested in mortgage loans something slightly over two hundred million dollars, whereas the net disbursement in 1929 was about one hundred eighty-eight million, showing therefore a slight decrease. The reason for our decrease in 1929 over 1928 is also the reason for our present position of maintaining our commitment at about the same figure during the last eight months, which is—that we feel that many parts of this country are overbuilt, particularly in our type of investment, namely, the residential loan. While, of course, this company does make mortgage loans on centrally located business properties, office buildings, occasional hotel and church loans, and apartment houses, we, nevertheless, have a strong leaning toward the smaller type of residential loan and, as a matter of fact, our average loan has not been more than about $6,500."

Asked how mortgages compared with bonds as investment opportunities at present, Mr. Wurfel explained:

"This company through its distinctive system of mortgage loan investments, has had presented to it in offerings during the course of any year from four to five times as many offerings as we could absorb. This condition, of course, leaves with the company an opportunity of selection as to type, quality, location and interest rate. I feel, therefore, that, while the opportunities in the mortgage market are not such as they have been in previous years, they still have a slight edge on the offerings through the bond market."

BONDS STILL GOOD BUY

Incidentally, the marked recent further easing of open market interest rates has removed distinctly favorable to bond prices. The time has not yet come to withdraw the oft-depeated advice that this is a conspicuously good time to buy sound, long-term bonds.

Enterprises like the F. W. Woolworth Company, which sell at fixed prices, benefit from any decline in commodity prices. Furthermore, the spirit of economy, which accompanies economic transition, benefits such stores. Accordingly, Hubert T. Parson, president of the F. W. Woolworth Company, is able to be optimistic about his own enterprise.

"There has not been a single week since Christmas, 1929, in which the sales of our stores have not been higher than in the like weeks of 1929," he pointed out. "For the first weeks of March the same increases are being shown as in January and February, the report for the latest week showing a gain of $169,000 over the week last year."

DAILY TRUE STORY

He Would Be Great

"WOULDN'T it be great if that rich Phil Flanders took a shine to Lulu and married her!"

Ben Devon looked at Mrs. Hutton in disgust.

"No," he said, "it wouldn't be great."

"The very idea! Think of Lulu having a big home like the Flanders place and money and—and everything!"

"In the first place she wouldn't have everything. Phil's no prize. In the second place I don't care to think of it."

Mrs. Hutton sniffed.

"I hope you don't think Lulu'd be fool enough to marry you, Devon," she exclaimed.

Ben looked at her steadily for a moment and then said bluntly: "You ought to move around more—you're getting fat, Marietta!"

"I'm not getting fat, and I ain't very strong," Mrs. Hutton said crossly.

What Ben meant to hint was that Mrs. Hutton let Lulu, her husband's young sister, do all the work while she loafed.

The conversation had arisen over the coming of Phil Flanders to live on the big Flanders estate he inherited from an uncle. Rumor had it that he was a millionaire. And Marietta Hutton had promptly dreamed dreams of her husband's sister, being very young and very pretty and very marriageable, "catching" the wealthy young man.

Not that she cared two hoots for Lulu except for the work she got out of her. Mrs. Hutton dreamed dreams of Lulu making the wealthy match and sharing her good fortune so that she, Mrs. Hutton, could afford maids and loaf around.

An Imploring Glance

Only since he came back from an agricultural college had Ben noticed how Lulu had grown in beauty. Ben, who had once only teased her or thought of her as the "scrawny Hutton kid," suddenly found that Lulu had become a beauty.

Ben had dropped in to see Lulu and Mrs. Hutton had "blabbed" her innermost wishes.

"Lulu went down to the village with Joe," Mrs. Hutton had said, "and I made her dress up—no telling but what she might meet that rich Phil Flanders."

Ben had said, "Humph!"

Then it was that Mrs. Hutton had said, "Wouldn't it be great if that rich Paul Flanders took a shine to Lulu and married her."

Ben started to leave in disgust. He turned back.

"Marietta," he said, "don't go filling Lulu's head with nonsense like that—this Flanders isn't fit to shine her shoes!"

"With his million he can afford to have his shoes shined," she answered.

Ben started again. But Lulu and her brother, Joe, were just driving in. Mrs. Hutton came out.

"Did you see him?" she called, shrilly.

Lulu gave her sister an imploring glance.

Ben laughed rather coarsely, Lulu thought. It made her flush.

"Did you see th' rich Flanders feller?" Mrs. Hutton demanded more shrilly.

"No," said Lulu, sullenly.

Ben chatted with Joe Hutton for a while and then sat on the side door steps with Lulu and helped her shell some peas.

"Marietta makes me sick," said Ben, "yawping all the time about your marrying Phil Flanders."

Mrs. Hutton Objects

"He's awful rich," said Lulu.

"He's no good," Ben answered.

"And he's handsome. I saw him drive by here two or three times—he's got the swellest car!"

"He's no good," Ben stubbornly insisted, "besides, you are going to marry me!"

"Is that so?"

This was from Mrs. Hutton, who had been inside listening to their talk.

"Yes, that's so," said Ben.

"I guess I've got something to say about that. Lulu ain't quite eighteen yet, her brother's her guardeen, and I guess Joe has to do as I say."

"Oh, for goodness sake!" cried Lulu, getting up and going into the house.

What worried him was his knowledge of Marietta Hutton. She would turn Lulu's head with her talk of Flanders' riches, and Lulu was such a handsome girl that Flanders might actually take a shine to her. If Flanders were a decent chap.

Ben Devon shook his head and scowled. He had known Phil Flanders back in the big town where he attended agricultural college. Flanders had been the village cut-up, a 12-o'clock in a 9-o'clock town, and much worse, much worse.

Meets Phil Flanders

Ben was nearly right about it—Mrs. Hutton had turned Lulu's pretty head with her chatter about marrying the rich young Mr. Flanders and living in the big place on the hill.

She had gone through some marsh and when she came to the stream she sat on a ledge and thrust her feet, shoes and all, into the water to wash off the muck.

Lulu leaped up.

Phil Flanders, in wading boots and fishing rod, had come around a bend in the brook and stood staring at her.

"I was washing the mud off my shoes," stammered Lulu.

"You're that swell little Hutton girl, aren't you? I'm Phil Flanders."

Yes," said Lulu, "I recognized you."

Phil came over and sat down. He started to hand her an ancient line, very ancient, such as: "Where have you been all my life? I never knew I was alive until I saw you."

Lulu giggled.

Lulu thought of a ride in the handsome big car and agreed.

Mrs. Hutton was all a-twit when Lulu told her.

"I just had a sort of feelin' that Lulu was going to make that rich feller fall in love with her," she told her husband.

"Watch your step," Mr. Hutton said to Lulu.

Lulu turned red.

"The very idea of you suggestin' anything like that to Lulu, and besides Mr. Flanders is a gentleman," Mrs. Hutton declared.

"I ain't worrying about Lulu, but I don't know what kind of a feller this Flanders is—now take Ben Devon. I'd trust him—"

"Ben Devon! That poverty-stricken lunkhead!" shrilled Mrs. Hutton, as if Lulu would throw away her life on such a "cheap skate."

Ben Is Told

The next day two people told Ben Devon that they had seen Lulu out riding with Phil Flanders.

But he got quite busy. His activities included a trip to the village bank, to his own lawyer and to the lawyer of the Flanders estate.

That afternoon Lulu was up the stream where she met Flanders by arrangement.

"I'm going to sell this place, sweetheart," Phil told her. "I'm not going to bury myself here in the country. I'm going to take the money and go to the city. You'll go with me and we'll have one swell time."

"That would be lovely," Lulu agreed. "I mean your going to the city."

"And you, too?"

Lulu didn't care very much for Flanders' style of petting. She slipped out of his arms.

"That would depend," she said, soberly.

"We'll burn up the city—watch us, Kid! Soon as I sell the place and get the cash we'll hot-foot it out of this place to the bright lights."

"We'll talk it over later, Phil," said Lulu.

She was thinking that something was missing, such as mention of engagements and rings and weddings.

When Ben Devon got over to the Hutton place that night he was informed that Lulu was out driving with the "Rich Mr. Flanders."

"Yeah?" said Ben, grinning.

"It's as good as settled, he's crazy about her," Mrs. Hutton cried, "and Ben, they'll probably stop in when they get back and so—and so it might be just as well——"

"If I went now?" Ben asked.

"Well, you see——"

"Ben ain't going now," said Joe Hutton suddenly.

"I say he is, Joe, and I know best——"

"Hush up, Marietta," snapped Mr. Hutton.

Ben looked at the clock.

"I ain't worrying none. Lulu can take care of herself," said Joe.

"Sure," Ben agreed.

"Mr. Flanders is a perfect gentleman," Mrs. Hutton cried, "and it makes me sick the way you two fools talk—he's a perfect gentleman."

"Not quite perfect!"

Marries Ben

It was Lulu speaking.

She was standing in the doorway, somewhat disheveled and dusty.

"Lulu—what do you mean?" cried Mrs. Hutton.

"Well, he isn't perfect as to looks. I pretty much scratched the face off him—the idea of him tryin' to do what he did and expecting me to go to the city with him without getting married——"

"He couldn't very well marry you, Lulu," drawled Ben, "because his present wife won't let him. But he's——"

"I don't care anything about him—I never did!" Lulu said.

She and Ben went out under the wistaria arbor.

"Wouldn't it be great," said Lulu——

"——if we went out and got married tomorrow," Ben finished.

"That was what I was going to say," Lulu confessed.

"We'll be married tomorrow and make a long trip and when we get back I'll own the Flanders place—Dad left me, among other things, so many of old man Flanders' notes that I've got to take over the Flanders place to get square. This Phil Flanders, as near as his lawyer can reckon, has only a hundred and eleven dollars coming to him out of it all."

Mrs. Hutton likes to tell her neighbors all about it, like this:

"I always said to Lulu, if you could marry Ben Devon, he's such a splendid chap, I says, if you could marry him wouldn't it be great!"

As far as Lulu and Ben are concerned, it is great!

Spot news from the Brush Creek correspondent of the Flora, Illinois, Journal-Record:

There is one brand of mule here called "Your Money's Worth." It's all fired hot that after drinking freely of it, it takes six months to cool off and then the patients that happen to live. When the doctor arrives he feels of the pulse and if its over 200 beats to the minute he orders the patient given nothing but boiling water to drink for six months and then its like ice water to the mule skinner. One quart of this Brush Creek mule goes farther than a barrel of the poorer stuff. So, George, you see why we have one —— time here on the Creek. Mellon's Friends Here Observe His Birthday

Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, whose friends yesterday tendered him a birthday party on his seventy-fifth natal anniversary, should have one person in particular "pulling for him" to see his one hundredth. That is the Sun-Telegraph reporter with whom he made an appointment 25 years hence.

"Wait until I live to be a hundred," said Mr. Mellon, "and then come around and I will give you a real story."

It will be well for our scribe to remember that promise and insist upon its fulfillment, otherwise Mr. Mellon likely will pass off his 100 years as lightly as he did his 75 and regard a birthday—even the one hundredth—as of no consequence.

There no doubt was a time when Mr. Mellon regarded 75 years in the life of a man as elderly if not aged. But he has lived long enough to find out that it is not years but physical and mental condition that counts. He finds himself hale and vigorous of body and mind at 75, as many others at that age are, hence thinks that 25 years from now, and not the present, will be the time for a "real story." As he now thinks, that, to him, will be an accomplishment, and, since his life has been, one of accomplishment, why talk about things that are not—such as reaching the seventy-fifth milestone?

Nevertheless, many of Mr. Mellon's friends believe even 75 is worthy of being noticed, so they gave him a party and their congratulations. To these the Sun-Telegraph add its own, with the wish that he continue for many years to be—as he has been for nine years—the most efficient treasury head we have had in a great many years.

Roselia Needs $100,000; Let's Give It Quickly

Roselia Foundling Asylum and Maternity Hospital needs $100,000 to pay off a mortgage and other indebtedness, the mortgage representing one-half the total. Does this noble institution deserve to get what it asks quickly? Let us consider deeply a paragraph or two from a pamphlet issued in connection with a drive for the money about to be undertaken.

"Scarcely a week passes that our daily newspapers do not inform us of some deed of this institution to reclaim a tiny life or to provide a home and maternity care for a needy little mother. Few of us have had an opportunity to become acquainted with the handicaps under which these acts of mercy are performed or what a startling number of them there have been.

"Roselia has administered to 7,200 mothers and 12,000 abandoned and new-born children. Only six out of every 100 have been paid for. . . . Twenty-six per cent of the services are partially paid for and 68 per cent are totally free."

One hundred thousand dollars—that wouldn't pay for the regiment Roselia sent into the World War! (The number of young men going back to Roselia for birth certificates necessary for enlistment as volunteers was sufficient to form one entire regiment). Quite likely it wouldn't pay for the upkeep for five years of abandoned children which police and other officials have taken to Roselia to be cared for. And Roselia has been doing this work for many years—since 1891—drawing no lines of race, color or creed.

Such an institution certainly should not have to BEG, and it is quite likely it will not have to be importunate. Now that its need is known our generous people surely will respond quickly. Taylor Allderdice is fund chairman and W. C. McElhowney is treasurer. Room 166, William Penn Hotel, is the headquarters.

The Electric Eye
What Next?

When the "eye" sees a convict trying to make a getaway it fires a revolver at him and rings an alarm bell.

The device consists of a ray of light shining into the "eye," through which an electric current is flowing. When the prisoner comes between the ray of light and the eye the current ceases to flow and other portions of the apparatus pull the trigger of the revolver and set off the bell.

Besides shooting stray prisoners it is claimed that the "eye" has other fields of usefulness. It can be made to guard buildings against burglars or fire, to record the temperature of steel in a blast furnace, to grade materials according to their color, and to switch on lights at the approach of darkness.

And though war has been abolished by the Kellogg Pact, it could, its inventor points out, set off a battery of machine guns and turn on a flood of lights in No Man's Land.

Nobody is amazed any more by science. It can do anything with metals, electricity, machinery.

It seems strange, though, that science can do little to improve human beings. Useful to keep criminals in prison or mow down battalions in battle, it has not yet discovered why we have criminals or battles.

It may get around to these minor questions some time.

Settled at Last
Now to Business.

The vexed question of whether Siamese twins are one individual or two has been cleared up at last. Mary and Margaret Gibbs, joined together since their birth 18 years ago, sailed for Europe the other day to fill a vaudeville engagement. A literal-minded steamship company ruled that they must pay double fares.

Mary and Margaret will occupy the same berth, but will eat for two. The company took that as a criterion. It seems as good a test as any.

And it's a good thing that the matter has been finally settled. The public can now stop worrying and get back to business.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today
By WILL ROGERS.

YOU know how hard it is to make kids stop yelling. Well, this here little Patricia was playing house all by herself in her bedroom, and she started yelling, "Mama! Come in and see my house!"

Mama says, "Patricia, don't yell at me clear across the house. I've told you that before now, it seems to me. And I ain't got time to come and look at your house now."

Pretty soon Patricia yells again, "Mama! Come in and look at my house!"

"Stop yelling at me!" says Mama.

In about a minute it comes again. "Mama! Come and look at my house!"

"Patricia, if you don't stop yelling at me I'll go in there and spank you good."

After two more minutes: "Mama! You just ought to see my house! Will you stop and look at it when you come in to spank me?"

GROWING WEATHER
By Herbert Kaufman

WEDGES of geese honking their way homeward, and flocks of lambs wending back to the long-green pastured Wall Street, indicate that spring is keeping faith with the calendar. The growing season now succeeds the growling season.

The stir of life is in the ground and in business. Merchants have cleared their shelves of winter remainders, and 2 per cent call money is clearing the air of financial despondency.

The market, after moving for months to the dragging measure of dead marches and dirges, is quick-stepping to the music of Britain's 3½ per cent bank rate and Gov. Young's statement, that the Federal Reserve Board finds credits sufficiently satisfactory to warrant "bold plans" for trade expansion.

Condensing his several column message to a paragraph, he advises industry to emerge from the cyclone cellar and resume confident operation.

HE inclines to the opinion that the country is cured of get-rich-quick fever, and is indefinitely safe from a recurrent attack of the speculation mania that erased so many air castles and rainbows from the skies, when two and two demonstrated to securities, last October, that they couldn't produce an eight per cent yield from a hundred dollars worth of actual assets.

The weather has taken the unemployment situation out of the hands of political experiment and, as usual, is providing their customary jobs for bricklayers, plowmen, foundation diggers, painters, plasterers and mechanics.

Automobile and tire manufacturers, gasoline refineries and frippery designers are climbing up the peaks of production, and two cash register bells are ringing where one recently tinkled.

ALL the tangible money that America owned before the crash, is still here. The billions that depression picked from expectation's pockets were not part of our working capital. That's intact and waiting to stuff pay envelopes, promote enterprise, write mortgages and discount bills receivable, to the limit of legitimate requirement.

Tariff uncertainty is practically over. Ninety-five per cent of commerce already knows how to calculate against European competition. The average household has about learned the worst that protection will do to its income.

The farmer will pay a little more for sugar and lumber and cement, but he secures most of the concessions demanded by the agricultural bloc, which will considerably offset his disappointment at the ineffectual efforts of Mr. Legge's board to keep wheat quotations pegged at remunerative levels.

PITTSBURGH and Birmingham chimneys are belching overtime. Locomotive plants are behind orders. Federal and state building programs will soon broadcast vast emergency expenditures. Section gangs are grabbing picks and shovels along every railroad right of way, and the hired man has returned to his chores.

Consumption will be a long time disposing of accumulated copper and silver reserves, but cannery warehouses are all empty and the Mediterranean fruit fly has quit Florida.

Prosperity isn't yet hitting it on all cylinders, but we're out of the ruts of pessimism and motors are picking up every where.

We're solvent, amply resourced and ready to be enthused. Cheer more and croak less. Take your mind off the brakes and step on the accelerator. One optimist makes another.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴
By Elsie Robinson

IT WAS night when I drove up Pennsylvania avenue toward the Capitol. A nasty night—harsh wind—a lather of scudding rain mixed with sleet. The lights were dimmed—the wide street became a dark tunnel, lined with mean, huddled houses. People, struggling home against the storm, were meaningless, weak blots.

Only the Capitol dome, looming ahead, at the end of the long drive, seemed strong and secure. Batteries of light played upon it, turning its stone to alabaster. Vast, radiant, it rose above the squalor of the street, above the darkness of the storm, up into the heavens. For a moment the clouds parted. The sky opened, deeply blue, studded with stars, and against the blue the great dome shone, white and steadfast.

And I saw what I so often fail to see . . . . THAT THERE IS SOMETHING IN LIFE WHICH STANDS SECURE ABOVE ALL STORM AND DARKNESS.

There is a dream in all lives that is like that dome. Always we long for something stronger than our weakness, taller than our littleness, whiter than our sordidness. In every heart there is that dream. You may look where you will—in the roughest camps, in the smartest homes, in the hoboes' "jungle," in bread lines and brothels, in penitentiaries and slums—in every heart, wherever you may find it, there is a dream.

And because that dream is in our personal lives we have built it into our national life. We are a young people, a silly people, a greedy, stubborn, conceited, ignorant people. We build shabbily. We struggle weakly in storms which we bring upon ourselves. Yet, in spite of our pettiness and folly, WE BUILT THAT DOME.

We built that dome because the dream that is within us in like that dome. We commit injustice, but we dream of justice. We are weak, but we dream of strength. We are dishonest, but we dream of honor. And we have built our dream into a dome to stand at the head of our nation.

High it stands, strong and serene above our confusion, lit by our common hope. About it open the infinite years to come.

Above it blaze the everlasting stars. We go so quickly we will never see those years. We live so dully we will never touch those stars. But our dream will last through the years—and blaze with the stars.

STORMS MAY COME AND STORMS MAY GO—BUT THE DREAM THAT IS AMERICA WILL NOT PASS WITH THE STORMS—IT WILL GO ON AND ON, SHINING THROUGH THE NIGHT.

Twilight's Magic

LITTLE, wistful
Words come back
Down the flying
Season's track.

Words love whispered
Years ago;
Words like music,
Soft and low.

Half-forgotten
Dreams awake,
Dreams still loved for Someone's sake.

What can bring dead
Deeds and words
Back again,
Like singing birds?

Look across the Fading land;
Twilight's magic
Is at hand!

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE
By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

THE SINGLE TOE of a horse's foot corresponds to the third or middle toe of the more ordinary five-toed foot. Only the last joint of the toe touches the ground; the hoof in which this last joint is encased is the exact equivalent of an overgrown toe-nail.

The horse's wrist and ankle are far above the ground, forming the joints commonly called "knee" and "hock;" the true knee is what is styled the stifle.

H. G. Wells

But the other fingers or toes are not completely absent, for attached to the hinder angles of this cannon-bone are two little splint-bones; and that these are the remains of the second and fourth fingers and toes, is amply proved not merely by their position, and by the fact that one or both of them occasionally develop the missing joints and a miniature hoof, but also, as we shall soon see, by their development in the embryo.

The horse's limb, then, is a specially-modified limb; it is a limb in which one toe is enormous and strong, and in which the others have dwindled more or less completely away. It is a limb devoted to a special function.

On open, grassy plains the best means of escape from enemies lies in speed; and it is for speed on comparatively level and hard ground that the legs of the horse are suited. Everything else has been sacrificed to that.

The elongation of the actual foot-region gives a better leverage; the concentration of all the limb-muscles in the upper part of the legs allows for rapid swing; a limb which consists of a single pillar, jointed so as to move only fore-and-aft, transmitting all the weight downwards to a single expanded hoof, is stronger than one which can be moved in all directions, or than one in which the lower arm or leg contains two bones (as in ourselves), and there is less "give" than in a limb ending in several toes.

Accordingly the horse, though it can only execute a very few forward and back motions with its limb, though it sinks in soft ground owing to lack of spreading toes, though it is not well adapted to broken country, triumphs in speed on dry and rolling plains.

Incidentally, length of leg makes length of neck a necessity; without that the horse could not reach down to its food.

The grinding teeth of a horse are beautifully and elaborately adapted for dealing with the tough grasses that he consumes.

They are peculiar in three ways. First, they are all alike, instead of the true molars being more complex than the premolars as is usual. The premolars we may remark in passing, are those grinding teeth which have predecessors in the milk dentation; the molars have not.

Secondly, these quite similar molars and premolars of the horse all have an extremely complicated surface-pattern. Before they cut the jaw-bone they are covered with hard, glossy enamel, rising up in ridges round a couple of deep cavities.

These cavities later get filled up with cement, a substance not quite so hard as enamel, which is secreted by special glands as the tooth breaks through the gum. Under the enamel is the softer dentine.

Use soon grinds off the top of the teeth, with the result that their tops become nearly flat; but as the three materials wear down at different rates, sharp edges of enamel stand up a little beyond the cement, and a little higher above the dentine.

The whole forms a remarkably effective miniature millstone, with the advantage over our millstones that it keeps its grinding-ridges sharp as it is worn down.

The third point about the teeth is that they are of remarkable depth, and that during the first eight years of life they have no closed roots, but go on growing from below, like a rabbit's front teeth, as they are worn away above.

After this roots are formed, new growth ceases, and the teeth are simply pushed up to compensate for the wear at the surface till they are all worn away, and the animal dies because it cannot chew its food.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 25.—Chinatown, with the passing of Charlie Boston, is without a self appointed Mayor for the first time in many years. It is probable, too, that there will never be another ruler in the queer medley of twisted streets spraying off Chatham Square.

The Chinese quarter is no longer a transplanted bit of Orient. With its almost complete Americanization it has bowed to the laws of its adopted country. Sawed-off shotguns do not run the streets red with blood. Tong battles are becoming memories.

Slip-slopping sandals, knives strapped inside kimonaed sleeves and such have vanished with queues. Charlie Boston symbolized the change. He had taken a Western name and a Western religion. Although he founded On Leon Tong, he was, in the sunset of life, a peacemaker.

A Chinese Presbyterian minister officiated at the funeral and Charlie was buried in a tight fitting dinner coat and his ankles were incased in fawn spats. The only concession to the religion of his forefathers was a sheaf of wheat in his coffin for the "spirits."

The half-lidded indifference and aura of mysticism once characterizin Chinatown have given way to a new world alertness and a glassy glitter in cafes and shops. Very few tradesmen have living quarters there any more. It subsists almost entirely upon patronage of sightseers.

Indeed, many believe Chinatown squalor is doomed. A real estate development is in the making which may transform its dingy hovels and underground catacombs into a public square around which will arise model and sanitary tenements.

In the past ten years, Chinese have displayed an amazing aptitude for Occidental business methods. With few exceptions, all the big restaurants on Broadway are Chinese. In greater New York there are 983 Chinese eating places. Fifth avenue has six imposing stores given over to Chinese importations.

Indeed, so swift is the transformation that a Chinese art store has a Chinese clerk with a monocle and an Oxonion accent. And in the dancing haunts there is a Chinese gigolo.

A wealthy New Yorker five years ago gave his son $200 upon graduation from college and told him to shift for himself. The father refused even to assist in securing the boy a position. Last week the lad was made vice president of an industrial concern at $15,000 a year. But despite his success refuses to speak to his father.

He is the sort of pessimist, writes a lady of her husband, who takes an unholy delight in the discovery that when the figures of 1930 are added together they make thirteen.

A hotel in the Grand Central zone has specialized for some time in breakfasts of sage tangy country sausage and buckwheat cakes. They attribute a 75 per cent increase in breakfast patronage to the menu.

George White is in the box office of his theater every night selling tickets to his show. It is his relaxation—like a business man's golf. White's life is a drama of the metropolitan sidewalks. Broadway of this generation remembers when he was "Swifty, the messenger boy," busking along the curbs. His showmanship was whetted on the city's flagstones to a keenness that has made him one of the foremost American producers. And his hat fits him still.

Gene Markey burst in from Hollywood the other day like a skyrocket for a week's stay in the metropolis. A friend, departing for Europe, turned over his five-room apartment at the Ritz. Another friend, Florida bound, put his Rolls at the writer's disposal and he saw six shows as the guest of the management. It is things like that that causes many straight forword young men who might amount to something to turn to writing as a career.

ONCE OVERS
By J. J. Mundy

If the person seated with you is clean and his table manners are not objectionable, what right have you to display displeasure because it is necessary for you to eat at table with him?

Some complain about the food or the service, are arrogant toward the waiters, and generally fault finding.

The person who has been well brought up never makes a public nuisance of himself, and if things don't suit him he remonstrates quietly.

Most of those who make a scene in a public eating place have never had good service at home and are totally unaccustomed to eating in good places.

They want to show off, and so they make demands or refuse to accept food set before them and think it shows they have a superior standard. The reverse is true.
